THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

2025-2026 Catalog

Winebrenner Theological Seminary equips leaders for service in God's Kingdom.

Utilizing this Catalog
This catalog contains a comprehensive listing of administrative and academic guidelines effective Fall 2025-2026. These guidelines have been established to support and promote an optimal learning environment within all Winebrenner programs of study and across all Winebrenner learning locations. Students are responsible for becoming familiar with the detailed contents of this Catalog and for living and learning within the letter and spirit of the guidelines as they attend class, interact with other students, with the faculty and staff of the Seminary, or participate in any Seminary-related activity.

Because certain requirements change from year to year, students are subject to the curriculum requirements in effect at the time they enroll. Winebrenner's academic calendar includes three 12-week trimesters. Each entry in the course description section includes the number of trimester hours granted for that course. While every effort is made to ensure the accuracy of the information available at the time this Catalog is prepared, Winebrenner Theological Seminary reserves the right to make changes at any time without prior notice.

Winebrenner Theological Seminary policies are intended to guide the many situations that arise, even occasionally. There may be a situation not covered by policy, or truly extenuating circumstances where the application of policy would violate the mission, vision, and/or values of the Seminary. Appeal may be made to the Chief Academic Officer who will confer with the Executive Director. Together they will decide on a case-by-case basis (not precedence setting), potentially utilizing others in the process (faculty, staff, Seminary President, and/or Board of Trustee members). Such decisions will be guided by the spirit of the policies contained herein, the Winebrenner mission, vision, and values.

The policies in this Catalog go into effect August 1, 2025.

Endowed Academic Chair

J. Russell Bucher Chair of New Testament
Dr. J. Russell Bucher served Winebrenner from 1946 to 1955 as professor of New Testament Language and Literature. He retired in 1955 but continued to teach regularly on a part-time basis for another decade. He holds the singular honor of being named professor emeritus at both The University of Findlay and Winebrenner Seminary. In 1964, Dr. Bucher gave a sum of money to establish the Bucher Chair of New Testament Studies in honor of his late wife and parents. Former students and friends also contributed to the endowment fund. Dr. A. J. Mattill was the first person appointed to the Bucher Chair in 1965. Dr. James Resseguie was the second person installed to the chair in 1979. Dr. James Sweeney was installed as the third chair in January 2016.

WINEBRENNER VISION OF THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION

Mission Statement

Statement of Faith

In order that the Seminary may set forth and be true to the basic teachings of the Churches of God, General Conference, members of the faculty are not to adopt or teach any exegetical or theological positions exceeding the bounds of the doctrinal and confessional standards of the institution. Winebrenner Theological Seminary affirms the following essential historic Christian doctrines as taught in Scripture and handed down by the Church:

- We believe in the living and true God: one in essence, eternally existent in three persons: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

- We believe in the eternally existent Father, Creator of the universe, sovereign and holy God, Lord of all life, perfect in love and power, just and merciful in all ways.

- We believe in the incarnate and revelatory Word of God, Jesus Christ, the perfect mediator between God and humanity: fully divine and fully human as revealed by his virgin birth, sinless life, teaching and miracles, vicarious and atoning death, bodily resurrection, ascension, and personal return in power and glory.

- We believe in the Holy Spirit, the divine agent of regeneration, essential to the salvation of alienated and sinful people; by the ministry of the Spirit of God, people are enabled to know God's grace, experience God's love in Christ, and live a Christ-centered life.

- We believe in the written and revelatory Word of God, the Bible, inspired and illumined by the Holy Spirit: the only authoritative and trustworthy rule of Christian faith and practice.

- We believe in the body of Christ (the Church), the people of God, called out to follow and represent Christ in the world.

- We believe in the ultimate realization of God's glorious reign, consummated by the return of Christ, the resurrection of the dead and the final judgment of all people to eternal life or separation from God, and wherein all things will be made new to the glory of God.

Although the presence of these emphases reflects Winebrenner Theological Seminary's theological position, these beliefs are held charitably and non-coercively within the community; for instance, courses are taught from a stance in which alternative viewpoints are studied historically and systematically.

Vision Statement

Core Values

The Winebrenner Theological Seminary community affirms three value statements whose sequence suggests a progression from the center of our life together (Christ and Scripture) through the central value of the institution (education of the whole person) and culminates in a vision of community (welcoming and grace-filled). This sequence is descriptive of who we are and offers a model we desire to see lived out in the lives of graduates.

> Centered on Christ and Rooted in Scripture—focusing on the person and redemptive work of Christ as described in Scripture.
> Rigorous Education of the Whole Person—preparing leaders for a lifetime of innovative service in the Kingdom of God.
> A Welcoming and Grace-Filled Community—inviting the individual to embody Christ through the power of the Holy Spirit.

2023-2028 Strategic Plan

Three strategic priorities for 2023-2028 represent a highly integrated and shared understanding of our collective work at Winebrenner Theological Seminary.

The three strategic priorities for 2023-2028 are:

> Stewardship
> - Utilizing the resources provided by God of time, talent, treasures, and relationships to honor Him and model all He desires.
> Discipleship
> - Modeling Christ's likeness in shepherding one another through holistic formation, inviting conversations, and alignment with the Word.
> Collaboration
> - Maximizing Kingdom impact by committing to community-building opportunities and creating meaningful, intentional partnerships.

Comprehensive Assessment Plan
The institutional mission statement guides assessment at Winebrenner. Assessment is considered using the Curriculum-Wide Student Learning Outcomes (CWSLOs). The Comprehensive Assessment Plan (CAP) is implemented by the Director of Organizational Assessment and Accreditation. The CWSLOs are intended to foster vital qualities of knowing, being, and doing in all participants in Winebrenner graduate degree programs.

- The graduate makes decisions through a scripturally informed decision-making process.
- The graduate embodies Christ-likeness through professional dispositions.
- The graduate practices effective forms of communication in her/his ministry context.
- The graduate integrates personal reflection that leads to personal growth.
- The graduate aligns skills with principles to promote context transformation.
- The graduate engages in diverse intellectual preparation to be conversant with the larger world.

Program Outcomes for all Degree Programs
Like the Curriculum-Wide Student Learning Outcomes, each degree program has its own set of specific Program Outcomes. All students should become conversant with the Program Outcomes for their specific degree. The Program Outcomes are introduced at the beginning of the degree program (during IS 5100 Foundations for Seminary Studies), assessed at the midpoint of study (Progress Review/Pre-Practicum Review), and integrated more deeply during specially designed summative experiences during the final trimesters of study. Course Outcomes that describe and define the primary learning tasks of each course, tie-in very closely with both the Program Outcomes of a specific degree as well as the Curriculum-Wide Student Learning Outcomes of the institution.

GENERAL INSTITUTIONAL INFORMATION

Location of Institution
Findlay, Ohio is a community of over 40,000 residents, combining the friendly atmosphere of a small town with the many advantages of a suburban area. Findlay/Hancock County was selected by America's Promise Alliance as one of the "100 Best Communities for Young People" in the United States, and has been recognized by Site Selection Magazine as the top micropolitan city in the country the past ten years in a row. Findlay is located 45 miles south of Toledo, Ohio, just off Interstate 75. Ann Arbor, Columbus, Dayton, Detroit, and Fort Wayne are all within two hours driving distance. The campus is just nine blocks from the center of town, right on Main Street.

Campus
Winebrenner Theological Seminary is located in the Winebrenner building on the University of Findlay campus. The University of Findlay (UF) is affiliated with the same denomination as the Seminary. This facility provides classrooms, common areas, administrative offices, and access to other facilities on the UF Campus through a lease agreement. UF campus services are available to Winebrenner students per a collaborative agreement (see Campus and Facilities). Collaboration between the two institutions provides many benefits to Winebrenner students, including a variety of musical, cultural, educational, and recreational experiences. Faculty have shared office space on campus but also keep an office at their homes.

Continuing Education

Continuing education events provide relevant, in-depth instruction to alumni, clergy, and laity. Topics are consistent with the Seminary's vision and mission of equipping leaders for service in God's Kingdom and frequently serve to offer greater depth than can be given to a subject in the classroom. Continuing education events may include seminars, luncheons, or half-day events. Typically, a registration fee is charged for events of longer duration. Some continuing education events grant CEU (continuing education unit) credits using standard Carnegie hours (10 contact hours = 1 CEU). Please contact the event organizer for CEU details.

National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements (NC-SARA)
The State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (SARA) is a national initiative to provide more access to online courses while maintaining compliance standards with state regulatory agencies. SARA allows institutions to provide online courses outside of their state borders by seeking and maintaining state approvals via a streamlined process. To learn more about SARA, please visit:

> nc-sara.org
> 3005 Center Green Drive, Suite 130
> Boulder, CO 80301
> Phone: 303-848-3275
> Email: info@nc-sara.org

On March 2, 2015, the Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC) approved the State of Ohio to join SARA. On June 15, 2018, the National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements (NC-SARA) and the State of Ohio approved institutional participation for Winebrenner Theological Seminary. NC-SARA is a voluntary, regional approach to state oversight of postsecondary distance education.

Professional Licensure
Important Note for Students: If a student is considering an online academic program that leads to a professional license, it is highly recommended that the student contact the appropriate licensing agency where you plan to seek licensure before beginning an academic program. NC-SARA does not provide reciprocity for state professional licensing requirements. Academic programs and individual graduates must meet standards set by that state's licensure requirements in order for a graduate to be eligible for a license.

MASTER OF DIVINITY (MDiv)
Program Advisor: Dr. James Sweeney

Purpose
The purpose of the Master of Divinity program is to prepare men and women for Christian ministry, whether in local church settings, chaplaincy expressions, or parachurch contexts. It equips them with the skills needed to function effectively in formal ministry. The Master of Divinity program requires diligent study in three interrelated disciplines: (1) Biblical Studies, encompassing the content and contexts of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, with the requirement of learning Hebrew and Greek; (2) Christian Thought, including the history of Christianity, theology, ethics, and the systematic study and articulation of the Christian faith; and (3) Personal and Ministry Formation, where one acquires needed dispositions and skills, and develops practical ministry proficiency.

Program Outcomes for MDiv Graduates
The Program Outcomes are introduced at the beginning of the degree program, assessed at the midpoint of study (Progress Review), and integrated more deeply during the Capstone experience. MDiv students should become familiar with these Program Outcomes.

1. Implement biblical proficiency for personal and group decisions.
2. Expand practical skills to relationally engage others in individual and group settings.
3. Communicate meaningfully through a variety of modalities.
4. Pursue personal and spiritual maturity that establishes a solid foundation through awareness of the whole self.
5. Practice theological reflection, leading to personal formation, cultural insight, and context transformation.
6. Appraise historical and theological information in order to articulate a Christian worldview and one's place in the world.

Description and Duration
The MDiv is the traditional degree for preparation of men and women for pastoral ministry, chaplaincy, and parachurch ministries. Aside from any transfer credits, the MDiv is an 81-credit hour program. It could be completed in as early as 3 years, at a rate of three courses per trimester (9 trimesters), and needs to be completed in a maximum of 7 years (21 trimesters).

The Winebrenner design for its MDiv program has key distinctive features:
- The online, distance learning delivery system allows students to complete their program of study with a course schedule that provides the flexibility to continue their current ministry or employment.
- A spiritual formation emphasis is integrated throughout the curriculum by faculty who seek to live their theology. The MDiv program provides students with the opportunity for personal and professional transformation as leaders who serve the triune God and the church to change the world.

- Military Chaplaincy Candidates can complete the MDiv and satisfy the educational requirements of all branches of service. Students should verify the requirements of their chosen branch of service.

- Students pursuing non-military chaplaincy should verify requirements with the organization which provides credentialing. The MDiv fulfills the requirements of the Board of Chaplaincy Certification Inc. (BCCI). See also the Association of Professional Chaplains (APC) and the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education (ACPE). Winebrenner does not offer Clinical Pastoral Education units (CPEs) but refers students to the APC, ACPE, and the BCCI for information on moving toward chaplaincy certification.

- Supervised Ministry (SM) courses are an integral part of theological education, giving students in their final trimesters of study the opportunity to gain experience and hone ministry skills in an area of specific interest under the supervision of a mentor. SM provides the culminating, hands-on experience in which students learn to deal with a variety of demands and situations that are part of ministerial life by utilizing their skills and knowledge.

Supervised Ministry

Students nearing the end of their MDiv program of study must complete three trimesters (one academic year) of 1 credit per trimester Supervised Ministry in an approved setting. The student is expected to demonstrate personal and professional growth and to think critically about ministry, increasing their self-awareness, skill sets, and competence, based on a healthy theological self-identity. The requirement of Supervised Ministry (as supervised practical experiences) is required by our accreditor, the Association of Theological Schools (standard 4.4 of the 2020 ATS Standards addresses the curricular requirement).

During the Supervised Ministry experience, the student will work concurrently with the course instructor (online, participating in case study reflection with their peers) and a placement field supervisor. Formal written evaluations by the supervisor are prepared and submitted to the instructor regularly during each of the three trimesters.

A background investigation must be conducted before a student begins participation in Supervised Ministry. For more information, please see the full description of background investigations in this Catalog.

Students have three options to fulfill the requirement in Supervised Ministry:
1. Students may complete Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) in an ACPE accredited setting approved by the MDiv Program Advisor and CAO.

2. Students preparing for a military chaplaincy, who have chaplain candidate status, may complete chaplaincy practicum(s) with approval of the MDiv Program Advisor and CAO.

3. Students preparing for ministry or other adjacent careers will focus their Supervised Ministry courses in their intended area of current or future service. The objective of this immersive, field experience is to build confidence, insight, and experience while developing and expressing one's theological self-identity.

Course Load

At least six credit hours per trimester are required to be considered full-time. A student may choose to take additional degree-relevant credit hours based upon suggestions noted in the course sequence. Note: One or more courses must be offered during the day.

Recognized Full-Time Course Sequences

To ensure ongoing progress in meeting the requirements of the program, it is important that students follow, as much as possible, the sequence of courses laid out in the three-year full-time MDiv schedule below. Failure to follow the course sequence will likely result in courses out of order, a missing course at the end of the degree program, and a probable delay in graduation. Please note that the MDiv degree curriculum contains only targeted elective options; it does not contain general or free electives. Students are welcome to take additional electives as long as such electives do not disrupt the sequence map. Students are duly cautioned.

Three-Year, Full-Time MDiv Sequence:

Please note that courses are only offered during the trimesters marked below and generally are only offered once a year. The actual course titles for electives occur on a rotation of 2, 3, or 4 years. Students beginning in the Spring or Summer may require 10 trimesters to complete this degree.

Program Director: Dr. Mary Steiner Iiames

Mission Statement and Purpose

The Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling Program equips individuals, utilizing Christian principles and evidence-based modalities, to become mental health counselors.

The program is designed to equip men and women to work in multiple settings (i.e. private practice, community mental health agencies, hospitals, government, and business settings) where they can help bring spiritual, emotional, and psychological wellness into people's lives. The objectives of the MACC program are to deliver a high-quality education required by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Programs (CACREP), and to prepare students to meet the requirements of their state/regional governing boards to become licensed as professional Clinical Mental Health Counselors.

Admission

In addition to the application process outlined in the General Academic Information for Degree Programs, MACC students must:

1. Have an undergraduate cumulative grade point average of 3.0.
2. Provide three recommendations (required in the application). Recommendations may not come from current students (or newly accepted applicants), nor from immediate family members.
3. Participate in an interview with the Program Director and/or other MACC faculty.
4. Provide a current resume.

Transfer of Credits

The MACC program may accept up to 15 credit hours of non-clinical work from non-CACREP programs and an additional 3 hours of religious heritage coursework for a total of 18 credits from accredited institutions where the grade assigned was a B- or better. The MACC program may accept up to 45 hours of coursework from a CACREP approved graduate program, which may include religious heritage courses from accredited institutions where the grade assigned was a B- or better.

Clinical Courses – [C]

Clinical courses (8 total) are identified on the MACC program course listing and course sequence map. Clinical courses may not be transferred in. When a student earns a grade lower than B- in a clinical course, the student must retake that course. The following are considered clinical courses: CC 5000 Introduction to Clinical Mental Health; CC 6150 Personality Assessment; CC 6050 Psychopathology; CC 5450 Diagnosis of Mental and Emotional Disorders; CC 6100 Treatment of Mental and Emotional Disorders; CC 7000 Practicum in Clinical Mental Health Counseling; CC 7050 Internship I in Clinical Mental Health Counseling; CC 7100 Internship II in Clinical Mental Health Counseling.

(See Repetition of Courses under ACADEMIC STANDARDS.)

Description and Duration
The Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling (MACC) is a 70-credit hour program which could be completed in a minimum of 3 years (9 trimesters) and must be completed in a maximum of 7 years (21 trimesters). The fundamental mission of the MACC is to educate and train counselors to promote the optimal functioning of individuals, families, groups, and communities. Built upon a solid foundation of knowledge, skills, and dispositions inherent to counseling those from diverse backgrounds, graduates will be able to translate research-validated practices and integrate biblical truth into effective strategies for individuals, groups, and families. Graduates will benefit from personal and professional growth opportunities as self-reflection, critical thinking, and constructive feedback are key components addressed in the program. All students will be assigned to a faculty member who will support and assist them throughout the program to ensure successful completion.

Course Load
A minimum of six credit hours per trimester is necessary to be considered full-time, but nine credit hours per trimester in the first two years of study and six credit hours per trimester in the final year of study are required to finish the degree program in three years. A student may choose to take additional degree relevant credit hours based upon suggestions noted in the course sequence. A student may apply to take courses out of sequence if they start in the Spring or Summer term. The student should alert their advisor of this desire. Applications for a change in sequence will be considered by the Program Director and Chief Academic Officer. Failure to follow the sequence can result in courses out of order, missing courses, and a delay in graduation.

Practicum and Internship for MACC Students
MACC program students must complete one 3-credit hour Practicum and two 3-credit hour courses in Internship. Full-time students will register for Practicum in their seventh trimester, for Internship I in their eighth trimester, and for Internship II in their ninth trimester. Students must complete all practicum contact hours before they are permitted to register for internship.

A background investigation must be conducted before a student begins participation in Practicum or Internship. Please consult with your MACC faculty on the details of how to secure your background investigation. Depending on your state of residence, you may need to contact various state or federal agencies. Students should follow the guidance of their state counseling licensure board and ensure that the options they select meets the required standards for internship status in their state. Students who opt to use the service used by the Chief Academic Officer should see the full description of background investigations found elsewhere in this Catalog and verify that this meets their state standard.

Practicum requires students to complete an average of 10 hours per week in the field over a 10-week period from September-November, for a total of 100 hours in addition to 12 weeks of classroom work.

Internship I and II each require completion of an average of 20 hours per week in the field for a total of 300 hours in addition to 15 weeks of classroom work completed during that same period. When necessary, students may apply for a course extension as described herein (see Late Work, Class Absences, Tardiness, and Extensions).

MACC students will not receive their diplomas at Commencement unless their internships have been completed before the date of graduation, at the discretion of the CAO. Internship is considered complete when all Practicum and Internship paperwork is completed and filed with the Academic office as determined by the CAO.

Professional Development for Students

Developing a professional counselor identity is valued and instilled in MACC students at the commencement of their program. All students will be assigned to a faculty member who will support and assist them throughout the program to ensure successful completion. Students are required to join their state branch of the American Counseling Association (ACA) during their Introduction to Clinical Mental Health Course as part of professional identity development. They are encouraged to maintain membership and become active members of this professional organization as well as join other national associations such as ACA and ASERVIC throughout their program. Costs for these memberships are the student's responsibility and not included in course or program fees.

Program Endorsement Policy

Faculty members in the MACC degree program have adopted endorsement guidelines as provided in the current version of the ACA Code of Ethics. Per the ACA Code of Ethics (2014), "F.6.d. Endorsements: Supervisors endorse supervisees for certification, licensure, employment, or completion of an academic or training program only when they believe that supervisees are qualified for the endorsement. Regardless of qualifications, supervisors do not endorse supervisees whom they believe to be impaired in any way that would interfere with the performance of the duties associated with the endorsement" (p. 14).

In the academic setting, endorsement includes, but is not limited to, the following activities:

- Approving a student for graduation clearance once they have completed all academic requirements of the CMHC Master's Degree Program and have not demonstrated impairment as defined by the ACA Code of Ethics;
- Preparing a letter of reference for a student for employment, a credential (e.g., LPC), a doctoral program, etc.;
- Fielding a telephone call, written, or a digital request from a potential employer, credentialing body, institution of higher learning, etc., regarding a student's potential for success in the field of clinical mental health counseling.

Thus, it is the ethical responsibility of faculty members to endorse only those students who possess the requisite skills, dispositions, maturity, and mental capacities to engage in the requisite activities for their level of training and personal and professional development.

The Program Director has an ethical mandate to refuse to endorse any student who meets the ACA Code of Ethics (2014) definition for student impairment (Section F.5.b.), regardless of qualifications (Section F.6.d.), for practicum, internship, and/or graduation clearance.

Informed Consent Statement—MACC

All Winebrenner faculty members are dedicated to the educational, personal, spiritual, and professional growth and development of Winebrenner students. The MACC faculty are in a unique position as both instructors who assess students' academic skills and members of the counseling profession with an ethical obligation to the profession. In both roles, it is the MACC faculty's responsibility to evaluate student competencies within the realm of professional counseling and pastoral ministry and to address any concerns regarding students' professional competence. Thus, please be aware of the following information regarding Winebrenner MACC courses:

- The counseling profession encourages that counselors fully integrate their own personal attributes and identity, as well as their strengths and weaknesses, into therapeutic processes.

Therefore, self-awareness is critical because this knowledge relates to being an effective and ethical professional mental health counselor.

- Many MACC courses will emphasize self-awareness and self-exploration, as well as giving feedback to peers. Although uncomfortable at times, students are encouraged to be open to self-exploration, in recognition that counselors frequently ask clients to do the same. Additionally, professionalism, grace, self-control, and self-awareness are necessary when giving and receiving feedback from peers and instructors.

- At times, MACC classes may include experiential and self-awareness exercises. It is important to distinguish between sharing one's emotional reactions to such experiential class activities and revealing information about one's personal history. Self-disclosure (i.e., the content and depth of personal information shared with others) of personal history is not required to successfully pass any course; however, students may be expected to share their reactions to experiential activities. Thus, it is each student's responsibility to determine an appropriate level of self-disclosure balanced with reactions in experiential learning activities.

- Self-disclosures will not be used as a basis for grading in any course. However, should a student disclose information indicating impairment or the potential for harm to themselves, future clients, and/or others (including animals), the faculty member may take appropriate action in accordance with the state laws and the ACA Code of Ethics (2014).

- Students often experience personal growth as they progress through the program. However, the courses are not meant to be a means of personal therapy. The focus in classes is on self-awareness and the enhancement and growth of necessary counselor knowledge and skills.

- Although all instructors strive to create a safe environment for any personal disclosures, we cannot guarantee that other students will maintain the privacy and confidentiality of any such disclosures that are made. Additionally, please be advised that disregarding the privacy and confidentiality rights of classmates will not be tolerated and will be addressed according to the circumstances of the event.

MASTER OF ARTS IN PRACTICAL THEOLOGY (MAPT)
Program Advisor: Dr. James Ellis III

Purpose
The Master of Arts in Practical Theology (MAPT) equips persons for servant leadership in relation to the Christian community's corporate life and practice. The degree seeks to develop general theological facility and practical skills required in various forms of ministry. The program is fully online, allowing students to remain engaged in their current local and congregational contexts.

Program Outcomes for MAPT Graduates
The Program Outcomes are introduced at the beginning of the degree program, assessed at the midpoint of study (Progress Review), and integrated more deeply during a summative experience towards the end of the degree studies. MAPT students should become familiar with these Program Outcomes.

1. The graduate will integrate a basic understanding in the theological disciplines of biblical studies, theology, church history, and Christian ministries. This outcome is assessed throughout assignments focusing on biblical studies, theology, church history, and Christian ministries.

2. The graduate will manifest growth in personal, spiritual, and professional goals. This outcome is assessed through the articulation of personal, spiritual, and professional goals with direct observation and evaluation by self and faculty.

3. The graduate will engage in cultivating the love of God and neighbor demonstrated by knowledge and practice of the Christian disciplines including discipleship, spiritual formation, and effective service. This outcome is assessed in the two required Cultural Engagement electives and the three required 1-credit contextualized Supervised Ministry courses, based on written work, class discussions, and direct observation and evaluation by self, faculty, and peers.

Description and Duration
The MAPT is a 43-credit program which can be completed in a minimum of 2 years. The program is fully online. The program offers highly flexible training in traditional ministerial fields of study and can be tailored to correspond to one's experiences, interests, and calling within one's various contexts. Note that while the majority of courses are offered in the evenings, there may be one or more courses that must be offered during the day.

Course Load
A minimum of six credit hours per trimester is necessary to be considered full-time. A student may choose to take additional degree relevant credit hours based upon suggestions noted in course sequence (see Recognized Course Sequence that follows).

Class Format
Class format is synchronous, online class sessions through MS Teams meetings.

Non-Military Chaplaincy
Students pursuing non-military chaplaincy should verify requirements with the organization which provides credentialing. The MDiv fulfills the requirements of the Board of Chaplaincy Certification Inc. (BCCI). See also the Association of Professional Chaplains (APC) and the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education (ACPE). Winebrenner does not offer Clinical Pastoral Education units (CPEs) but refers students to the APC, ACPE, and the BCCI for information on moving toward chaplaincy certification.

Supervised Ministry (3 Credits)
Students nearing the end of their MAPT program of study must complete three trimesters (one academic year) of 1 credit per trimester Supervised Ministry in an approved setting under the supervision of a mentor. The student is expected to demonstrate personal and professional growth and to think critically about ministry, increasing their self-awareness, skill sets, and competence, based on a healthy theological self-identity. The requirement of Supervised Ministry (as supervised practical experiences) is required by our accreditor, the Association of Theological Schools (standards 4.4, 4.6, and 4.8 of the 2020 ATS Standards address the curricular requirement for an MA degree).

During the Supervised Ministry experience, the student will work concurrently with the course instructor (online, participating in case study reflection with their peers) and a placement field supervisor. Formal written evaluations by the supervisor are prepared and submitted to the instructor regularly during each of the three trimesters.

A background investigation must be conducted before a student begins participation in Supervised Ministry. For more information, please see the full description of background investigations in this Catalog.

Students have three options to fulfill the requirement in Supervised Ministry:
1. Students may complete Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) in an appropriate setting, (taken at an ACPE accredited CPE location) approved by the MAPT Program Advisor and CAO.

2. Students preparing for a military chaplaincy, who have chaplain candidate status, may complete chaplaincy practicum(s) with approval of the MAPT Program Advisor and CAO.

3. Students preparing for ministry or other adjacent careers will focus their Supervised Ministry courses in their intended area of current or future service. The objective of this immersive, field experience is to build confidence, insight, and experience while developing and expressing one's theological self-identity.

Electives (9 Credits):
Most 5000, 6000, and 7000 level courses are available. (See a sample list on next page.)
(Note: The CGGC History and Polity course may be taken as an additional elective; students are cautioned that this elective is offered every other Spring.)

Requirements for Graduation
The Seminary will confer the Master of Arts in Practical Theology degree on students who complete the 43 credit hours required in the program with a minimum cumulative 3.0 grade-point average, have met the requirements for graduation, have been recommended by the faculty, are affirmed by the Board of Trustees, and have made all final tuition and graduation fee payments no later than July 20 prior to Commencement. Students who interrupt their study at Winebrenner by more than one year (three successive trimesters) must reapply for admission and will become subject to the requirements of the (then) current Graduate Catalog.

Recognized Course Sequence

To ensure ongoing progress in the requirements of the program, it is important that students follow, as closely as possible, the sequence of courses laid out in the two-year MAPT schedule below. Failure to follow the sequence can result in courses out of order, a missing course at the end of the degree program, or a delay in graduation. DOCTOR OF MINISTRY (DMin)

Program Director: Dr. Kathryn Helleman

Purpose
The Doctor of Ministry is an advanced, professionally oriented degree that prepares people more deeply for religious leadership in congregations, parachurch, non-profit, denominational, and other settings, including appropriate teaching roles. In our increasingly pluralistic culture, the focus of the program is on integrating critical thinking and theological reflection, enhancing leadership skills, and personal development through healthy discipleship practices as an individual and leader. Graduates will develop contextualized applications of their research in service of the church and the world.

Program Outcomes
The Program Outcomes are introduced at the beginning of the program, assessed at key points during study, and examined more deeply during the Project Writing and defense.
1. Advanced theological integration that helps graduates effectively engage their cultural context with theological acumen and critical thinking.
2. In-depth contextual competency that gives graduates the ability to identify, frame, and respond to crucial ministry issues both within contextual settings and in response to culture.
3. Leadership capacity that equips graduates to enhance their effectiveness as ministry leaders in their chosen settings.
4. Personal and spiritual maturity, and healthy practices of discipleship that enable graduates to reinvigorate and deepen their vocational calling.
5. Communication skills in verbal and written formats culminating in a written project and presentation demonstrating contribution to the Church.

Description and Duration
Winebrenner Theological Seminary's Doctor of Ministry is a 31-credit program intended to be completed in 3 years with optional writing continuation in years 4-6. The program is primarily online with 3-4 day intensives in the two summer trimesters preceding the writing phase. The doctoral project is written in the second half of the program upon successful completion of research and writing methods requirements.

Program Elements
1. Research and Writing Methods courses provide practical and theoretical frameworks for the doctoral writing project.
2. Contextualized Learning Experiences provide exposure to diverse contexts and increased contextual competency.
3. Learning Threads aid in critical thinking, theological integration, leadership skills, and personal development as a disciple.
4. Regular cohort video-conference meetings are hosted by the Program Director.
5. The DMin Project requires each student to identify a research question, design, conduct, and report on their research, complete a written project of 100-130 pages in length plus unlimited front and back matter, and make a capstone presentation based on the research conducted.

Qualifications of Applicants
- Applicants for the Doctor of Ministry degree program must meet the following prerequisites:
    - Applicants must possess an ATS accredited Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree. Students without an accredited MDiv degree need to possess an accredited Master's degree with a minimum of 51 earned credits in an area related to one's ministry setting or vocational calling. The following content areas must be reflected in the Master's degree completed (Biblical Studies and Interpretation, Theological and Historical Studies, Spiritual Formation, and Ministerial Studies).
    - All course work must be demonstrated by official transcript. All candidates admitted by MA Evaluation will be required to attend an interview with members of the Winebrenner faculty.
    - Applicants must give evidence of ability to do doctoral-level work as indicated by a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale) at the graduate level.
    - Applicants must have three years of ministry experience. Applicants with less than three years of ministry experience may provide proof of alternative life experience for three or more years in other types of professional, business, and/or military service.
    - Applicants must be involved in a current ministry context and remain in ministry throughout the duration of their doctoral program. It should be noted that ministry settings beyond parish ministry, such as but not limited to chaplaincy, parachurch settings, educational settings, and denomination settings, are considered appropriate ministry contexts.

- The Admissions Committee may, at times, admit an applicant on probation with a cumulative GPA below 3.0. The reason for granting admission on probation is evidence presented by the applicant that his or her cumulative GPA does not necessarily reflect his or her competence to do doctoral-level work. A student admitted on probation is required to maintain a 3.0 cumulative GPA and adhere to any other stipulations imposed by the Admissions Committee. Otherwise, he or she will be dismissed from the program.

- Applicants are required to provide a recent research paper from a course at the Master's level. If none is available, an essay may be written.

Transfer of Credit
Students qualified for admission into the WTS DMin program may be permitted to transfer DMin coursework from another ATS-accredited institution which may not exceed two-thirds of the program's total credits. Transfer from other terminal degrees is at the discretion of the Chief Academic Officer.

Advanced Standing
In limited circumstances, students may be eligible for advanced standing not to exceed one-third of the program credits.

Doctor of Ministry

CM 8350 Transformational Communication
God employs communication to transform people; therefore, this course anchors human communication within the broader scriptural paradigm of Jesus as Word. Students demonstrate the ability to situate and analyze their entire ministry, beyond preaching, within a broader model that views human communication as transformational rather than simply transactional. By redefining communication as "shared understanding," as opposed to mere information exchange, students reflect on the role of communication in their ministry context. Students also assess the role that emotional intelligence plays in productive communication. (3 hours, DMin students only)

This course will draw from a variety of perspectives to encourage faith leaders to speak with as well as to society. Topics may include pluralism, race, gender, disability, sexuality, and other topics for which a minister must

IS 8040 Developing Healthy Spiritual Communities

In an increasingly pluralistic and suspicious world, churches, Christian settings, and organizations must learn to be healthy spiritual communities that attract rather than repel, minister rather than agitate, and form people spiritually rather than focus on numerical growth metrics that are unimportant. * The orientation course: Foundations for Seminary Studies (IS 5100 / ICS 0100) has orientation lessons that start four weeks before the official start of each trimester.

Note: The United States has 11 federal holidays. Federal holidays are days the federal government recognizes by closing its offices and giving federal employees the day off. For Winebrenner to get 12 weeks in a trimester without disturbing certain family-oriented or Christian-centric holidays (e.g., Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter) we must hold classes on some federal holidays such as Columbus Day, Veterans Day, and Presidents Day. We know this may present a hardship for some, but it is a trade-off we embrace to maintain our academic schedule.

GENERAL ACADEMIC INFORMATION

ADMISSIONS

Admission Policy
Winebrenner Theological Seminary's admission policy does not permit discrimination based on race, color, national or ethnic origin, sex, disability, or age. Applicants should not be antagonistic to the statement of faith and must agree to adhere to the "Standards of Life" Catalog policy contained herein.

Application to the Seminary implies an intention to be "equipped as a leader for service in God's Kingdom." The educational objective of all students is the same: pursue wholeness, gain knowledge, and be equipped to change lives.

Applicants must show potential to develop dispositions attendant to the degree for which they apply.

Admission to the Seminary is by approval of its Admissions Committee upon receipt of a completed application form, application fee, transcripts, and any other program-specific documents. Applicants may complete their application online via the Winebrenner website. The Admissions Office will send applicants written notification of acceptance or denial of admission to the Seminary.

Any student interrupting his or her program at Winebrenner for greater than one year must apply for readmission to the program. Readmission must be initiated by the student and includes submitting a completed new application form, application fee, and updated transcripts if any additional courses have been completed since the previous matriculation period or if previous enrollment was more than five years ago. Students being readmitted will need to fulfill the requirements of the current Winebrenner Graduate Catalog in effect when they are readmitted. MACC students readmitted may be interviewed again, at the discretion of the Chief Academic Officer in consultation with the MACC Program Director.

Admission Requirements
An accredited Bachelor of Arts or Science degree or its equivalent (baccalaureate degree) is required for admission to a master's program. A Master of Divinity degree or its equivalent is required for admission to the Doctor of Ministry program. If severe limitations in the student's background are noted by the Admissions Committee, the individual may be required to take additional courses at the undergraduate level before being fully admitted to the program. Depending on the student's situation, a curriculum plan interview with the Chief Academic Officer or a Student Success Plan may be required as part of the admission process. If an applicant is denied admittance to the Seminary, there is a two-year waiting period before reapplication.

Additional Admission Options

Applicants without a baccalaureate degree are encouraged to apply to Winebrenner.

Those who are applying for a master's degree program will complete a baccalaureate equivalency checklist to provide data for review. As part of the comprehensive review of official transcripts and life experience, each applicant may be required to complete an academic evaluation interview during the readiness evaluative process.

The readiness evaluative review will yield a determination of whether the student qualifies for the Educational Journey equivalency or must enroll in the Life Exploration route in preparation for master's level study.

Educational Journey Applicants: Educational Journey evaluates a student's educational experience for equivalence to an undergraduate education that is typically 120 credits.

Applicants for MACC, MAPT, or MDiv programs seeking admission under the Educational Journey process will:

1. Submit transcripts from all coursework. If the combined credits equal 120 and meet certain general education content requirements, then the applicant might be eligible to move to the rest of the admission process.

2. If not, the applicant collects verification information of training, relevant experiences, and other possible qualifying activities. The Admissions Committee will conduct an evaluation and may conduct an interview. The applicant will be notified of their status, with two possibilities:

   a. The applicant has sufficient qualifications for the equivalency of a baccalaureate degree. A declaration of qualification will be sent to the applicant.
   b. The applicant does not meet sufficient qualifications. Well-qualified applicants may be encouraged to submit materials for Life Exploration evaluation (see below).

Life Exploration Applicants: Life Exploration (EXP) serves as an alternative entry path to the MA level for students who do not have an earned BA or the equivalent under the Educational Journey standard. It allows them to demonstrate their competence and move to the MA level after meeting the requirements. Winebrenner Theological Seminary may admit applicants to the MAPT, the MDiv, or the MACC program without a baccalaureate degree or its equivalency based on the belief that the best way to know if an applicant is ready for graduate level work is by successfully completing graduate level work. Life Exploration students must be at least 25 years of age and: 1) have five or more years of experience relevant to or adjacent to the intended degree, or 2) have earned no less than 15 undergraduate credit hours.

Life Exploration (EXP) students must:

1. Document vocational experience greater than or equal to five years. This may be in a field related to the desired field or another field of employment or, in some instances, as a long-term volunteer.

2. Submit a reference letter, separate from the admissions application, from a vocational colleague or employer in a field related to the applicant's intended future context (e.g., social work, clinical counseling, ministry, non-profit, etc.) or from an adjacent field, or for those who are self-employed, the reference may be from a vocational peer or long-term client with knowledge of the individual's potential for success in the desired context.

3. (Candidates for the MACC degree program will participate in an EXP/MACC Interview.)

4. Within a one-year, continuous period, pass three (3) approved Winebrenner courses, plus IS 5100 "Foundations for Seminary Studies" with at least a B+ taught at the graduate level. Approved courses will include a mixture of the following three assessment criteria: a) Critical Thinking, b) Written Communication, and c) Oral Communication.

   Courses for students interested in entering the MAPT or MDiv:
   - IS 5100 Foundations for Seminary Studies (required in the first trimester)
   - A choice of three from the following:
     o CM 5810 The Ministerial Person
     o OT 5000 Old Testament Foundations
     o NT 5200 New Testament Foundations
     o CH 5400 A Survey of the History of Christianity
     o or another course approved by the CAO

   Courses for students interested in entering the MACC:
   - IS 5100 Foundations for Seminary Studies (required in the first trimester)
   - CC 5000 Introduction to Clinical Mental Health (required in the Fall)
   - One of the following MAPT/MDiv courses:
     o CM 5810 The Ministerial Person
     o OT 5000 Old Testament Foundations
     o NT 5200 New Testament Foundations
     o CH 5400 A Survey of the History of Christianity
   - A choice of one from the following:
     o CC 5121 Helping Skills (Fall) or, o CC 5150 Human Growth and Development (Spring) or,
     o CC 6550 Counseling the Dying and Grieving (Summer)

   At the end of each trimester, the dispositions and academic performance are evaluated. If the EXP student is performing at an acceptable academic and dispositional level, then the student registers for courses for the following trimester. If the EXP student is not performing at an acceptable academic and/or dispositional level, then a remediation plan is written for the following trimester prior to registering for courses.

   At the end of the trimester in which all EXP coursework is completed, student disposition and academic performance are again evaluated. If the EXP student has completed all coursework and meets the standards for successful academic performance and dispositions, then the student is considered ready for graduate level course work. (MACC candidates are automatically enrolled in the MACC degree program for the following trimester.) If the EXP student is not performing at an acceptable academic and/or dispositional level, then the individual dismissed from the Life Exploration program. (MACC candidates are not accepted into the MACC program.)

Students who are admitted under the Life Exploration route will have the same tuition/fees as graduate level students. A person admitted under this route has one year from start date to achieve the necessary coursework and grades to matriculate to the master's level. If, at the end of one year, the student has not met this requirement, they may, by action of the Chief Academic Officer in consultation with key Program Directors/Advisors, be allowed to continue their attempt to matriculate to the master's level with a Remediation Plan or Student Success Plan in place. Students who are unable to achieve the necessary grades will be placed in the non-degree Institute for Christian Studies program for the remainder of their program enrollment.

Students who enter Life Exploration on a path to either the MDiv or the MAPT should be aware of courses common to both degrees and the courses unique to each degree. As an EXP student considers other courses when filling out a trimester schedule, it is best to consider courses common to both degrees until the final move to the chosen degree on the master's level.

The following table shows the similarities between the 43-credit MAPT and the 81-credit MDiv degrees.

DMin Admission without MDiv Degree
Applicants without a Master of Divinity degree applying for the Doctor of Ministry degree program will be required to complete an MDiv equivalency checklist to provide data and will need to complete an academic evaluation interview with Program Director or the Chief Academic Officer. Each student's situation will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis to verify the educational equivalency of their degree programs and other academic work, and he or she may be required to complete successfully additional masters-level coursework before being permitted to matriculate in the DMin program. (See further details outlined in the DMin section earlier in this Catalog.)

Admission Statuses

Accepted Student
Most students at Winebrenner Theological Seminary are admitted as "accepted."

Probationary Admission Status
Persons applying to a master's degree program with an undergraduate GPA lower than 3.0 may be required to meet with the Chief Academic Officer and another member of the Admissions Committee prior to the Committee's decision of whether or not to admit the applicant. Persons who are admitted will be automatically admitted on Probation. This status will be removed after the student completes 12 hours of study with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher. Students admitted on Probation will be encouraged to communicate regularly with the Chief Academic Officer to help ensure their success.

A student may be placed on Dispositional Probation upon admission, subject to a majority vote of the Admissions Committee.

Conditional Status
At the discretion of the Admissions Committee, persons with incomplete files may be Conditionally admitted to begin taking classes for one term. The missing aspects of the file must be completed before registering for a second term.

Visiting Graduate Students
Persons not enrolled in a degree program and who have a minimum cumulative undergraduate GPA of 3.0 may register for up to seven courses, after which time they must appeal to the Chief Academic Officer for continuance. The admission process for visiting graduate students shall be the same as the MDiv and MAPT process. In all respects, such students shall be treated as any other student, except for financial aid and named-scholarship awards. If taking Winebrenner credits to transfer to another school, the burden is entirely on the student to know the policies of the receiving school pertaining to acceptability of courses.

Transfer Credits and Advanced Standing Credits

Transfer Credit. Students from approved seminaries or schools offering ministerial or religious studies at the graduate level will receive appropriate credit for satisfactory work (where the grade assigned was a B- or better), by making an appeal to the Chief Academic Officer and submitting a form identifying each transfer credit on a previous institution's transcript and matching that credit to a corresponding course in a proposed program of study at Winebrenner. To be eligible, courses must be from an accredited school recognized by CHEA or from a school with an articulation agreement with Winebrenner Theological Seminary. All courses considered for transfer will be evaluated for equivalence with Winebrenner degree programs and courses as well as for equivalent rigor. Students transferring credits may be required to complete an interview with the CAO to review the student's curriculum plan. A minimum of one full-time academic year of coursework, calculated as one-third of the total credits required for the degree, must be completed at Winebrenner to receive a degree. Specialized programs may have additional transfer policies.

Students who have completed a degree(s) or coursework from an educational institution that is not accredited by an approved CHEA (Council for Higher Education Accreditation) accrediting body will need to provide proof of the institution's accreditation from other Christian or governmental accrediting bodies. This policy will also include international students. Each student's situation will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis to verify the educational equivalency of their degree program and other academic work. Transfer credits for Clinical Counseling students are explained in the MACC section of this Catalog.

Advanced Standing. Credit may be given for courses taken previously on an undergraduate level according to the standards of advanced placement as currently defined by accreditation standards. To be eligible, courses must be from an accredited school recognized by CHEA or from a school with an articulation agreement with Winebrenner Theological Seminary, or from appropriate ICS courses taught by qualified faculty in a 12-week course setting. Eligible courses are those with a B+ or higher. Advanced standing may be given up to one-third of the total credits required for a degree, provided the student is still able to demonstrate degree outcomes. All courses considered for advanced standing will be evaluated for equivalence with Winebrenner degree programs and courses as well as for equivalent rigor. Credits should have been earned within the last ten years. Final approval of acceptable advanced standing credits rests with the Chief Academic Officer.

Advanced standing to fulfill a single religious heritage requirement for clinical counseling students (IS 6950 is not included) will only be granted if the course was taken at an accredited school recognized by CHEA or by articulation agreement with Winebrenner Theological Seminary. Credits must have been earned within the last ten years.

A combination of transfer credits (graduate) and advanced standing credits (undergraduate) may be considered by the CAO, providing a minimum of one full-time academic year of coursework, calculated as one-third of the total credits required for the degree, must be completed at Winebrenner. Some courses such as CM 5810 The Ministerial Person, TH 5600 Theology I, TH 6610 Theology II, TH 6640 Christian Ethics, and other courses considered significant attributes of the Winebrenner experience, or courses used as important assessment points for student learning outcomes, may not be replaced by transfer credits or advanced standing credits at the discretion of the CAO.

Shared Credits. Students having obtained a graduate degree (either at Winebrenner or other school with CHEA recognized accreditation) may transfer credits from that degree into an additional degree at Winebrenner, up to one half of the new degree program (up to two-thirds for the Master of Divinity program). The Winebrenner transfer policy will govern acceptable courses. (Note: the MACC program does not accept the transfer of clinical courses.) The student must have coursework that demonstrates all program level outcomes and might be asked to demonstrate achievement of those outcomes, on a case-by-case basis. Such requests will come from the Chief Academic Officer in collaboration with appropriate faculty members.

Tuition Exchange Program
Winebrenner students in good standing may take a course at an ATS member school (Association of Theological Schools), an accredited school recognized by CHEA, or a school with an articulation agreement with Winebrenner Theological Seminary and Winebrenner will cover the tuition for the course and associated admission fees. (Certain additional fees such as transcript fees will need to be paid by the student.)

The course should be a course not currently offered by Winebrenner, a course that does not fit the student's course sequence, or a course that is missing from a course sequence or degree audit that may cause a delay in graduation. The course must also be pre-approved by the Program Advisor and the Chief Academic Officer with input from the Executive Director to ensure that the course will meet the degree requirements and that no other arrangement can be made. All courses will be evaluated for equivalence with Winebrenner degree programs and courses as well as for equivalent rigor. A minimum of one full-time academic year of coursework, calculated as one-third of the total credits required for the degree, must be completed at Winebrenner to receive a degree. Specialized degree programs such as the MACC or MACC-N may have additional policies regarding tuition exchange.

Once the student has researched available courses at an ATS member school and received written permission to take the course from Winebrenner, all that is left is to register for that course at the other school and ask them to issue an invoice to the student or to Winebrenner us with full understanding that Winebrenner will pay for tuition and fees from that invoice.

If the school requires fees upfront, Winebrenner will pay the school directly at the time of registering for the course. It is important to note that funds can sometimes take a little time to move through the mail.

Once the course is complete and a grade of B- or better is earned, Winebrenner will receive the credits as Transfer Credits (graduate level to graduate level) and apply it to the pre-approved portion of a degree. It will be up to the student to initiate the transfer of credit by requesting an official transcript to be sent to Winebrenner's Chief Academic Officer.

Winebrenner Seminary does not accept students applying through an F1 Student Visa as residential within the United States.

Background Investigation Policy
In order to enhance the health, safety, and security of students, faculty, and staff of Winebrenner, as well as those external constituencies where Winebrenner students serve during supervised coursework, all students in degree programs where supervision in an external setting is required shall submit to a background investigation (e.g., Practicum, Internship, or Supervised Ministry.) The MACC degree program has a specific process for securing a Background Investigation; those procedures must be followed when registering for Practicum. For the MAPT and MDiv degrees, students are required to complete the Authorization for Background Investigation form when registering for Supervised Ministry (CM 7860.1).This form must be completed and submitted upon registering for the course, but in all cases before the student begins serving in the supervised practical experience. A fee will be assessed for this required background investigation. All records obtained will be held confidentially in the student's Populi Profile.

In the event of an adverse finding, the Chief Academic Officer will be notified and will review the finding in consultation with the program director or advisor. The student will be contacted and given opportunity to provide explanation of the circumstances. In some instances, the student will be required to modify the type of setting or activity allowable. Appropriate location staff will be identified, and notification required by the student, with proof of this notification provided to the Chief Academic Officer. Should the student be ineligible for an Internship or Supervised Ministry setting based on an adverse report, essential personnel will be notified. It must be noted that, in extreme cases, the adverse finding may be severe enough to require dismissal from a degree program or dismissal from the Seminary.

TECHNOLOGY STANDARDS

Computer Hardware and Software

Student computers must be compatible with Microsoft Office and have the ability to connect to the Internet and to access MS Teams online environment using a microphone and webcam for class participation. All students are required to have up-to date anti-virus software, anti-spyware software, and up-to-date operating system security patches and updates. All papers and assignments must be submitted using the latest Microsoft Word software, a part of the Microsoft Office Suite. Winebrenner Seminary (through The University of Findlay) is currently under a Microsoft Campus Agreement (MCA). At this time, a valid UF ID and/or email allows Winebrenner students to download these products through their Office 365 account with no additional cost to the student. Students simply log in to their email account and click on the nine dots in the upper left of the page to use the web version of the MS apps, or after clicking on the nine dots, click on Microsoft 365 and in the right-hand corner will be a button for Install and more.... to install the apps on the computer. Desk-top and laptop computers designed to operate solely in the Microsoft Edge environment may provide limited capabilities and require the online only use of some vital apps like MS Word. This may cause hardships for students and students are cautioned to choose their computer wisely. Computer software may change as the need arises. When created in other software, it is the student's responsibility to save the document in .docx format and guarantee formatting compatibility.

Video Conferencing – Digital Delivery Guidelines

Students are expected to represent dispositions of maturity and responsibility in their usage of technology during class including computers, cell phones, etc. Students should be "on camera" in MS Teams online classes and ready to participate in the learning community. The environment should be conducive to learning and maintenance of appropriate confidentiality. Internet connection must be of sufficient stability and speed to allow synchronous video conferencing. Instructors are mentors of what it means to be mature and responsible with technology.

An adequate and appropriate learning environment is necessary when working within digital delivery systems. Students must adhere to the following guidelines:

- Students attending class via Microsoft Teams should do so in a distraction-free environment and a learning posture, secure from inadvertent breaches of privacy and confidentiality. Taking class while driving or engaged in other activities that requires direct attention should be avoided.

- Students should attend class from a stationary webcam-equipped computer or tablet with keyboard, microphone, and a stable Internet connection. Winebrenner requires that the camera is stationary to avoid a moving image on the screen. It is optimal that students look straight into the camera rather than down or to the side to give everyone in the class session a sense that all are "present" in the learning environment. It is not considered good online ettiquete to have only your face or the top of your head visible; have your face centered in the screen. You can have the session on one side of your screen and take notes or view documents beside it in a split screen.

- Except during breaks, all cameras should be turned on and you must be present; no blank screens or avatars during class session except for normal personal breaks. Exercising, walking on a treadmill, driving a car, or rocking in a chair can also disrupt the classroom environment. Students are asked to refrain from engaging in distracting activities during class sessions. Students may eat when necessary as long as the mic is muted and the eating does not cause a disruption. Unless otherwise specified by the instructor, student should mute microphones until ready to speak to avoid having the class disrupted by background noise. Students may use headphones if background noise is present or if your microphone causes feedback. Participation grades do include students' attentiveness and active conversational interaction whether in-person or online.

Learning Technology

Populi

Populi is the Campus Management System used by Winebrenner which includes a Learning Management System (LMS). The LMS provides access to syllabi, book lists, lessons, assignments, files, links for video conferencing, and course evaluation. A Populi app, available for Android and iOS, allows some functions but students will need access to a computer in order to take classes through the Learning Management System. Populi also provides students access to registration and financial functions. Students can view transcripts and degree audits through Populi. Students receive login information during the admissions process. Questions regarding Populi should be addressed to the CAO. Students can access Populi orientation materials here: https://support.populiweb.com/hc/en-us/sections/1260801932549-Student-Tutorials.

Students and faculty are required to upload an accurate picture to Populi that clearly shows their face to help others recognize you. Family photos, vacation photos, or professional portraits may be used but avatars or cartoons are not considered helpful. (See the faculty and staff photos earlier in this Catalog to understand the kind of photos considered appropriate.) Students who have a specific concern related to the upload of an identifying image should contact the CAO to receive permission for a waiver.

Teams

Teams is the online teaching platform used by Winebrenner where students and instructors meet for live, synchronous, virtual class sessions. The instructor will post the link to the Teams class sessions on Populi (on the Syllabus page) and can also include the link in a Bulletin Board post on the Dashboard page. Students and instructors are required to use the Teams app that is native to Windows or Mac rather than using a web or mobile version. (There are features that are not available and could change if you use the web/mobile version.) Users must sign into their UFnet account with Teams. When the labels "External" or "Unverified" appear next to your name in a Teams meeting signifies that you are not properly signed in. "External" means that the user is signed into a Microsoft account that is not a UFnet account. "Unverified" is someone that has joined when not signing into an account; Teams doesn't know who they are because they have not been authenticated.

From time to time it may be necessary to update the security settings on your computer when using Teams. This will allow screen sharing, participation in break-out rooms, and more. If you have ongoing issues with logging in or staying logged in to the Teams class session, consider these tips: 1) shut down anything that you don't need during a meeting; 2) make sure you have a dedicated audio source (speakers or headset) and microphone for a meeting (this can be the built-in mic/cam in a laptop monitor/bezzle; with older computers it may be wise to purchase a headset and external camera); 3) ensure that you have a strong WiFi signal when connecting or use a CAT5/6 cable to connect to the Internet for fast speeds to your computer from the router/internet connection.

There are several helpful videos on different topics for Microsoft Teams at this link: https://support.microsoft.com/en-us/office/microsoft-teams-video-training-4f108e54-240b-4351-8084-b1089f0d21d7

Email / UFNet

Students and instructors must use their UFnet account to seamlessly access academic applications such as Outlook Email and Teams. For on-campus users, the UFNet account is required for accessing the campus wireless network. Your findlay.edu (or winebrenner.edu) email is required for all seminary-related correspondence. Instructors do not have to open emails or accept assignment submissions from email addresses outside the UFNet due to security reasons.

When you first received your UFNet email account you were given these instructions:

1. Click Here to access Student Resources.
2. Select the email icon.
3. Sign in using your@findlay.edu and Temporary Password (sent to you in that initial email) and follow the password rules on the update password page. At initial sign in, you'll be prompted to create a new password. (You should keep a record of your password.)
4. After completing your password change, you'll be prompted to set up your Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA). Need help? Click Here for MFA Instructions, call 419-434-4357 or email helpdesk@findlay.edu.

If you have trouble accessing your UFnet account, please contact the ITS Help Desk at helpdesk@findlay.edu or 419-434-4357.

By signing into your UFnet account, you are agreeing to the University of Findlay's Acceptable Use Policy, follow this link to review the policy: https://www.findlay.edu/offices/information-technology/ufnet-app-acceptable-use-policy.

Digital Library Services
Winebrenner Theological Seminary is a member of the Digital Theological Library. Students are provided with login information during the orientation process. The library consists of approximately 1 million e-books and 80+ million articles, journals, and databases. More information may be found later in the Catalog under "Library." DTL orientation materials can be accessed here: https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCALUpiI8XByp3enOsmsa5DA. Please note that it can take as long as 7 days for new student ID numbers to registered for use with the DTL.

Email Usage
Students are required to use their school issued email address or messaging available through Populi, for all school related matters. Winebrenner is not responsible for vital information that is lost or fails to be delivered in a timely manner if students fail to adhere to this policy.

The Systems and Network Rules and Guidelines form can be found here.

ACADEMIC STANDARDS

Credit Hour Definition
Winebrenner awards one credit hour for 12 hours of actual class engagement and an additional 24 hours of student work outside the classroom setting, which may include but is not limited to reading, research, written assignments, and other academic exercises deemed appropriate to the subject matter. Additional hours may also include practical ministry assignments which are directly related to the subject matter of the course.

Delivery Types

On-Campus – Lecture or active learning takes place primarily in a physical classroom setting.

Online – Geographically distributed students learn from their home or office, using scheduled Teams sessions.

Hybrid – A combination of online and on-campus learning environments.

Contextual – Students learn from one or more contexts, many with supervision by a mentor, all moderated by an instructor.

Blended – A unique combination of settings which may include synchronous, asynchronous, field education, hands-on environments, directed learning, independent research, scholar-driven forums, student-led learning, seminars, multiple instructors or presenters, partnership with outside learning pathways.

Distance Delivery
The MAPT and MDiv are offered through synchronous, distance delivery (live classes online). The DMin degree is offered primarily through synchronous, distance delivery (live classes online) with an annual summer intensive (blended). The MACC degree is offered fully on-campus. The MACC-National is a non-CACREP accredited distance learning cohort new in Fall 2021, making usage of synchronous, distance delivery (live classes online). Winebrenner currently has a change report submitted to CACREP to offer our MACC degree as a single program: a CACREP accredited, synchronous distance delivery (live classes online) with on-campus options for students who are proximate to the Findlay campus.

Classroom Status

All individuals attending classes on a regular basis are to have a designated status and pay any appropriate fees. While a student may, upon permission from the instructor, bring a family member or other guest to a single class, those attending more than one class are required to have a status.

Audit of Courses

Individuals who want the opportunity to take one or more courses per trimester but do not desire seminary credit may apply as auditors. An auditor may participate in class discussions and interactions provided they have done the assigned reading. Auditors are excluded from submitting assignments or taking tests although the auditor may do assignments for their own edification. Assignments are not graded, nor will the auditor receive a grade or credit for the course. To enroll as an auditor, students must submit an application through the Admissions Office and sign an Auditor Covenant. A bachelor's degree may not be required. Auditors will be enrolled in the course only after all degree students have been enrolled.

Auditor Covenant – Winebrenner values the presence of auditors in the classroom. Their presence can serve to enrich both the classroom and the faith journey of the auditor and serves a role in equipping them for service in God's Kingdom. The Academic Auditor's Covenant seeks to clarify the rights and responsibilities of auditors in the Seminary classroom and must be signed by the auditor prior to the start of the course.

Grading System

While a course may have several educational goals, one single grade is given for student performance in that course. Instructors reserve the right to factor into the student's grade elements such as tardiness, attendance, class participation, interaction with assignments, and personal and professional disposition. Matters of form, style, and grammar are pertinent in evaluating student work.

Guide to Determining the Quality of Work

    A Superior student performance in relation to course goals, objectives, and requirements.
    B Good student performance in relation to course goals, objectives, and requirements.
    C Marginal student performance in relation to course goals, objectives, and requirements.
    F Student did not meet the necessary requirements of the course. Course must be retaken. (See Repetition of Courses below.)

Students registered for credit will be required to fulfill all requirements of the course syllabus and earn the equivalent grade of C- or better in order to pass the course and receive credit. However, persistent C- course grades may result in a cumulative GPA below what is necessary for graduation. A course in which an F is received may not be used to meet the minimum hour requirement for the degree. A required course in which a failing grade is received must be repeated. Elective courses do not need to be repeated if a failing grade is received yet the cumulative GPA remains above 3.0.

Grade Scale

Letter Grade	Percentage	Grade Point Value
A+	99-100%	4.0
A	94-98%	4.0
A-	90-93%	3.67
B+	87-89%	3.33
B	83-86%	3.00
B-	80-82%	2.67
C+	77-79%	2.33
C	73-76%	2.00
C-	70-73%	1.67
F	Below 70%	0.00
I	Incomplete	-
W	Withdrawn	-

A course grade of F will not meet the requirements for degree credit.

Too many courses with a grade of C- may cause the GPA to slip below the 3.0 required for graduation.

Pluses and minuses are regularly assigned and demonstrate the quality of the individual letter grade. The student's GPA is determined by dividing the total points by the number of trimester hours completed.

Pass/Fail Courses
Practicum, Internship I and II, as well as Doctor of Ministry writing project courses are graded on a pass/fail basis. Submitted work must satisfactorily complete assignments, as explained in related syllabi. Any work that is not satisfactory, or not submitted, will result in failing those courses.

Repetition of Courses
Students must repeat a required course in which a failing grade was received at the earliest possible trimester in which the course is offered. Any student who receives an F in the same course twice must receive permission from the CAO to take the course a third time. After the course is successfully completed, only the passing grade will be utilized in calculating the student's GPA. The grade for the course which was repeated will be converted to R and will not be included in the calculation of the student's GPA. The record of previous coursework will not be expunged from the student's transcript. If a student earns a grade lower than B- in a clinical course in the MACC program, the student must retake that course. Students who have received F grades in more than one course will be required to re-take these courses in order to continue in their degree program. To repeat or retake a course, all course work and attendance in the course must be done over again. All tuition and fees apply again for courses that are repeated or retaken.

Students have the right to retake any course (as long as current prerequisites and departmental and program requirements are satisfied), and have only the highest grade used in the computation of their total grade point average. Again, to repeat or retake a course, all course work and attendance in the course must be done again. All tuition and fees apply again for courses that are repeated or retaken.

Academic Warning, Remediation, Probation, and Dismissal
Students whose cumulative GPA falls below 3.0 will be placed on Academic Warning status. Warning includes a limit of only two courses (6 credits) per trimester and the requirement to meet with their Advisor and the Chief Academic Officer to establish an academic Remediation Plan (RP). (If the student fails or refuses to meet, an RP may be created by the Advisor and CAO and imposed upon the student.) Academic Warning status remains in effect for only one trimester. If a student has not met the minimum GPA requirement of 3.0 by the end of that trimester the student will be placed on Academic Probation.

When a student is placed on Academic Probation, registration is limited to two courses or 6 credits per trimester and an RP may be created by the Advisor and CAO and imposed upon the student. Upon the lifting of an Academic Warning or Academic Probation the student can be limited in how many courses can be taken in a trimester as approved by the Advisor and the CAO. A student who is on Academic Probation for two consecutive trimesters or three total trimesters may be subject to Academic Dismissal from the Seminary upon final approval of the Executive Director or Seminary President. (Students whose cumulative GPA falls below 2.0 are subject to immediate Academic Dismissal.)

Students dismissed for such unsatisfactory academic progress may request readmission after a period of one year or three successive trimesters, and may be readmitted with a mandatory RP in place. Students who entered Winebrenner Seminary under a different Graduate Catalog will be subject to the current Catalog in force when they return. (Any student who interrupts their study at Winebrenner by more than one year or three successive trimesters are subject to this policy.)

Dispositional Warning, Remediation, Probation, and Dismissal
"Disposition" refers to personality traits or internal factors that influence behavior, like attitudes, beliefs, or temperament. At times a significant concern about a student's disposition is identified through repeated issues in contact with faculty and/or administrators and/or through a lapse or failure in one or more of the elements covered in the Standards of Life section of this Catalog. If a dispositional concern is identified, three options are available. The student may placed on Dispositional Warning status and/or be given a dispositional Remediation Plan (RP). If the concerns a severe enough, the student may be placed on Dispositional Probation or the student may be recommended for Dismissal, following the process outlined in this Catalog.

When a student is on Dispositional Probation, financial scholarships may be removed. The student will not be eligible to be a graduate student assistant. The student will not be eligible for field work (Supervised Ministry, Internship I or II). Dispositional Warning or Probation will last one trimester. At the end of that time, a re-evaluation shall take place. Continuing Warning or Probation shall require approval from the student's advisor and the Chief Academic Officer, with input from the Executive Director. If the student does not show corrective growth or progress throughout the duration of Dispositional Warning or Probation, the student may be dismissed from the Seminary. The student may willingly choose to leave the Seminary. If a student is dismissed while on probation, or willingly decides to leave, three successive trimesters must elapse before they may return. Students must reapply for admission. Dispositional Probation will continue upon return with a Remediation Plan in place and the degree program will be governed by the current Catalog in force upon return.

Remediation Plan—including for Academic or Dispositional Warning or Probation
A Remediation Plan may be established at any time, including for Academic and/or Dispositional Warning and Probation. The following Remediation Plan (RP) procedures should be followed:

- The student will be formally notified by the Chief Academic Officer of the specific problem areas noted by faculty or advisor(s), whether academic or dispositional or both.
- A Remediation Plan (RP) to remedy the problem(s) will be developed in conjunction with the CAO, the student, and the student's advisor (who shall advocate for the student's interests). If the student fails or refuses to take part in the creation of an RP, an RP will be created in the student's absence.
- This Remediation Plan will: a) define the student's problem(s); b) identify the expected behavior or attitude goals; c) specify possible remediation methods to reach those goals; and, d) designate a date for goal attainment, which shall not exceed the length of a full academic trimester.
- The Remediation Plan shall be approved by the CAO before implementation.
- If the conduct warrants, a recommendation may be made to the CAO that the student be placed on Academic Probation and/or Dispositional Probation. In the event the student will not accept the terms of a Remediation Plan, (s)he may be placed on Dispositional Probation and may be dismissed from the Seminary immediately. Dismissal will follow the procedures outlined in this Catalog.

At the end of the specified time, there shall be a re-evaluation. One of three options may be recommended.

1. As the student grows, the specified concerns may no longer present a significant problem. The student will be removed from Academic and/or Dispositional Probation and any Remediation Plan(s) and continue in the program.
2. If improvement is only moderate, the faculty may recommend to the CAO that the student remain on Probation and/or be required to continue Remediation. A decision to continue Remediation requires an update to the Remediation Plan and another date set for a subsequent re-evaluation, no longer than the length of a full trimester. (A third Remediation Plan shall not be approved without the Executive Director's or Seminary President's approval.)
3. If there has been no improvement, the advisor and/or Chief Academic Officer may recommend academic Dismissal which must be approved by the Executive Director or Seminary President.

Registration for Courses
Students are expected to register for courses online via Populi during the three official trimester registration periods of the Seminary. The Chief Academic Officer emails registration information to students prior to the registration period. All outstanding balances must be paid prior to registration for a new trimester.

Changes in Registration, Additions, Drops, and Withdrawals
Courses may be dropped by the student prior to midnight the day before the first day of classes. Courses may not be added after the first week of the trimester. Changes in registration and adjustments of the student's academic schedule must be approved by the CAO.

Withdrawal from courses after the first academic week will be recorded as Withdrawn (W). Students may request to be withdrawn from a course until the published last day to withdraw listed in the Catalog. After the published last day for withdrawal students may not be withdrawn but may request an extension. In the event of a life situation outside of the student's control, a student may request withdrawal after week 7 and receive a grade of "W" by the action of all three of the following: the instructor, the advisor, and the Chief Academic Officer. The student must make the appeal through email to the CAO. From time to time, the Executive Director may be consulted on situations. (See the Financial Information section of this catalog and its statement regarding the refund of tuition and fees for further details.)

Administrative Withdrawal and Grading: Students may be administratively withdrawn from a course due to inactivity within the first two weeks (14 days) of a course. Inactivity is determined by Populi activity and communication with the instructor.

Change in Registration Status: If a student wishes to change his or her registration status in a course (either from credit to audit or vice versa), the student must notify the CAO before the second week of class.

Policy for Students Experiencing a Federal/State Agency Required Deployment (including National Guard Duty)
In the event of a federal/state agency or National Guard required deployment of 14 days or less:

The student will:
- Advise instructor(s) by email of the anticipated deployment and duration.
- Upon return, provide the instructor with proof of deployment in the form of an official notice or identification card.

The instructor will:
- Verify the deployment by viewing the official notice or identification card.
- Provide an automatic 14-day extension to the student's coursework.
- Not make any deduction for missed course dates or Populi sessions.
- Make arrangements for the student to take any tests or quizzes missed as a result of deployment.
- Adjust assignment dates in a fashion appropriate to the number of days missed.
- Notify the CAO of a deployment extension in order to extend the due date for the student's final grade.

In the event of a federal/state agency or National Guard required deployment of more than 14 days:

The student will:
- Advise instructor(s) and the CAO by email of the anticipated deployment and duration.
- Provide a copy of the official deployment notice to the CAO.

The Chief Academic Officer will:
- Determine if the date for a course drop without penalty has passed.
- Record a grade of W.
- Annotate the student's transcript for the impacted trimester with the following phrase: This grade was received as a result of a required federal agency deployment, which resulted in the student being withdrawn before the end of the course. (The course will need to be retaken if it is a core course.)

Time Limits for Completion of Master's Degrees
To ensure that a degree, when granted, represents education that is current and academically focused, requirements for each master's degree normally include credit earned only within 150% of the recognized time frame for earning the degree, stipulated here as a standardized nine year time frame for all master's degrees. This includes credits earned elsewhere and transferred for credit into a degree program at Winebrenner. Variation beyond the 150% of the recognized time frame for earning a master's degree is only with approval by the Chief Academic Officer and may require the assessment of additional fees, interviews, and/or some kind of assessment to show mastery. Students may be asked to replace these "stale" courses with current course offerings unless the current course offering is identical in course description and content to that previously earned. Students who have stale credits should contact the Chief Academic Officer for guidance. Students who do not complete a degree within the recognized time frame, as listed in the recognized course sequence maps in the Graduate Catalog, will automatically be moved from the Catalog from the year when the degree was started (pursued year) to the newest, most current Graduate Catalog.

Graduation
Matriculation at Winebrenner Theological Seminary culminates with graduation. Students who have completed their course of study by successfully accumulating the full required number of credits for their program of study will be eligible for graduation as long as their GPA meets the standards articulated in the Catalog, which includes achieving no less than a cumulative 3.0 GPA. Further, a student must be enrolled in Winebrenner at the time of completion and in good standing with the Seminary in terms of discipline, academics, disposition, and finances.

Winebrenner has one graduation Commencement ceremony annually, at the conclusion of the Summer term, at which time completed degrees are officially conferred.

Students expecting to graduate must complete an Intent to Graduate form during the Spring trimester (January-March) of the year they expect to graduate. The Chief Academic Officer will perform student degree audits and send the form to students who appear to be qualified. If a student anticipates graduating, they should contact the Chief Academic Officer if they have not been contacted by week 8 of the Spring trimester. Timely completion of the Intent to Graduate form is the student's responsibility.

A list of names will be presented to faculty by the Chief Academic Officer, who in turn recommends potential graduates to the Executive Director and the Seminary President. Graduates must then be approved by the Board of Trustees according to the policy set forth in the Winebrenner Handbook of Operations.

The Doctor of Ministry degree is conferred upon eligible students only when they have successfully completed every step of the program, including successfully completing an approved final project.

Commencement Ceremony

The Commencement Ceremony is a spiritual event as the culmination of being equipped for service in God's Kingdom. Participation by all graduates and current students is strongly encouraged. All academic work must be completed prior to participation, including final paperwork for Applied Learning (field education) courses. All tuition and fees, including the Graduation fee, must be paid no later than July 20 prior to Commencement.

An appeal may be made to the Chief Academic Officer if the graduate believes there are extenuating circumstances regarding their eligibility to participate in Commencement. The CAO may consult faculty and advisors. Final approval of participation in Commencement rests with the Executive Director and/or Seminary President.

Exit Interview

Students who, for any reason, consider withdrawing from Winebrenner should schedule an appointment with the Chief Academic Officer. The withdrawal is not effective until final settlements with the Business Office and Financial Aid Office have been made.

Disability Support

It is the responsibility of students with disabilities to inform the Chief Academic Officer if accommodations are being sought. Winebrenner Theological Seminary will endeavor to make reasonable accommodations intended to provide access to educational opportunity. Winebrenner Theological Seminary has no obligation to make fundamental alterations of a program and/or curricula that would compromise course rigor, academic integrity, or expected outcomes.

- A Winebrenner student with a disability who is in need of accommodation is obligated to provide notice of the nature of the disability to the institution and to assist in identifying appropriate and effective accommodation.

- The notice should be provided to the Chief Academic Officer at least one week prior to beginning of each trimester. The CAO may be reached at mjohnson@winebrenner.edu or 419-434-4220.

- In addition, the student is required to provide supporting diagnostic documentation and/or professional prescription(s) for specific accommodations.

- Upon receipt of the aforementioned information, the Chief Academic Officer, the student's advisor, and other professionals appointed by the CAO will determine the eligibility of the student for necessary accommodation(s) and the possible accommodations that can be made available.

If accommodations are recommended the following guidelines are noted in the creation of a written Individualized Student Accommodation Plan (ISAP) that is created with the help of the student, presented by the student to his or her instructor(s), and placed on the student's Populi profile:

- The school has no provision for providing tutors in content areas. However, a student may ask the instructor to identify which students might have enough proficiency so that they could be helpful as study partners, etc. That relationship should be viewed as an informal agreement between those students.

- Students may request that an instructor allow recording of lectures so they may be reviewed several times. This is considered a better method for reviewing lecture material than requesting notes from a fellow student.

- Additional time on examinations may be coordinated with the instructor upon approval of the CAO.

- An extension at the end of the course may be granted, but additional extensions beyond that initial extension will not be granted. Course extensions do not guarantee extensions on all assigned work since much of the coursework builds on previous assignments.

- No reduced assignments are permitted. Extended time on assignments is at the discretion of the instructor but cannot exceed 14 days.

- No grading changes are permitted and no test format changes will be permitted other than those which provide equality of access. No extra attempts at tests will be permitted.

- A student with a disability who requires assistance in the classroom should contact the CAO at least three weeks prior to beginning of each term to arrange for their support person to receive auditor status. If accommodation includes the need for an ASL interpreter, designated note-taker, language interpreter, personal needs assistant, etc., the Seminary will provide the opportunity for the student to arrange for such assistance. When a support person is approved to audit a course, necessitated by the student's disability, the Seminary will waive all associated fees. All waivers are approved by the CAO. Winebrenner does not provide interpreters or other types of class support persons. Certified and trained Service Animals are welcome. Not all Emotional Support Animals can be accommodated. Late Work, Class Absences, and Extension policies remain in effect.

- Students are primarily responsible for the implementation of their Academic Accommodation Plan in each of their courses. Once the ISAP has been established with the student and the CAO, it is the student's responsibility to meet with their instructor(s) at least one week prior to the initial class session, provide them with a copy of their ISAP for the trimester, and discuss the implementation of the accommodations.

- Students receiving accommodations should communicate any issue(s) to the CAO or to their advisor as soon as the issue(s) arise. Students are responsible for contacting the CAO each trimester (or each academic year) to continue services and/or to request any adjustments to their ISAP.

- If an instructor finds that meeting a specific accommodation proves especially difficult, the instructor may appeal to the CAO for assistance, clarification of the accommodation plan, or suggested changes to the IASP in place. The CAO, the student's advisor, the instructor, and other professionals appointed by the CAO will convene to discuss the problematic accommodation. When prudent, the student with the IASP will be included in the discussion on the necessity of the accommodation(s) and/or the possible modification of the ISAP.

Late Work, Class Absences, and Extensions

Late Work During the Term.
A student who submits assigned written work late during the trimester, when the lateness is not due to a serious illness or death of a family member or extreme life/ministry situations outside his/her control, as confirmed by the CAO, will have his or her grade on such late work reduced a total of 10% for the first week's lateness (from one to seven days). The reduction will be an additional 10% for the second week's lateness (from eight to fourteen days, for a cumulative total of 20% penalty); and another 10% for the third week's lateness, after which the grade on the late work becomes an F. This same policy will also apply to scheduled examinations or tests. Students may petition the instructor in writing for an exception to this policy. When such exceptions last longer than the initial one week, the CAO must be notified by the instructor.

The instructor may have a stricter policy provided they consult with the CAO to make a final determination. It must be clearly stated in the syllabus with corresponding reasons for the exception, such as multiple assignments building on each other. Late work may not be submitted after the end of a term without filing for a request for an extension of the course through the CAO.

Absence from Class(es).
Regular attendance of classes is an integral part of successful learning in all course delivery types. Seminary students are training to be professionals responsible for the welfare of others, whether in ministry vocations, academic settings, or counseling situations. Class attendance, arriving on time, and active, meaningful participation in discussions and dialogue with peers and instructors are essential in order to evaluate the student's preparedness and, therefore, may constitute a portion of the student's final course grade. Students learning through the MS Teams online environment are to have their camera activated and be visibly present, observing good etiquette (as outlined in the syllabus).

Two excused absences, considered "advanced notice absences," may be granted by the Instructor for illness, emergencies, or employment conflicts. An excused absence does not mean that the student's responsibilities are waived. Rather, "excused" means the instructor is aware of the upcoming absence and that the student will not be considered "missing" and therefore counted as an unexcused absence. There is no excused absence that simply erases the required work, and there is no specific kind of absence that an instructor must count as full class session credit. The missed class session(s) may be made up, only with approval from the Instructor, by performing additional academic assignments as prescribed by the Instructor. The instructor is not required to give make up work and the absence may carry the penalty of missing participation points. If the requested or required absences become too frequent (two or more) the CAO may recommend withdrawing from the course.

Vacations, reunions, mission trips, and other similar times away are not considered excused absences and should be scheduled for the normal "breaks" in the Academic Year: April, August, and December. An unexcused absence occurs when the student simply doesn't attend or give adequate reasons for an absence. The instructor is not required to give make up work. Two (2) or more unexcused absences must be reported to the CAO and may result in being administratively withdrawn from the course.

Extension Requests
The purpose of an extension is to make a provision for an additional allotment of time to complete coursework after the conclusion of a term. To qualify, a student must be experiencing serious illness, the death of a family member, or a significant life/ministry situation outside his/her control. "Significant situations" are at the discretion of the CAO with a possible appeal to the Executive Director or Seminary President. The course status will be recorded as "I" (Incomplete). The student will have 14 days following the final day of the course to submit completed work. If the circumstances of any "significant situation" are of such severity as to require additional time, the CAO may assign an additional 14 day extension (total of 28 days). Failure to complete the work without further written permission from the CAO results in the student receiving the grade earned for the course and an "F" for the uncompleted work. The earned grade is factored into the student's overall course grade. Students may submit an appeal to the CAO regarding their extenuating circumstances. "Poor planning" by the student does not constitute an acceptable significant situation. The CAO may consider the number of course extensions requested by the student in prior trimesters in making a determination for present or future extensions. The CAO may deny a student's enrollment in a successive trimester if the student has an extension from the previous term, based on the likelihood of disruption in the successive trimester.

In order to request an extension, the student must initiate contact with the course instructor(s) before the end of the term, via completion of the Extension Request Form (available in the Files section of the Active Students group on Populi). If the CAO grants the extension, the form is signed and the student is given written notification about whether the request for an extension has been granted. The correspondence will outline the procedure for submitting extension work and state the length of the extension. Additional extensions are rarely granted.

Inclement Weather
If the University of Findlay cancels on-campus classes then Winebrenner on-campus classes will move to online. Because we do most instruction by distance learning, the Chief Academic Officer and the President or Executive Director will determine when online classes might be canceled based on regional or national weather emergencies. Faculty and students will be notified through email and/or Populi.

Coursework

Syllabi
The syllabus will be made available in Populi by the instructor who is teaching the course. It is the student's responsibility to download the syllabus; no syllabi will be sent to students. A syllabus is considered a "contract" between the instructor and all students on the course roster. However, in extenuating circumstances (inclement weather, emergencies, illness, obvious mistakes, a directive from the CAO or Executive Director, or other exigencies), instructors may alter a syllabus and give notice to students of the needed change.

Course Load
Course load is the academic workload (i.e., the number of credit hours) a student chooses to undertake. It is typically defined by the number of credit hours taken in a trimester and/or the number of credit hours taken in an Academic Year (three trimesters of Fall, Spring, and Summer). A part-time course load is considered one course of 1-3 credits per trimester, or 15 or less credit hours in an Academic Year. Full-time is at least six credit hours in a trimester and at least 18 credit hours in an Academic Year. A maximum course load is 12 credit hours per trimester and requires prior approval by the Program Advisor/Director and the Chief Academic Officer. A maximum load cannot include two courses being taken simultaneously during the same class session (e.g., Monday night from 6:00-9:00 pm) by attempting to utilize class recordings, split time between class sessions, or any similar means.

Textbooks
Textbooks are typically listed on the Populi course site before the syllabus is uploaded. Students are responsible for checking the required textbooks for each course and acquiring their own textbooks from a source of their choosing. (Some recommendations: barnesandnoble.com, thriftbooks.com, abebooks.com, bookshop.org, betterworldbooks.com, booksamillion.com, bookoutlet.com, bookfinder.com, alibris.com, textsurf.com, or booksprice.com.) Textbooks should be purchased far enough in advance of the initial class session in order to accomplish assigned reading and be ready to learn from the initial class session. It is important to note that some instructors assign significant reading before the initial class session. Hardbound, paperback, eBooks, or audio books may be used. Some books may be available through the Digital Theological Library (DTL). Pricing for instruments related to assessments and/or course-specific requirements may be found within the course syllabus.

Writing Style Formats
Winebrenner has two official and required writing styles for all papers submitted for grading.
1. The Turabian Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, current edition,* is the standard format for all papers in the ICS, MDiv, MAPT, and DMin. Winebrenner utilizes the Notes-Bibliography Style found in Turabian. This style is used by all ICS, MDiv, MAPT, and DMin students, even when taking Clinical Counseling (CC) courses.

2. The Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, current edition,* is the standard format for all papers in the MACC degree program. This style is used by all MACC students, even when taking other seminary courses.

* All students must possess a copy of the current edition of the specific text associated with the writing style for their degree. See the syllabi for the current edition.

Helpful sample papers and writing guides for both of these writing styles can be found in the Files section of the Active Students group on Populi. Home > Groups > Active Students > Files

Writing style can only account for 10% of the grade of any written assignment. It should be noted that instructors utilize a wide variety of rubrics for grading the other 90% of a paper, including required content, quality of content, planning, organization, coherence, requirements for inclusion, specified sources, use of an outline, failure to cite or an over-abundance of citations, requirements for typing, required headings and subheadings, timeline of submission, plagiarism, spelling, and grammar, etc.

Class Participation
Students are encouraged to read their syllabi very carefully and ask questions of their instructors in regard to class participation. Instructors use a variety of means to measure meaningful participation, including weekly points added or deducted, rubrics, and more. The participation grade is awarded for thoughtful engagement in class sessions. This is understood as active participation in discussions and break-out groups, asking questions, expressing opinions, and deep thought shared with the class. Class participation presumes that a student will arrive on time and remain for the entire class, with their entire face visible on camera. (Lounging on a couch or easy chair, walking on a treadmill or a walking path, or generally doing something other than attending class is not considered helpful engagement or participation.) It is vital that students are prepared for class with appropriate readings completed so that meaningful interaction can take place.

Thoughtful engagement means that class discussions are powered and enriched by everyone processing and sharing what has been discovered from assigned reading, from personal experiences, and from in-class interactions. Learning is synergistic; it deals with abstract or theoretical ideas that have not yet been fully understood or internalized, and constructing learning and mastering concepts requires the community of learners sharing together—verbally. It's not a repetition of facts; it's not a debate, an argument, or posturing. Thoughtful, meaningful class participation happens when all students engage in asking questions, making assertions, sharing concerns or doubts, expressing opinions, navigating new ideas, and encountering new ways of thinking. Everyone's input is vital to the learning environment. Quiet observation may have its place for most of a class session, but failing to contribute meaningfully is virtually the same as being absent from class.

Course Evaluations
At the end of every term all students are required to complete an electronic course evaluation for each course in which they were enrolled; directions for completion on Populi will be sent at the end of the term. The data from course evaluations is anonymous. Timely completion of course evaluations is stressed; the data from the course evaluations is essential.

Special Study Opportunities
Winebrenner is concerned with meeting the needs of its students as individuals. That concern is demonstrated in the flexibility of the Seminary's study arrangements and special educational opportunities, field education assignments, directed studies, independent research, and other modes of learning, which make a Winebrenner education practical, challenging, holistic, and comprehensive.

Independent Research / Independent Learning

Independent research courses involve in-depth investigations or other kinds of extensive projects undertaken by individual students in consultation with a faculty member. An independent research course does not duplicate the essential content of any course regularly offered in a classroom setting but provides an opportunity for students who have demonstrated the capability to go beyond the Seminary's regular course offerings in both depth and scope.

A student may earn no more than six hours of credit in independent research. Since these courses involve advanced academic work, it is recommended that foundational courses in a department be taken first. Students interested in pursuing an independent research course will utilize the following procedures:

- The student develops a "learning contract" delineated on the Application for Independent Research Form in conjunction with a faculty member who is competent in the field to be studied.
- The student submits the completed Application for Independent Research Form to the CAO, who confers with the student's advisor and the faculty member who will direct the independent research regarding approval. If all agree, the CAO then registers the student.
- Once the student receives notification of approval, he or she may proceed with the independent research project. The faculty member who signed the application will serve as an advisor and final evaluator of the student's work on the project. The completion deadline for the research project is the end of the trimester, unless otherwise specified.

Directed Learning

Some regularly scheduled courses at the Seminary may be taken outside of the scheduled time frame when extremely unusual circumstances are present. A directed study is available only when the course cannot be taken at the regularly scheduled time because of an irreconcilable scheduling conflict affecting the normal degree progress of a student.

- Students requiring a directed study format for a regularly scheduled course will make the request to the CAO explaining the unusual and irreconcilable circumstances requiring the directed study delivery format. Students who have completed at least one term at the graduate level may be eligible for a directed study.
- A directed study generally is not allowed when due to a student's mismanagement of their recommended course sequence or taking courses out of order.
- Credit hours of directed study in a degree program may not exceed 10% of the total credits required for graduation. DMin students are allowed up to six credits.
- All directed studies are at the discretion of the CAO, advisor, and the instructor. The CAO assigns the instructor for the directed study course, and the student is notified of such action.
- Personal consultations between the student and the instructor are held throughout the trimester, at least 4 times.
- The amount and quality of academic work required must be equivalent to the credit hour and contact hour policy requirement for the course being replaced.
- The directed study is to be completed during the stated trimester time frame, with all typical deadlines observed, and no extensions granted.

Progress Reviews

As students approach key stages in their program of study:

- o MDiv and MAPT – at various points in program coursework through faculty and advisor input or concern, and midpoint based on credit hours;
- o MACC – at multiple points and through multiple means in the program coursework; at the Pre-Practicum Review;
- o DMin – at minimum at the Prospectus Review;

the Chief Academic Officer will ensure that a progress review is initiated to determine that each student's performance and integration of degree progress objectives is on track.

The progress review will be performed by faculty members in the degree program, assisted by other faculty and staff. Typically, this will include the academic advisor and one other individual with pertinent expertise.

The CAO will also create a report with the following data points to help guide to the progress review:

- o GPA
- o Any Academic or Dispositional Remediation/Warning/Probation
- o Multiple Flags (resolved and unresolved)
- o Any course with a grade C or below

The progress review panel will set an interview with each student ready for the review process to discuss the student's academic and dispositional status in their degree program.

At the end of the progress review meeting the panel will provide a report to the CAO: 1) recommending the student continue in good-standing, 2) recommending a Remediation Plan (RP), or 3) recommending dismissal from the Seminary with final approval by the Executive Director or Seminary President. The CAO will inform the student in writing of the findings of the Review Panel.

Remediation Plans are recorded by the CAO and reviewed at the end of each trimester to determine if the plan should be continued or if the plan has been met.

Change of Program

Students who wish to change their program of study should consult with their advisor and with the Chief Academic Officer. Students must make a written request. Students will receive written notification of the approval or denial of their request.

Graduate Student Assistantships

Winebrenner Seminary occasionally invites students to serve as Graduate Student Assistants (GSAs).

Faculty petition the Chief Academic Officer for a GSA to assist them in a specific research project or teaching assignment connected to a specific course. GSAs are only intended for projects in which the student will be engaged in producing original work, providing classroom assistance, or engaging in teaching-related activity.

Criteria for selection of GSA candidates: 1) completion of a minimum of a full-time academic year or its equivalent; 2) aptitude for research and/or teaching; 3) recommendation by two Winebrenner faculty members; and 4) a minimum GPA of 3.7 at Winebrenner.

Faculty members may petition the Chief Academic Officer, prior to inviting a student to participate in an assistantship, by providing a written GSA application which describes the nature and focus of the assistantship project. (A GSA project is faculty-initiated or CAO-initiated rather than student-initiated.) The CAO brings the request to the Executive Director for consideration and final budget approval. Upon approval, the CAO extends the GSA opportunity to the student.

Winebrenner faculty, students, and the Seminary should benefit from an assistantship as all engage in collaborative research projects and/or teaching. An assistantship will nurture academic excellence and critical thinking in the Seminary and our sphere of influence.

If a student is invited to serve as a GSA, he or she can 1) receive credit for the GSA as an elective independent research course with a grade and receive a waiver of tuition for the course upon completion of the project, or, 2) receive a waiver of tuition for another current course. All GSA work is personally overseen by the CAO and the faculty member involved with the GSA.

Library
Winebrenner Seminary has partnered with the Digital Theological Library, a digital library designed for distance students. Students can access the DTL at https://libguides.thedtl.org/home, and when prompted, select Winebrenner Theological Seminary from the drop-down menu, then use your student ID number as your passcode.

Note: the proper way to cite a source found in the DTL is to treat the source as you would any book or journal using the writing style for your degree (ICS, MDiv, MAPT, and DMin follow the most current edition of Turabian; MACC follow the most current APA version) ending the citation with Title of Database, URL or DOI.

When citing a source found in the DTL, students must link to the resource in the DTL library catalog; these are stable links, and do not prompt login. To retrieve the catalog link for any resource, click the resource in the DTL catalog, and then click the "Share" button near the top of the resource description. Once the share button is clicked a link under the resource description is displayed along with a button to "copy link." These links are stable and do not change (or prompt a login for the reader) as they are simply links to the DTL catalog.

STUDENT SERVICES AND GUIDELINES

Standards of Life

All students and members of the Winebrenner community are expected to exhibit a proper attitude toward the Christian life and values of the Seminary. The standards of conduct expected are those indicated in Scripture for those who live as citizens of the Kingdom of God. The Christian is a member of the Kingdom living as a resident alien in our world.

Winebrenner Theological Seminary strives to create and promote an atmosphere that will encourage the members of the Seminary community to develop the highest degree of maturity (teleios—whole, mature, complete: Matthew 5:48; James 1:4; Ephesians 4:13). Each person is to live as a responsible, interdependent member of the Seminary community and the Christian community of which she or he is an active participant. Each member of the Seminary community should seek to live up to Christian ethics and morality as defined by Scripture. The principle of Christian liberty defines a life of yieldedness, love, and reciprocal fellowship in the Christian community that is a restraint against legalism and hypocrisy (1 Corinthians 8 and 9; Ephesians 4:14-16).

For the sake of the Winebrenner Theological Seminary community the following behaviors are to be practiced:
- All students, faculty, and staff must agree not to use tobacco, alcohol, or illegal non-prescriptive drugs in any of the Seminary facilities, on Seminary property, or at any Seminary function on- or off-campus. (See the "Drug/Alcohol Prevention Program Guidelines" for the Seminary explicated in the Handbook of Operations, 2024.) (Tobacco use on campus is governed by the University of Findlay's smoke-free campus policy.)
- In terms of sexuality, we believe that Jesus Christ and Scripture teach that sexual relations are sanctioned only between a husband and a wife in marriage. (From the Handbook of Operations, 2024.)

Inclusive Language
Winebrenner is committed to equality for women and men of every racial and ethnic background. Recognizing that language is an essential element in understanding and shaping people's perceptions of themselves and others, the Seminary urges students to use language in public discourse, in classroom discussions, and in their writings that does not exclude persons on the basis of gender, age, race, physical limitations, or economic condition.

Student Responsibilities
Like any community, the Seminary is comprised of persons with a variety of personalities, theological perspectives, and diverse backgrounds. To function as an academic community characterized by diverse persons, there are basic student responsibilities that should be observed.

Respect for All Students, Faculty, and Staff
To be Christ-like involves showing respect for all persons. Each student owes respect to his or her fellow students as peers in the learning process, despite differing views. Students are expected to treat faculty and staff with the same respect. Likewise, faculty and staff are expected to treat students and each other with respect at all times. (See Title IX and Student Conduct.)

Classroom Disruption
Classroom disruption includes any activity or behavior which interferes with an instructor's ability to teach or another student's ability to learn. The instructor retains latitude in determining whether any given activity or behavior is disruptive. In the event that the activity or behavior cannot be resolved by the instructor, it should be referred to the Chief Academic Officer.

Academic Integrity
Academic integrity is the personal responsibility of students to represent as their own work only what they are entitled to honestly present in reports, papers, presentations, or examinations. Violations of academic integrity include dishonesty and plagiarism.

Dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, copying from another's examination paper; allowing another to copy from one's own examination; giving or receiving inappropriate aid on a take-home examination; misuse of copyrighted materials; misappropriation of research materials; or submission of the same work product in more than one course without permission of the instructors. Plagiarism is the passing off of another's ideas or writings as one's own. Plagiarism can be avoided by appropriately acknowledging the work of others either in footnotes, quotations, or by oral recognition in an oral presentation. If a student violates the standard on academic integrity, he or she will be subject to disciplinary action determined by the instructor and Chief Academic Officer. A student who violates the standard a second time may be dismissed from the Seminary and such dismissal will be noted on the student's transcript.

Artificial Intelligence (AI), computers and programming equipped and trained to perform complex tasks such as solving problems, making decisions, and even reasoning in much the same way humans do, has been around for decades. We use AI nearly every day in apps on our cell phones, Smart TVs, GPS systems, and personal assistants such as Siri, Google Home, Alexa, and more. In recent years generative AI has become powerful enough to mimic human interaction. With Large Language Models (LLMs), generative AI has learned to produce text, provide in-depth answers to questions, summarize multiple sources of information, and draw assumptions and correlations between diverse topics.

There may be some beneficial and appropriate uses of AI in academic work. Using helpful tools or apps to check spelling and grammar are permissible. Tools like MS Word autocorrect, spell-check, and grammar-check features are good examples of how early AI programming can benefit us in education. Students for which English is a second language might use AI to help correct and tighten their English usage. Students and instructors doing research might use some AI tools to assist with refining research questions or helping to develop parameters for literature reviews. Apps like Grammarly can scan for errors and may make suggestions for edits, but such compositional editorial assists are very different from an AI program that composes elements of a reflection paper, position paper, or book review from a few suggestions.

A growing concern in education is the use of artificial intelligence to compose or contribute to written work in a course. Through both verbal and written interface, students and instructors can interact with LLMs to answer questions or generate text about any topic. The information offered by generative AI can so closely resemble human composition that it becomes nearly impossible to differentiate between human-created text and AI-generated text. Passing off AI generated composition as one's own work is no different than copying a human author's work and submitting it as your own; both are considered plagiarism and detract from learning and are an affront to academic integrity. Doing respected, scholarly work requires that the work submitted is the learner's own, original work. Something written by AI is not considered the original work of the learner, but the work of the generative AI, and must be cited properly.

Academic integrity at Winebrenner requires that all learners submit work that is their own. Generative AI may only be used in very specific courses and assignments with the express permission of the instructor of record. Syllabi give general guidelines for the use of generative AI; instructors are encouraged to use their syllabi to communicate their specific AI policies.

Winebrenner recommends the following three notifications for use by instructors:
1. No AI tools will be used in this course.
2. AI tools will be used in specified assignments only. (Please specify.)
3. AI tools can be used to improve writing flow and content. It is the student's obligation to ensure that all such use is noted with a citation for each instance.

Copyright Infringement
Winebrenner Theological Seminary is required, by federal law, to provide students a summary of the penalties associated with violations of federal copyright laws. This information is found below. Further information, if desired may be found by visiting the website of the US Copyright Office at www.copyright.gov.

Summary of Civil and Criminal Penalties for Violation of Federal Copyright Laws. Copyright infringement is the act of exercising, without permission or legal authority, one or more of the exclusive rights granted to the copyright owner under section 106 of the Copyright Act (Title 17 of the United States Code). These rights include the right to reproduce or distribute a copyrighted work. In the filesharing context, downloading or uploading substantial parts of a copyrighted work without authority constitutes an infringement. Penalties for copyright infringement include civil and criminal penalties. In general, anyone found liable for civil copyright infringement may be ordered to pay either actual damages or "statutory" damages affixed at not less than $750 and not more than $30,000 per work infringed. For "willful" infringement, a court may award up to $150,000 per work infringed. A court can, in its discretion, also assess costs and attorneys' fees. For details, see Title 17, United States Code, Sections 504, 505. Willful copyright infringement can also result in criminal penalties, including imprisonment of up to five years and fines of up to $250,000 per offense. Complaint, Grievance, and Grade Dispute Process
Students enrolled in a Winebrenner Theological Seminary course who have a complaint about a course or experience should follow these procedures. (See the Title IX section of this Catalog for complaints or grievances regarding discrimination and harassment on the basis of sex.)

Contact your Advisor if you have a concern, grievance, or complaint about a course or instructor. (Note the section for Grade Disputes below.) If your Advisor does not adequately assist with your complaint or is part of your complaint, please contact the Chief Academic Officer. If the CAO does not adequately assist you, or is part of your complaint, contact the Executive Director or the President of the Seminary. If the Executive Director or the President of the Seminary do not adequately assist you, or if either are part of the complaint, contact the Chair of the Board of Trustees. Students are also encouraged to send email a complaint or grievance to complaints@winebrenner.edu. (Please note that this email should not be used for grade disputes or Title IX complaints regarding discrimnination and harassment on the basis of sex.)

Grade Dispute
When a student wishes to dispute a grade assigned in a course, the student should contact the Chief Academic Officer. This appeal process must be started within three weeks of the grade in dispute being posted. The student's Program Advisor or Director (or, in the event the Program Director or Advisor is involved in the dispute, a suitable faculty substitute as chosen by the CAO), as well as the CAO, and/or the Executive Director, and/or the President of the Seminary shall serve as a Committee of Arbitration to interview the student, and, in a separate interview, the instructor. This process must never become adversarial. The Committee of Arbitration's decision shall be final. The process will be completed within 90 days from the end of the trimester.

Student complaints that cannot be resolved through the above Catalog process may follow the procedures outlined below in the SARA Complaint Process and/or the Accreditation Agency Complaint Process that follow.

SARA State Complaint Process
Students enrolled in a course that takes place outside Ohio in a SARA member state must first follow institutional policies for the resolution of complaints. If a student is not satisfied with the outcome of that process, a complaint involving allegations of dishonest or fraudulent activity, including the provision of false or misleading information, may be brought to the Ohio Department of Education (ODHE) via the Ohio SARA portal entity since Winebrenner is chartered in the state of Ohio. The SARA portal entity in the state where the student is located will be notified that the complaint was received and may assist as needed. Resolution of the complaint by the Ohio SARA portal entity is final.

Examples of types of student complaints that may be brought to a SARA portal entity include, but are not limited to, complaints regarding accuracy of job placement data, tuition or fee information, accreditation, whether a program meets professional licensing requirements, or course transfer information. Grade appeals and student conduct appeals are not allowed under SARA.

Accreditation Agency Complaint Process
Students with complaints that are not resolved at the institutional level may file complaints with the various agencies that accredit the institution and programs. Links to each accreditors' complaint process are provided on the Accreditation page of the website.

Course Locks
Students with any outstanding balance with the Business Office, parking fines, library fines, Dispositional Probation, or certain other serious issues will not be able to register, gain access to their course(s), or view a report of their grades in Populi if a Registration Lock, Course Lock, and/or Financial Lock is placed on their account. Instructors will not provide "workarounds" for students to access course information when a Lock has been placed on their Populi account. Viewing grades in person may be arranged by appointment with the Chief Academic Officer although a copy will not be issued (see Student's Right of Access), a diploma will not be bestowed, and a transcript or recommendation may not be requested until all obligations are met.

Informed Consent
All Winebrenner faculty members are dedicated to the educational, personal, spiritual, and professional growth and development of Winebrenner students. Faculty are in a unique position as both instructors who assess students' academic skills and also as members of the counseling profession and/or licensed or ordained clergy, each with ethical obligations to the student body, the seminary, the state, and to Christ and his church. All students are cautioned that Winebrenner courses are not meant to provide personal therapy; the focus is on spiritual formation, self-awareness, growth of the whole person, as well as the enhancement and growth of necessary counselor and ministry knowledge and skills. Should a student disclose information indicating impairment or the potential for harm to themselves, future clients, and/or others (including animals), the faculty member may take appropriate action in accordance with the state laws and any applicable codes of ethics. It is each student's responsibility to determine an appropriate level of self-disclosure balanced with reactions in all experiential learning activities. All students are encouraged to read the more in-depth Informed Consent Statement located in the MACC section of this Graduate Catalog.

Title IX Policy

I. Scope of Policy

The Winebrenner Theological Seminary is committed to providing a safe learning and working environment free from discrimination and harassment on the basis of sex. Sex discrimination, sexual harassment, and other forms of sexual misconduct are collectively referred to as "Prohibited Conduct" and are defined in more detail below.

This Policy applies to all forms of Prohibited Conduct that occur in relation to the Seminary 's education program or activities which includes locations, events, or circumstances over which the school exercises substantial control over both a respondent and the context in which the conduct occurs. The Seminary maintains jurisdiction over Prohibited Conduct that occurs on campus, that occurs off-campus in the context of any Seminary programs or activities, or that occurs off-campus and has a continuing effect on campus or on any member of the Seminary community. The Policy applies to all students, staff members, faculty members, Board of Trustees members, guests, visitors, consultants, vendors, and other members of the Seminary Community. All Prohibited Conduct is handled according to this Policy regardless of the identities of the Complainant or Respondent.

When informed of Prohibited Conduct as defined by this Policy, the Seminary will take prompt action in accordance with this Policy to eliminate the harassment or discrimination, prevent its recurrence, and address its effects.

II. Title IX Coordinator

While this Policy concerns discrimination on the basis of sex, gender, gender identity, and sexual orientation, a complete Notice of Non-Discrimination regarding all protected traits can be found on the Seminary's website. The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the Seminary's Title IX Policy:

Tom Weaver
Director of Finance and Title IX Coordinator
Winebrenner Theological Seminary
950 N. Main Street
Findlay, Ohio 45840
Telephone: (419) 434-4224
Email: tweaver@winebrenner.edu

III. Prohibited Conduct Under This Policy

This Policy prohibits sex/gender discrimination; sex/gender harassment; sexual harassment; non-consensual sexual intercourse; non-consensual sexual contact; sexual exploitation; dating violence and domestic violence (together referred to as "intimate partner violence"); stalking; and retaliation. Together, these are referred to as Prohibited Conduct.

A. Sex/Gender Discrimination

Sex/Gender Discrimination is when an individual is, on the basis of sex/gender:

- treated differently in determining whether such person satisfies any requirement or condition for the provision of any aid, benefit, or service;
- provided different aid, benefits, or services;
- provided aid, benefits, or services in a different manner;
- denied any aid, benefit, or service;
- subjected to separate or different rules of behavior, sanctions, or other treatment;
- treated differently concerning the domicile or residence of a student or applicant, including eligibility for in-state fees and tuition;
- discriminated against by providing significant assistance to any agency, organization, or person which discriminates on the basis of sex/gender in providing any aid, benefit, or service to students or employees;
- otherwise limited in the enjoyment of any right, privilege, advantage, or opportunity with regards to aid, benefits, or services; or
- treated differently with regard to terms, conditions, or benefits of employment, or in the recruitment, consideration, or selection therefor.

Discrimination on the basis of sex/gender in employment is permissible in situations where sex/gender is a bona fide occupational qualification reasonably necessary to the normal operation of the Seminary.

Examples of conduct that may form the basis of a Sex/Gender Discrimination complaint include, but are not limited to:

- offering higher academic grades to students of a particular sex/gender;
- silencing students of a particular sex/gender in classroom discussion;
- referring to members of a particular sex by a derogatory name related to their sex.

Note that the federal regulations regarding Title IX include certain exceptions, such as single-sex housing, athletic participation, and chorus participation, that do not constitute Sex/Gender Discrimination. These limited permissible exceptions, found in Title 34 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Part 106, will be considered when determining whether Prohibited Conduct occurred under this Policy.

B. Sex/Gender Harassment

Sex/Gender Harassment is non-sexual harassment on the basis of one's sex/gender when:

- submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment or grade in a program, course, or activity;
- submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment or educational decisions affecting an individual; or

- such conduct is sufficiently pervasive, offensive, or abusive to have the purpose or reasonable effect of interfering with an individual's work or educational performance, or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment, under both an objective and subjective standard. A single incident may create a hostile environment if the incident is sufficiently severe.

The determination as to whether a hostile environment exists is based on the totality of the circumstances, including but not limited to:

- the nature and severity of the conduct;
- the type, frequency, and duration of the conduct;
- the identity of and relationship between the Respondent and the Complainant;
- the number of individuals involved;
- the age and maturity levels of the Respondent and Complainant; and
- the location of the conduct and the context in which it occurred.

C. Sexual Harassment

Sexual Harassment means conduct on the basis of sex that satisfies one or more of the following:

- A school employee conditioning education benefits on participation in unwelcome sexual conduct (i.e. quid pro quo); or
- Unwelcome conduct that a reasonable person would determine is so sever, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies a person equal access to the school's education program or activity; or
- Sexual assault (as defined in the Clery Act), dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking as defined in the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA).

The determination as to whether a hostile environment exists is based on the totality of the circumstances, including but not limited to:

- the nature and severity of the conduct;
- the type, frequency, and duration of the conduct;
- the identity of and relationship between the Respondent and the Complainant;
- the number of individuals involved;
- the age and maturity levels of the Respondent and Complainant; and
- the location of the conduct and the context in which it occurred.

Examples of conduct that may form the basis of a Sexual Harassment complaint include, but are not limited to:

- making sexual propositions or pressuring for sexual favors;
- touching of a sexual nature;
- writing graffiti of a sexual nature;
- displaying or distributing sexually explicit drawings, pictures, videos, or other materials;

- performing sexual gestures or touching oneself sexually in front of others;
- spreading sexual rumors or rating other students or employees as to sexual activity or performance;
- circulating or showing e-mails or websites of a sexual nature;
- direct or implied threats that submission to sexual advances is a condition of employment, promotion, good grades, recommendations, etc.;
- sexually explicit jokes or statements, questions, or remarks about sexual activity or experience;
- physical assault of a sexual nature.

D. Non-Consensual Sexual Intercourse

Non-Consensual Sexual Intercourse is either of the following:

- The penetration, no matter how slight, of the genitals, anus, or mouth of another person without that person's consent; or
- A sexual action taken to another person's breasts, genitals, anus, or mouth without that person's consent. Examples include but are not limited to: manual sex; oral sex; the touching of genitals to another's mouth; mammary intercourse; and tribadism.

E. Non-Consensual Sexual Contact

Non-Consensual Sexual Contact is the intentional touching of the intimate parts of another, causing another to touch one's intimate parts, or the disrobing or exposure of another individual's intimate parts, without the other person's consent. Sexual Contact may be over the clothes or skin-to-skin.

Intimate parts include the breasts, genitals, buttocks, groin, mouth, or any other part of the body touched in a sexual manner.

For the definition of "consent" and related definitions, see Section IV (Related Definitions), below.

F. Stalking

Stalking is a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to: A) fear for the person's safety or the safety of others; or B) suffer substantial emotional distress.
For purposes of the definition of Stalking under this Policy:

- A "course of conduct" means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about a person, or interferes with a person's property.

- A "reasonable person" means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the victim.
- "Substantial emotional distress" means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

G. Intimate Partner Violence

Intimate Partner Violence is domestic violence and/or dating violence. Violence includes physical violence, sexual violence, and the threat of physical and/or sexual violence.

Domestic violence is violence that is committed against: a current or former spouse or intimate partner; a person with whom the Respondent shares a child in common; or a family member, roommate, or household member.

Dating violence is violence committed against a person with whom the Respondent is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature. The existence of such a relationship will be determined based on the Complainant's statement and with consideration of the length of the relationship, the type of relationship, and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship.

H. Sexual Exploitation

Sexual Exploitation is taking advantage of another's sexuality in a non-consensual manner. Examples of Sexual Exploitation include, but are not limited to:

- the non-consensual viewing of nudity of another;
- the non-consensual streaming of images of sexual activity;
- the non-consensual sharing or posting of nude images of another;
- the non-consensual recording of individuals in locations in which they have a reasonable expectation of privacy (such as restrooms or locker rooms) even if the images do not capture nudity;
- intentionally exposing one's genitals to another person in non-consensual circumstances;
- knowingly exposing another to a sexually transmitted disease under circumstances that could reasonably lead to transmission of the disease; and
- inducing incapacitation of another via drugs and/or alcohol for purposes of making that person vulnerable to non-consensual sexual conduct or non-consensual sexual contact.

I. Retaliation

Retaliation against any individual for exercising Title IX rights is expressly prohibited.

The Seminary and no person may intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by Title IX, or because the individual has made a report or complaint, testified, assisted, or participated or refused to participate in any manner in a Title IX investigation, proceeding, or hearing.

Charges against an individual for code of conduct violations that do not involve sex discrimination or sexual harassment but arise out of the same facts or circumstances as a report or complaint of sex discrimination, or a report or formal complaint of sexual harassment, for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by Title IX, constitutes retaliation.

The Seminary must keep confidential the identity of the complainants, respondents, and witnesses, except as may be permitted by FERPA, or as required by law, or as necessary to carry out a Title IX proceeding.

Complaints alleging retaliation may be filed according to the grievance procedures for sex discrimination.

The exercise of rights protected under the First Amendment does not constitute retaliation.

Charging an individual with a code of conduct violation for making a materially false statement in bad faith in the course of a grievance proceeding under this part does not constitute retaliation; provided, however, that a determination regarding responsibility, alone, is not sufficient to conclude that any party made a bad faith materially false statement.

IV. Related Definitions

A. Consent

Consent is a knowing, voluntary, and affirmatively communicated willingness to participate in a particular sexual activity or behavior. It must be given by a person who has the ability and capacity to exercise free will and make a rational, reasonable judgment. Consent may be expressed either by words or actions, as long as those words or actions create a mutually understandable permission regarding the conditions of sexual activity. It is the responsibility of the person who initiates the sexual activity to ensure that consent is obtained from the other person or persons involved in the sexual activity before the activity occurs. If consent of one participant is unclear at any time, it is the responsibility of the other participant(s) to ensure that consent is present before beginning or continuing the activity.

Additional considerations include:

- Lack of protest or resistance is not consent. Nor may silence or inaction, in and of itself, be interpreted as consent.
- Previously consensual sexual activity does not imply consent to future sexual activity.
- Consent must be obtained for every sexual activity. Consent to one form of sexual activity does not constitute consent to all forms of sexual activity.
- To give consent, one must be of legal age. Under Ohio law, individuals under the age of 13 cannot give consent. Individuals at least 13 years of age but under the age of 16 cannot give consent to individuals that are 18 or older.

- Consent must be present throughout sexual activity and may be withdrawn at any time. If there is confusion as to whether there is consent or whether prior consent has been withdrawn, it is essential that the participants stop the activity until consent is reestablished.
- Consent cannot be obtained by the use of physical force, threats of physical force, physically intimidating behavior, or coercion.
- Consent cannot be given by an individual that is incapacitated.

B. Coercion

Coercion is unreasonable pressure for sexual activity that significantly compromises the voluntary nature of an individual's participation. Examples of coercion include but are not limited to threatening to harm oneself if the other person does not engage in sexual activity or threatening to blackmail an individual if they do not engage in sexual activity.

C. Incapacitation

Incapacitation is a state in which an individual's decision-making ability is impaired to the point that the individual is unable to understand the nature or consequences of their actions. Incapacitation may result from:

- Sleep or unconsciousness.
- Temporary or permanent mental or physical disability.
- The influence of alcohol, drugs, medication, or a combination of any of these substances.

Incapacitation is more than mere intoxication. An individual is incapacitated if they cannot understand the "who, what, where, when, and how" of the sexual activity.

In circumstances involving an incapacitated Complainant who otherwise appears to have consented, the Respondent will not be held responsible for not obtaining consent unless the Respondent knew or reasonably should have known that the Complainant was incapacitated. The relevant standard is whether a sober, reasonable person in the same position should have known that the Complainant was incapacitated. For purposes of an incapacitation analysis, it is irrelevant whether the Respondent was incapacitated.

V. How To Address Prohibited Conduct: Options and Resources

If you or someone you know has experienced Prohibited Conduct, the first concerns to be addressed should be to make sure the individual is safe and has access to medical care if needed. UF Campus Safety (419-434-4799) can provide a safety transport and assist in obtaining emergency medical assistance. Emergency assistance can also be accessed by dialing 911.

Once the individual is safe, there are three primary considerations that should be addressed:

1. The individual should consider whether they want to access resources, either on campus or off campus, to get assistance. Emergency medical assistance can be reached by dialing 911 or contacting UF Campus Safety at (419) 434-4799.
2. Evidence should be preserved so that it is available if needed for purposes of a Seminary investigation and/or a criminal investigation.
3. The individual should consider whether to make a report to the Seminary, to law enforcement, both, or neither. Note that employees of the Seminary, unless they have been designated as "Confidential Resources" according to this Policy, are required to report all Prohibited Conduct to the Title IX Coordinator as soon as possible after learning of the incident.

A. Resources To Assist

Individuals who experience Prohibited Conduct may wish to access resources to assist with their personal needs following an incident. There are two primary types of resources: confidential resources and other resources which are not confidential.

1. Confidential Resources

Confidential Resources are not obligated to report Prohibited Conduct to the Seminary. They are also not required to report potential criminal behavior to law enforcement except in certain very limited situations required by the Ohio Revised Code. Confidential Resources include:

On-Campus Confidential Resources
- University of Findlay Counseling Services, 307 Frazer Street, (419) 434-4526, provides professional, confidential counseling, advocacy, guidance, and assistance in understanding options, rights, and outcomes with regard to both the Seminary and criminal processes.
- Cosiano Health Center, 120 West Foulke, (419) 434-4550, provides medical assistance, including sexual assault response assistance, to students.
- UF Campus Ministry Counseling, 1049 N. Main Street, (419) 434-5624, provides confidential consultation with clergy.

Off-Campus Confidential Resources
- Blanchard Valley Hospital, 1900 S. Main Street, (419) 423-4500, offers on-site Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner services through the Emergency Department.
- Open Arms Domestic Violence & Rape Crisis Services 24 Hour Hotline, (419) 422-4766, www.openarmsfindlay.com, can assist with emergency shelter, rape crisis, victim advocacy, and obtaining a Civil Protection Order
- National Sexual Assault Hotline, 1 (800) 656-HOPE (4673), www.rainn.org.
- National Domestic Violence Hotline, 1 (800) 799-SAFE (7233), www.ndvh.org.
- National Teen Dating Abuse Helpline, 1 (866) 331-9474, www.loveisrespect.org.
- Ohio Sexual Violence Helpline, 1 (844) OHIOHELP (1-844-644-6435), www.oaesv.org.

- Buckeye Region Anti Violence Organization (BRAVO), (866) 862-7286, www.bravo-ohio.org, focuses on assisting the LGBTQI community.
- ASHA-Ray of Hope 24-Hour Helpline, (614) 565-2918, asharayofhope.org, focuses on assisting individuals from South Asia.
- Ohio Hispanic Coalition Domestic Violence 24 Hour Hotline, (614) 746-3534 (Spanish and English), ohiohispaniccoalition.org/programs/safety/.
- Legal Aid of Western Ohio, 1800 North Blanchard Street, (888) 534-1432, provides legal assistance to low-income residents.
- Medical personnel, psychologists, counselors, social workers, therapists, attorneys, rape crisis counselors, and clergy members. Clinical Counseling faculty act first as a faculty member with a duty to report when Title IX issues involving the Seminary are brought to their attention.

Note that there are limits to a Confidential Resource's ability to maintain confidentiality. Confidential Resources are required to report child abuse or neglect to Children's Services or local law enforcement. Medical professionals may also have certain legally mandated reporting responsibilities in certain serious cases, although depending on state law, the reporting requirement may only require that the professional share the date, general time, and general location of the incident. Mental health professionals are required to disclose information where there is an imminent threat of harm to self or others. Finally, pursuant to the Clery Act, anonymous statistical information for certain offenses that have been reported as occurring at campus locations must be shared with UF Campus Safety. The information does not include the names or any other identifying information about the persons involved in such incidents.

In some cases, an individual may not need services through a Confidential Resource immediately following the Prohibited Conduct. However, as time passes, it may be helpful to seek such assistance. Counselors found on-campus at the Counseling Center, advocates at Open Arms, and other service providers listed in this Policy can provide assistance and/or treatment in dealing with physical and emotional concerns as they may arise.

2. Other Resources

Other resources may also provide helpful support in many ways, including assisting individuals with obtaining accommodations or interim protective measures, explaining their options, and connecting them with other appropriate resources. Friends and loved ones may also be important sources of emotional support.

Seminary resources that are not Confidential Resources are expected to handle information in a manner that respects the privacy of those involved in the situation, sharing information only as necessary. However, all employees of the Seminary who are not listed as confidential resources, above, are required to report allegations of Prohibited Conduct to the Title IX Coordinator.

Note that under Ohio law, all individuals (except for those Confidential Resources listed above) have the obligation to report felonies to law enforcement. More information on involvement with law enforcement can be found below.

The primary non-confidential resource for all concerns regarding Prohibited Conduct is the Title IX Coordinator, who can be reached via email at tweaver@winebrenner.edu or by calling (419) 434-4224. In addition to providing information about this Policy, the Title IX Coordinator can provide information on existing counseling, health, mental health, victim advocacy, legal assistance, visa and immigration assistance, student financial aid issues, and other services available for individuals as appropriate, regardless of where the Prohibited Conduct occurred. The Title IX Coordinator can also provide assistance in making changes to academic, working, transportation, and living situations; instituting a no-contact order; and instituting other protective measures as may be appropriate. Although the Title IX Coordinator is obligated to report felonies to law enforcement, it is not required that an individual disclose the nature of the Prohibited Conduct to the Title IX Coordinator in order to discuss resources that may be available.

In addition to the Title IX Coordinator, other non-confidential resources include:

- Chief Academic Officer, 2nd Floor Winebrenner (419) 434-4220.
- Any Winebrenner Theological Seminary employee (aside from those designated as confidential resources, above).
- Campus Security/Police Office, 1st Floor Lovett Hall, (419) 434-4799.
- Findlay Police, 319 Dorney Plaza, Room 116, 911 or (419) 424-7150.
- Hancock County Sheriff, 200 West Crawford Street, (419) 424-7097.
- Hancock County Prosecutor's Office, (419) 424-7089.
- Hancock County Domestic Relations Court, 300 S. Main Street, (419) 424-7818.
- Hancock County Clerk of Court's Office, (419) 424-7037 – Can provide forms for filing a Civil Protective Order.
- Hancock County Law Library, (419) 424-7077 – Can provide names of local attorneys and their specific practice areas.

B. Preserving Evidence

If an incident of Prohibited Conduct occurs, it is important to preserve evidence so that if the individual later chooses to file a Title IX complaint, to pursue criminal charges, or both, the evidence is able to be used for purposes of the investigation.

1. Sexual Assault Nurse Examinations

Individuals who have experienced sexual assault may choose to seek a medical evaluation by a sexual assault nurse examiner to collect and preserve evidence. Sexual assault nurse examiners (SANEs) are specially trained professionals who will provide needed care, document the details of the assault, and collect evidence. The nurse can provide treatment for sexually transmitted infections and pregnancy prevention if needed. The individual can have a friend, family member, or crisis counselor present during physical examination.

Evidence collection may occur up to 96 hours after the assault and occurs only with the consent of the victim. The evaluation includes evidence collection, a physical examination, treatment, and/or counseling. The individual may opt out of any part of this evaluation at their own discretion. These evaluations can be obtained through the Blanchard Valley Hospital Emergency Center, and they are free regardless of whether the individual chooses to pursue criminal charges. More information can be found on their website at:

http://www.bvhealthsystem.org/services/emergency/sexual-assault-services.

If possible, to prepare for such an evaluation, the individual should not change clothes, bathe, douche, or brush their teeth until the evidence has been collected. New undergarments and sweat suits are available to victims at on-campus and off-campus service providers.

It is highly recommended that individuals have a follow-up visit with a healthcare provider within two weeks of the assault. At this visit, the individual will receive follow-up testing, receive treatment if needed, and discuss the recovery process. Additional visits, if necessary, may be recommended by the healthcare provider.

2. Other Evidence Collection

Other physical evidence, such as bedsheets or condom wrappers, may also be important to preserve in case the individual wishes to pursue an investigation. The Title IX Coordinator can facilitate the collection of this evidence through UF Campus Safety.

Individuals are encouraged to preserve all potentially relevant text messages, emails, voicemails, photographs, videos, social media posts, private messages, letters, and other forms of communication. Assistance with preserving this information can be obtained through the Title IX Coordinator, UF Campus Safety, or Information Technology Services.

C. Filing a Report

The Seminary encourages all individuals who may have experienced Prohibited Conduct to report the incident(s) to the Seminary; any individual who is alleged to be the victim is hereafter referred to as the 'complainant.' The Seminary must respond promptly to any report in a manner that is not deliberately indifferent, which means in a way that is not clearly unreasonable in light of the known circumstances. In addition, the Seminary encourages individuals who may have experienced potentially criminal behavior to report the incident(s) to local law enforcement. However, an individual may choose whether to make a report to the Seminary, to law enforcement, both (at the same time or one after the other), or neither.

A "formal complaint" is a document filed by a complainant or signed by the Title IX Coordinator alleging Prohibited Conduct against a respondent (the respondent is the individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of the Prohibited Conduct) and requesting that the Seminary investigate the allegation. In response to a formal complaint, the Seminary must follow a grievance process. With or without a formal complaint, the Seminary must comply with the mandatory response outlined as follows:

The Seminary's mandatory response must include:
- Offering supportive measures to the complainant (i.e. the person alleged to be the victim) with the purpose being equal access to education.
- The Title IX Coordinator promptly contacting the complainant to discuss the availability of supportive measures, consider the complainant's wishes with respect to supportive measures, inform the complainant of the availability of supportive measures with or without the filing of a formal complaint, and explain to the complainant the process for filing a formal complaint.
- Following a grievance process that complies with the Final Rule before the imposition of any disciplinary sanctions or other actions that are not supportive measures against the respondent.
- Must not restrict rights protected under the US Constitution, including the First Amendment, Fifth Amendment, and Fourteenth Amendment, as a way of responding in a non-deliberately indifferent manner.

The Seminary will cooperate with investigations by law enforcement and may, at the request of law enforcement, briefly delay any concurrent investigation by the Seminary. However, the Seminary uses this and other policies to determine what constitutes misconduct, rather than Ohio criminal laws, and therefore does not defer to law enforcement's findings in lieu of administering this Policy.

1. Title IX Coordinator

All individuals are encouraged to report Prohibited Conduct to the Title IX Coordinator, and all Seminary employees (except confidential resources) are required to report Prohibited Conduct to the Title IX Coordinator. Such reports may be made via email at tweaver@winebrenner.edu or by telephone at (419) 434-4224.

2. Law Enforcement

All individuals are encouraged to report criminal conduct to UF Campus Safety at (419) 434-4799. UF Campus Safety can connect individuals to the appropriate local law enforcement agency to file a police report, and can assist with securing the scene, providing safety transports, and preserving evidence if needed. Reporting to law enforcement does not require an individual to pursue criminal charges.

Anonymous reporting of crimes is available through UF Campus Safety's Silent Victim/Witness Program online at https://www.findlay.edu/offices/student-affairs/safety-security/silent-victim-witness-program. Note that providing information anonymously may impede the Seminary's ability to respond to and investigate the reported incident(s).

VI. The Seminary's Grievance Process for Resolving Complaints of Prohibited Conduct

If Prohibited Conduct is reported to the Seminary through a non-confidential resource, the Title IX Coordinator will attempt to contact the reporter to review this Policy and discuss the privacy of the process, amnesty (if appropriate), accommodations, interim measures of protection, options for informal resolution (if appropriate), and the investigation and adjudication process for formal complaints.

For purposes of the Seminary's process, the subject of the Prohibited Conduct is referred to as the Complainant, and the alleged perpetrator of the Prohibited Conduct is referred to as the Respondent. The Complainant may or may not be the reporter of the Prohibited Conduct. Both the Complainant and the Respondent are referred to as the parties for purposes of this process. In certain circumstances, the Seminary may serve as the Complainant in a formal complaint.

Each party has the right to bring an advisor of their choosing to any meetings or discussions relating to the formal resolution process, except that the advisor may not be a witness or otherwise have a conflicting role in the process. The advisor may advise the party directly clarifying questions, and provide support to the party, but may not speak for the party or disrupt the investigation meeting.

Under this process, any of the Title IX Coordinator's duties may be performed by and discretion may be exercised by a designee.

A. Privacy of the Process

The Seminary recognizes that Prohibited Conduct is a sensitive subject for all individuals involved in the underlying incident(s) as well as the process to resolve such incidents. The Seminary is committed to maintaining the privacy of the parties involved to the fullest extent possible, and information regarding Prohibited Conduct is maintained in a secure manner and is only shared with individuals who have a need to know.

Complainants sometimes ask that their name not be disclosed to the Respondent or that no investigation or disciplinary action be pursued to address the Prohibited Conduct. In such situations, honoring the request may limit the Seminary's ability to respond fully to the incident, including investigating and pursuing disciplinary action against the Respondent as appropriate. Complainants worried about such disclosure should remember that the Seminary strongly prohibits retaliation against those reporting Prohibited Conduct and that it will work with the Complainant to take steps to prevent retaliation.

Although the Seminary tries to honor such requests, there are situations in which the Seminary must override such requests for confidentiality in order to meet its obligations under Title IX to provide a safe and nondiscriminatory environment. To determine whether it is necessary to pursue action despite a Complainant's request for anonymity or no action, the Seminary will consider relevant factors such as the following:
- whether there are circumstances that suggest there is an increased risk of the Respondent committing additional acts of sexual violence or other violence;
- whether there have been other sexual violence complaints about the same Respondent; whether the Respondent has a history of arrests or records from a prior institution indicating a history of violence;
- whether the Respondent threatened further sexual violence or other violence against others;

- whether the sexual violence was committed by multiple Respondents;
- whether there are circumstances that suggest there is an increased risk of future acts of sexual violence under similar circumstances such as where a report reveals a pattern of perpetration;
- whether sexual violence was perpetrated with a weapon;
- the age of the Complainant subjected to the sexual violence;
- whether the Seminary possesses other means to obtain relevant evidence.

If the Seminary determines that it must disclose a Complainant's identity to Respondent despite a request for confidentiality, it will strive to inform the reporter prior to making this disclosure and consider whether any interim measures of protection are necessary to protect the Complainant. The Seminary will also inform the Respondent that it was the Seminary's decision, and not the Complainant's, to address the report.

Making an initial request for anonymity or no discipline does not preclude a Complainant from choosing to proceed with the process at a later date.

If a report discloses an immediate threat to the campus community, the Seminary may issue a Timely Warning of the conduct in the interest of the safety and well-being of the campus community. This warning will not contain personally identifying information about the Complainant.

B. Amnesty

The Seminary encourages any member of the campus community to report Prohibited Conduct. To encourage such reporting and the honesty of those participating in the process, the Seminary provides disciplinary amnesty for drug and alcohol violations to students who report an incident (as a Complainant or a witness) or otherwise participate in the Seminary's process in good faith. However, amnesty will not be provided to individuals for behavior that causes harm to another person or for the participation in or facilitation of violations of this Policy.

C. Interim Measures of Protection and Other Accommodations

The Title IX Coordinator has the authority to put in place interim measures of protection after a report is received and to facilitate other accommodations that may be needed under the circumstances. These interim measures and/or accommodations are typically instituted in consultation with one or both parties, depending on the situation. Examples of interim measures and other accommodations may include:
- no-contact orders;
- restrictions on behavior, movement on campus, access to buildings or spaces, and/or participation in campus activities;
- changes to academic, job assignment, extracurricular arrangements;
- academic accommodations (such as changes for assignment due dates or alternative course completion options);

- the provision of information regarding resources such as victim advocacy, housing assistance, academic support, counseling, disability services, health and mental health services, and legal assistance.

Interim suspension may also be instituted when, given the nature of the allegations, remaining on campus may be threatening or potentially injurious to the well-being or property of members of the Seminary community. Interim suspensions are not discipline in nature and are not reflected on a student's transcript. For employees, such suspensions may be with or without pay.

Note that interim measures and other accommodations are available for both parties and may also be available for others involved in the process if appropriate.

The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for determining appropriate interim measures and accommodations and will, when possible and appropriate, consult with appropriate supervisors or administrators. The Title IX Coordinator may alter interim measures and accommodations at any point during the process as they deem appropriate.

D. Informal Resolution

The Seminary may not require the parties (complainant and respondent) to participate in informal resolution and may not offer informal resolution unless a formal complaint is filed. Complaints may generally be resolved through an informal resolution process unless the Title IX Coordinator determines that informal resolution is inappropriate under the circumstances. Both parties must give voluntary, informed, written consent for informal resolution. This process involves informal consultation with both parties, either together or separately, to find an acceptable resolution for both parties without invoking the formal investigative process described below. The informal process may include counseling the Complainant on ways to address the Respondent directly regarding their behavior if the Complainant is comfortable doing so, counseling of the Respondent by the Title IX Coordinator or other appropriate administrator on appropriate behavior under this Policy, a facilitated discussion between the parties, a mediated agreement between the parties, or any other informal process that is appropriate under the circumstances. Both parties are permitted to bring one advisor of their choosing to any discussions as part of the informal resolution process.

At any time prior to agreeing to a resolution, any party has the right to withdraw from informal resolution and resume the grievance process with respect to the formal complaint.

The Seminary must not offer or facilitate an informal resolution process to resolve allegations that an employee sexually harassed a student.

E. Formal Resolution

Complainants may choose to pursue a formal resolution, or as discussed above, the Seminary may choose to move forward with the formal resolution process. The formal resolution process has three phases: initial assessment/charges, investigation/adjudication, and appeal.

1. Initial Assessment

Upon receiving a complaint for formal resolution, the Title IX Coordinator may conduct an initial assessment to evaluate whether the complaint alleges sufficient information to suggest that Prohibited Conduct may have occurred. This determination may be based on information submitted by the Complainant, as well as information gathered by the Title IX Coordinator during a preliminary investigation.

If the Title IX Coordinator determines that there is insufficient information to suggest that Prohibited Conduct may have occurred, they will notify the Complainant. The Complainant may submit additional information if desired. The process cannot move forward unless and until the Title IX Coordinator receives information sufficient to suggest that Prohibited Conduct may have occurred.

If the Title IX Coordinator determines that the complaint alleges sufficient information to suggest that Prohibited Conduct may have occurred, they will provide written notice to both parties of the charges that will be investigated. The charges may include violations of other Seminary policies where such charges are related to the Prohibited Conduct under investigation. In such cases, those policy violations will be addressed pursuant to this Policy and not the student conduct process.

In cases where a Respondent is unable to be identified after the initial assessment, the process will be suspended unless and until there is sufficient information to charge a Respondent.

2. Investigation/Adjudication

The Seminary may not require as a condition of enrollment or continuing enrollment, or employment or continuing employment, or enjoyment of any other right, waiver of the right to an investigation and adjudication of formal complaints.

The Seminary conducts a prompt, impartial, adequate, reliable, and thorough investigation of charges regarding Prohibited Conduct. Investigations will be carried out by an investigative team comprised of four trained individuals who do not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against either party. The investigative team will be comprised of two investigators, the Title IX Coordinator and one additional trained team member. The two investigators are assigned by the Title IX Coordinator and are required to keep information obtained in the investigation private except to the extent necessary to conduct the investigation or to protect the health or safety of the parties or others. In cases involving a large number of witnesses or other complex situations, additional trained, impartial investigators may be used to support the investigative team.

During an investigation, the Seminary cannot access, consider, disclose, or otherwise use a party's records that are made or maintained by a physician, psychiatrist, psychologist, or other recognized professional or paraprofessional acting in the professional's or paraprofessional's capacity, or assisting in that capacity, and which are made and maintained in connection with the provision of treatment to the party, unless the Seminary obtains that party's voluntary, written consent to do so.

Investigators are charged with conducting interviews of the parties and relevant witnesses who may have information relevant to the investigation (as determined by the investigators), reviewing relevant Seminary records, gathering other relevant information, and keeping the Title IX Coordinator updated on the progress of the investigation. Both parties will be provided the opportunity to suggest witnesses and present information to the investigators. Neither party is required to participate in the investigation, but failure to participate may deprive the investigators of potentially helpful information.

During the course of the investigation, the investigative team may propose additional charges for the investigation, as they deem appropriate. Both parties must be provided with written notice and an opportunity to respond to such additional charges.

When the investigators believe that they have gathered all relevant information, the investigative team will prepare a written Statement of Evidence that explains the evidence gathered during the course of the investigation and identifies the disputed and undisputed relevant facts of the case. Both parties will be provided the Statement of Evidence simultaneously and will be provided three business days to review the Statement of Evidence. Within those three business days, each party may submit additional evidence, submit the names of additional witnesses including what relevant evidence each may possess (if known), submit a written rebuttal, and/or request a final interview. The investigative team will review all new evidence and conduct relevant follow-up investigation as they determine is appropriate.

At the conclusion of the investigation, the investigative team will revise the Statement of Evidence if appropriate and make a Final Determination as to whether there is sufficient evidence as to whether a policy violation occurred regarding each charge. Such determinations will be made using a preponderance of the evidence standard. This means that investigative team will determine whether it is more likely than not that a violation of Seminary policy occurred. If the investigative team members cannot agree as to the determination for a particular charge, no violation will be found because the preponderance of evidence standard has not been met. The Final Determination will be provided simultaneously in writing to both parties and will contain the revised Statement of Evidence, the determination of responsibility for each charge, the rationale for the result, and appeal rights (see below).

If any of the charges are substantiated, the Final Determination will also include sanctions against the Respondent. All sanctions are determined fairly and impartially and, on a case-by-case basis. In determining the sanctions, the investigative team may consult with the Title IX Coordinator, the Chief Academic Officer, the President, or other Seminary administrators or supervisors, as they deem appropriate in the situation.

Sanctions may include, as appropriate:

- educational training
- drug/alcohol assessment
- mandatory counseling
- community/campus service

- revocation of scholarships, honors, or awards
- schedule changes or restrictions
- job/duty reassignment
- no contact orders
- no trespass orders
- suspension (for employees, this may be with or without pay)
- behavioral restrictions
- restrictions on access to certain facilities or activities
- for student organizations, revocation of recognition by the Seminary, loss of funding, and/or loss of other privileges
- written warning
- disciplinary probation
- dismissal/termination

The Seminary strives to complete all investigations/adjudications within sixty days after receiving the complaint. However, factors may delay the completion of investigations within this timeframe, including the parties' participation in an informal resolution process, the Seminary's cooperation with a concurrent criminal investigation, the complexity of the investigation, the severity and extent of the alleged conduct, witness availability, the time necessary to receive requested medical records, and the number of witnesses. The Title IX Coordinator can extend the sixty-day period for good cause with written notice to the parties of the delay and the reason for the extension of time.

The investigative team's written decision will go into effect immediately unless the Title IX Coordinator determines, in their discretion, that a temporary stay of sanctions is appropriate pending an appeal due to extraordinary circumstances. The Title IX Coordinator may add, remove, or change the protective measures that apply after a decision is rendered.

3. Hearing

As a postsecondary institution, the Seminary is required to conduct a live hearing with cross-examination. In most instances, the Seminary will find an appropriate, impartial, third-party decision-maker to conduct the live hearing. When a third-party decision-maker is not used, the Title IX Coordinator may serve as the decision-maker. Each of the following applies to the live hearing:

- Live hearing may be conducted with all parties physically present in the same geographic location or, at the Seminary's discretion, any or all parties, witnesses, and other participants may appear at the live hearing virtually, with technology enabling participants to simultaneously to see and hear each other.
- At the request of either party, the Seminary must provide for the live hearing to occur with the parties located in separate rooms with technology enabling the decision-maker(s) and parties to simultaneously see and hear the party answering questions.
- If a party does not have an advisor present at the live hearing, the Seminary must provide without fee or charge to that party, an advisor of the Seminary's choice, who may be, but is not required to be, an attorney, to conduct cross-examination on behalf of that party.

- At the live hearing, the decision-maker(s) must permit each party's advisor to ask the other party and any witnesses all relevant questions and follow-up questions, including those challenging credibility.
- Such cross-examination at the live hearing must be conducted directly, orally, and in real time by the party's advisor of choice and never by a party personally.
- Only relevant cross-examination and other questions may be asked of a party or witness. Before a complainant, respondent, or witness answers a cross-examination of other question, the decision-maker must first determine whether the question is relevant and explain any decision to exclude a question as not relevant.
- Questions and evidence about the complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant, unless such questions and evidence about the complainant's prior sexual behavior are offered to prove that someone other than the respondent committed the conduct alleged by the complainant, or if the questions and evidence concern specific incidents of the complainant's prior sexual behavior with respect to the respondent and are offered to prove consent.
- If a party or witness does not submit to cross-examination at the live hearing, the decision-maker(s) must rely on any statement of that party or witness in reaching a determination regarding responsibility; provided, however, that the decision-maker(s) cannot draw an inference about determination regarding responsibility based solely on a party's or witness's absence from the live hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions.
- The Seminary must create an audio or audiovisual recording, or transcript, of any live hearing and make it available to the parties for inspection and review.

The standard of evidence to be used to determine responsibility is the preponderance of the evidence standard. This standard will apply for formal complaints against students and for formal complaints against employees, including faculty.

4. Appeals

Either party may request an appeal of the investigative team's decision by submitting a written notice of appeal to the Title IX Coordinator within five (5) business days from the date of the written decision. The written notice of appeal must outline the reasons for the appeal, must provide any evidence or arguments in support of such appeal, and must be based on one or more of the following:

- procedural irregularity that affected the outcome of the matter;
- new evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal was made, that could affect the outcome of the matter; and/or
- the Title IX Coordinator, investigator, or decision-maker had a conflict of interest or bias that affected the outcome of the matter.

If the appeal is not grounded in one of the above factors, the Title IX Coordinator may reject the appeal with written notice to the appealing party. The party may then submit a revised written notice of appeal within the original timeline.

Upon receipt of the appeal letter, the Title IX Coordinator will forward the appeal letter, along with the final decision, to the non-appealing party, who will be provided with three business days within which to respond to the appeal. No further reply will be permitted. The Title IX Coordinator will forward the appeal, the response, the Statement of Evidence, the final decision, and any other relevant information to a trained and impartial appeals officer. The appeals officer will be:

The Seminary President

The Title IX Coordinator may, in their discretion, designate another member of the Seminary President's Council to hear an appeal.

The appeals officer will be permitted to ask questions of the Title IX Coordinator and investigator, but is not permitted to speak with parties, advisors, or other witnesses about the case. Within ten (10) business days of receiving the appeal from the Title IX Coordinator, the appeals officer may:

- affirm the decision;
- reverse the determination as to charge(s) and remove or add sanctions as appropriate;
- affirm the determination as to charge(s) but revise the sanctions; or
- request that additional steps to be taken.

The appeals officer will issue their written decision simultaneously to both parties and include the rationale for the decision. The decision of the appeals officer will be final.

Student Success

Academic and Personal Advising
Academic advising is coordinated and provided by the Chief Academic Officer. Students should contact the CAO to clarify academic advising questions.

Each student is assigned an Advisor. The establishment of an open, professional relationship with an Advisor is a valuable asset in the pursuit of an education. The Advisor is available to assist students in general academic and spiritual concerns and with issues of personal growth and development.

At times a student may find his or her abilities challenged or pushed to new limits and will need to seek advice, tutorial assistance, and/or editing help. Assistance is offered to students by the Chief Academic Officer. Students are encouraged to seek assistance on their own but may also be referred by instructors. The Chief Academic Officer may initiate contact with students if academic "flags," academic audits, or degree audits indicate a potential need to offer assistance.

Faculty Office Hours
Faculty members (full-time and adjunct) desire to be available to students for assistance, guidance, and dialogue. Syllabi list faculty members' availability, typically online, by email, and/or by phone.

Counseling Guidelines
There are times when clinical counseling may be needed during a Seminary education. Counseling is most effective when the counseling style meets the needs of the person being counseled. Therefore, while the faculty or staff may make recommendations for counseling, it is best when students find the counseling that is right for them. Any recommendations made by Seminary personnel are suggestions only and carry no guarantee of success.

Some counseling services through UF Counseling Services Center may be available at little to no cost for local students and for students residing in the state of Ohio due to insurance and licensing requirements. Most UF Counseling carries some kind of cost which must be covered by the student or the student's insurance.

Options for some form of online or telephone-based counseling is available for students who are not located near the Findlay, Ohio campus and/or not residing in Ohio. At the time of this writing, these digitally-based counseling services can be accessed through the UF Counseling Services (419-434-4526 and counselingservices@findlay.edu), with the cost covered by the student.

Other online or telephone-based counseling services are available with billing handled directly between the counselor and student. (Note: Winebrenner's Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling department does not provide clinical counseling for Winebrenner students.)

Drug/Alcohol Prevention Program Guidelines
Winebrenner recognizes that the possession, use, cultivation, or distribution of central nervous system stimulants and depressants, narcotics, and hallucinogenic drugs is incompatible with state and federal law and with the mission of the Seminary. Considerable medical evidence informs us that the use of drugs of this kind, except under medical supervision, may induce physical and emotional dependence on their use and that such use may be dangerously harmful to the student user and may seriously jeopardize the student's performance in Seminary and in ministry.

Considering these facts, Winebrenner will not permit the unlawful possession, use, cultivation, or distribution of marijuana, narcotics, barbiturates, amphetamines, prescription drugs, hallucinogenic drugs, and/or any other illegal substances, either on-campus or at any Seminary-sponsored activity off-campus. Likewise, the use or possession of alcoholic beverages is also prohibited at any on-campus or at any Seminary-sponsored activity off-campus. Violators of this policy will be subject to dismissal from the Seminary.

The complete Drug/Alcohol Prevention Program Guidelines may be obtained through the Active Student Group in Populi: Home > Groups > Active Students; listed under Files in the left-hand column.

Weapons
The possession, manufacture, transfer, sale, or use of weapons by anyone on UF property, which includes transporting or storage within personal vehicles, at any school-sponsored event, without the written authorization of the UF Office of Campus Safety and Security, is expressly prohibited. Likewise, the possession, manufacture, transfer, sale, or use of weapons is prohibited while conducting Winebrenner or UF business, whether or not on UF property, or at a Winebrenner- or UF-sponsored event. This prohibition exists whether or not a federal or state license to possess a weapon has been issued to the possessor.

Weapons are defined as any device or substance that is designed, used, or likely to be used to cause bodily harm or property damage. Included are firearms, which are defined as any gun, rifle, pistol, handgun, or device designed to fire bullets, BBs, pellets, or shots (including paint balls), or other projectiles, regardless of the propellant used. Other weapons include but are not limited to Taser/stun guns, knives with fixed blades, switchblades, spring-loaded knives, pocket knives with blades longer than 3½ inches, kitchen utensils not used for their intended purpose, martial arts weapons, bows and arrows of any type, swords, brass knuckles, slingshots, explosives, or incendiary devices including fireworks.

This prohibition includes other items deemed to be dangerous by the UF Office of Campus Safety and Security, including, but not limited to, hazardous chemical or biological material of any sort, displays, or collections of weapons, ornamental weapons, and ornamental ammunition. Prohibited items are subject to the immediate removal of the weapon from Winebrenner or UF property or at the Winebrenner- or UF-sponsored event.

Any member of the Winebrenner/UF community who observes an individual possessing, manufacturing, transferring, selling, or using a weapon and who reasonably believes that the individual is doing so without the consent of the UF Office of Campus Safety and Security should immediately report this to personnel of that Office at 419-434-4799. Likewise, any member of the community who observes unattended items they reasonably believe to be weapons should also immediately contact the UF Office of Campus Safety and Security with a description and location of these items.

The only exceptions to this policy are:
1. Authorized law enforcement officers or authorized military personnel, acting on behalf of and within the scope of their official duties, and to the extent they are legally permitted to possess weapons in the State of Ohio.
2. Persons legally permitted to possess weapons in the State of Ohio, to the extent that such possession is necessary as a part of an academic, research, or work-related activity. Such use must have received prior written approval by the UF Director of Campus Safety and Security.

Ohio state law prohibits the carrying of concealed firearms on any premises owned or leased by any public or private college, university, or other institution of higher education unless the handgun is in a locked motor vehicle or the licensee is in the immediate process of placing the handgun in a locked motor vehicle. See Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2923.126(C)(3)(a).

Student Records
The Office of the Chief Academic Officer maintains academic and personal records on all students through our Populi College Management System (CMS). Except under legal compulsion, the information contained in such records (with the exception of information defined as "directory information," including names, mailing addresses, email addresses, phone numbers, photographs, academic standing, dates of attendance, enrollment status, degree program, area of study, honors or awards received, prior schools attended, degrees conferred or granted) will not be released to agencies outside Winebrenner without the written consent of the student. Students may withhold the disclosure of directory information on an "all or nothing" basis by notifying the CAO in writing.

Upon acceptance and before registration, all students will be required to complete a Student Information/Information Release Form which outlines the student's right to grant or refuse access to their records to third parties, in accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). The FERPA Student Information/Information Release form can be accessed and signed here.

All persons handling the permanent records are instructed concerning the confidential nature of such information and their responsibility regarding it. Winebrenner's Student Records Policies and related procedures are reviewed annually and revised by Chief Academic Officer. All staff involved with student records are trained using these policies and procedures.

Transcripts and Permanent Student File
Information recorded on the transcript by the Office of the Chief Academic Officer includes the following: name; identification number; home address; date of birth; dates of attendance; discipline including dates and details of academic and/or dispositional action (remediation, warning, probation, and/or dismissal or disqualification); readmission; course numbers and titles; units of credit; grades and; grade points earned for each course; overall GPA; and identification of courses withdrawn or repeated.

Winebrenner may hold in a student's permanent file (either digitally or hard copy) admission documents, photographs, model releases, transcripts from other schools, recommendations, evaluations, assessment tools (dealing with personality, behavior, family histories, genograms, aptitude, career, etc.), grades, grading rubrics, course evaluations, learning contracts, practicum records, internship records, supervisor's evaluations, hours of completion, progress review records, pre-practicum review records, recorded interviews, transcripts of recorded interviews/meetings, complaints, disciplinary notes, judgements, advising notes, and more.

Students should be aware that Winebrenner must report any information shared that would reveal that a crime has been or will be committed or if information shared suggests that a student is impaired in any way, is a danger to him- or herself or others. Ohio law requires that this information is shared with the proper authorities. FERPA protections do not shield a student from accountability for criminal or potential harmful behavior. It is important to note again that student information may be subpoenaed or required in a court of law. Students are encouraged to share information freely—but are cautioned not to incriminate themselves. Students release Winebrenner from liability in the event the Seminary is required to report criminal or aberrant behavior.

Student information is maintained per the Seminary's Document Collection and Retention Plan. Information regarding this plan can be requested from the Chief Academic Officer.

Student's Right of Access
A designated member of the academic or administrative team will make the file available to the student by appointment, either in person or through share screen functionality in video conferencing, within 45 days of a written request. The student is not permitted to copy, photograph, remove, edit, add to, or have returned any of the materials found in the file by any means, including submitted academic materials, recommendations, evaluations, or transcripts from previous schools. The staff person will remain present throughout the viewing appointment.

Name Change Procedure
Official name changes can be reported by submitting a scanned copy of a marriage license, court document, or a scanned driver's license to the Chief Academic Officer from the student's school issued email account, by mail, or in person.

Enrollment Verifications and Endorsements
Current students who require a letter of good standing, an enrollment verification, or other endorsement for any agency, denomination, or organization, must put their request in writing to the Chief Academic Officer. Graduates seeking letters of reference may contact individual instructors directly.

CAMPUS AND FACILITIES

Local Winebrenner students may have access to some UF services/facilities as part of Winebrenner's Collaborative agreement with UF. (The collaborative agreement is currently under review; local students will be notified when this agreement is solidified.)

Student ID
Local Winebrenner students may be able to obtain an Oiler OneCard photo ID (which can then be uploaded to a cell phone for easier use). This ID card potentially may be used to access campus privileges such as parking, dining, recreational facilities, print release stations, and other services on the UF campus. Please contact Hannah Binkly or Beverly Roth in the UF Campus Facilities Office.

Print and Copy Services
Local Winebrenner students with access to the UF campus may have options available to print or make copies on the campus of the University of Findlay via web browser or by email attachment. At this time you must be physically on campus in order to download the software necessary to utilize the print stations.

To take advantage of the copy and print funds, please see Beverly Roth in the UF facilities services. Beverly, or her assistant, Hannah, will check to make sure the Winebrenner student has a valid ID number and can be added to the UF Transact program. The facilities staff may contact the Chief Academic Officer to check to see if the Winebrenner student is registered for classes. Once they have that information, the Winebrennern student will either be sent over to UF-IT to have funds added (if they are registered currently), or the facilities staff will create an account and invoice, then send the Winebrenner student to the correct UF office to pay the invoice for print services, and then direct them on to IT to get the print funds properly added.

The current rate is $0.05 per page. Students on campus may be able to directly use the copy function of the print release stations to make copies at $0.05 per page.

Parking
Local students wishing to park their vehicles in campus parking lots before 5:00 pm must be registered with the UF Campus Security Office, located in Lovett Hall, west of the Winebrenner building. Application for a parking permit may be made online through the UF website under the Safety and Security Office link: https://www.findlay.edu/offices/student-affairs/safety-security/. Cars are not ticketed after 5:00 pm, so parking permits may not be needed for evening classes.

Security
Winebrenner security policies and procedures are aimed at students' safety and welfare. Students help maintain their own safety on campus by following all security policies; by using common sense safety practices such as walking in groups; by reporting suspicious activities; and by not leaving books, coats, laptop computers, or backpacks unattended. The Seminary is not responsible for lost or stolen items.

The following will provide an overview of helpful security facts. Everyone on campus should be safety-conscious and follow security procedures. Remember: security is everyone's responsibility.

Campus Security Authority
Winebrenner has a working relationship with UF Campus Security and the Findlay City Police Department. Campus Security has the authority to apprehend and detain anyone involved in illegal acts on campus and immediately adjacent to the campus.

If a Seminary student commits minor offenses involving Winebrenner rules and regulations, Campus Security may refer the individual to the Chief Academic Officer, or if committed by an employee, Campus Security will notify the Chief Academic Officer, Executive Director, or Seminary President.

When a crime occurs, students and/or employees should contact UF Campus Security at 419-434-4799.

UF Campus Security reports major offenses such as rape, forcible and non-forcible sex offenses, murder, aggravated assault, robbery, and auto theft to the local police. The prosecution of all criminal offenses, both felony, and misdemeanor, are conducted at Findlay Municipal Court.

Crime Statistics and Reporting
With the passage of the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act of 1990 (20 U.S.C. 1092(f)), Winebrenner will publish and distribute the Campus Security policy and a crime statistic report to all current students and employees annually. (See the UF website crime statistics section for current information on Campus Security reports.) In accordance with Department of Education final regulations published April 29, 1994, all applicants for admission or employment are provided a summary and, upon request, a full copy of the report. Winebrenner will also provide timely warnings to the campus community of serious crimes (murder, forcible and non-forcible sex offenses, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, and motor vehicle theft) reported to Campus Security or local law enforcement that may be considered a threat to other students and employees.

All incident reports documented through the UF Campus Security Office will be distributed on a monthly basis to the appropriate departments on campus.

Campus crime statistics will be published on an annual basis and will be kept available in the UF Business Office.

Learn About Campus Safety and Security
Students can review this information on UF's website at the Safety and Security Office's page.

Crime Prevention and Safety Programs
Programs offered annually in conjunction with UF and the Findlay City Police Department include home security, personal safety, sexual offense prevention, drug awareness, and gangs.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Tuition and Fees

The cost of theological education at Winebrenner is borne by gifts from individuals and churches, tuition paid by students, support from the Churches of God, General Conference, and income from endowments. The Seminary expects students to assume a reasonable portion of the cost for their professional theological education.

The tuition rates normally change each academic year, with one notable exception: military servicepersons called to active duty during their enrollment at Winebrenner will, upon their return to Winebrenner, be charged the same tuition rate effective prior to deployment, until he or she completes their program.

2025-2026 Tuition
> Doctor of Ministry courses, $300/month
> Master's level courses, $300/month
> Life Exploration, $300/month

- Spring Trimester – January, February, March, and April
- Summer Trimester – May, June, July, and August
  - Note: A graduating student must make all final tuition and fees payments on or before July 20 before the diploma is bestowed, the degree is granted, or transcripts are released.

While no courses are conducted in April, August, or December, monthly payments are still due each of these months. (Graduates must pay their July AND August tuition payments AND graduation fees no later than July 20 in order to receive their diploma, have their degree granted, and transcripts released.)

Mandatory Fees
- Application fee (non-refundable), $30
- Audit fees, $200/course

- Transcript fees, $6 for emailed digital copies, $20 for paper copies by Priority Mail. Transcripts older than 10 years may require additional fees.

Payment Method
Each student must have an automatic payment method on file either within Populi or with the Director of Finance. Acceptable automatic payment options include: a recurring credit card payment via Populi which incurs a convenience fee; submission of an ACH form which will result in a fee-free withdrawal; or commitment of a third-party which will result in an on-time payment.

University of Findlay Fees
Each trimester, Winebrenner agrees to pay General Service Fees and Student Activity Fees to the University of Findlay. A commitment exists at Winebrenner to waive these fees when assessed to student accounts.

Supplemental Course Fees
Some courses may require additional fees for supplemental materials purchased by the Seminary at a discount, or lab materials or assessment tools essential to the course of study. These fees are in addition to the tuition charged for the appropriate course. These additional materials will be listed in the syllabus as supplemental.

All supplemental course fees are non-refundable.

Payment of Tuition and Fees
Monthly payments must be made by the 20th of each month with a 3-day grace period. A Late Payment fee and Financial Lock will be applied to a student's account after the grace period, if warranted. Failure to make a payment within the month it is due will result in a Course Lock being applied to a student's account on the 1st of the subsequent month. Payment methods include:

- Payments by credit card must be made via Populi and will incur a non-refundable 1.5% convenience fee.
- Payments by check must be made payable to Winebrenner Theological Seminary and mailed to Winebrenner.
- Payments withdrawn by Winebrenner from a student's checking account will occur on the 20th of the month or the business day that precedes the 20th if it falls on a weekend or holiday. Please contact the business office (business@winebrenner.edu) for the appropriate form. The exception to this is the final month prior to graduation in which all outstanding tuition and fees, including the August tuition fee, may be drafted by July 20 prior to graduation.

All accounts must be paid, in-full, by the end of the term in order for a student to begin coursework in the subsequent term. Students (both current and former) will not receive a fee statement mailed monthly; current tuition and fee balances must be accessed via Populi.

Students with any outstanding balance with the Business Office will not be able to register, gain access to their course(s), or view a report of their grades in Populi, or obtain a transcript since a Financial Lock will be placed on their account. Instructors will not provide "workarounds" for students to access course information when a Lock has been placed on their Populi account. Viewing grades in person may be arranged by appointment with the Chief Academic Officer although a copy will not be issued (see Student's Right of Access below), a diploma will not be bestowed, and a transcript or recommendation may not be requested until all obligations are met. Students having unusually difficult financial hardships may request special arrangements with the Business Office.

Refund of Tuition and Fees

No tuition refunds or refunds of payment(s) made will be given if a student withdraws from a course in progress. Only a complete withdrawal from all courses will result in a refund in accordance with the Refund Policy.

NOTE: Any credit balances greater than $5 on a student's account will be refunded. A credit balance of $5 or less will remain on the student's account and be applied to future tuition and/or fees.

Refund of Tuition and Fees: Refunds are granted on the following scale if the student follows the proper withdrawal procedure. The following information is also available on the Winebrenner website:

> Withdrawal during the first month of a trimester: 75% Tuition Refund
> Withdrawal during the second month of a trimester: 50% Tuition Refund
> Withdrawal during the third month of a trimester: no refund

All course fees are non-refundable.

For more information on withdrawals, please see the Catalog section "CHANGES IN REGISTRATION, ADDITIONS, AND WITHDRAWAL."

The Board of Trustees and administration of the Seminary have the right to make changes in fees, charges, and tuition.

Bad Debt Policy

When a person is no longer registered as a student, they will have three (3) months after the registered term to pay their account in full. At the end of that time, they will receive a letter reminding them of the past-due balance and that the account may be turned over to a collection agency after two (2) additional months.

When an account is turned over to a collection agency, the entire amount plus any agency fees must be paid prior to receiving grades, transcripts, diplomas, or registering for classes. Contact the Business Office with questions.

Other Financial Assistance

Kreger Loan Fund (for emergencies only). The Emma Kreger Student Loan Fund is available for interest-free loans up to $500 while the student is enrolled at Winebrenner. Loans are made upon application through the Business Office and as funds are available. A repayment schedule is arranged at the time of the loan. Loans not paid within the agreed-upon payment schedule incur interest charges at 1.5% per month. Students using the Kreger Loan Fund are encouraged to contribute to the principle of the fund for the benefit of other students as an expression of appreciation for receiving the interest-free loan.

Student's Acknowledgement of Understanding

Appendix A – MACC Handbook (revised and effective 02-23-2026)

Master of Art in Clinical Counseling (MACC) Student Handbook

950 N. Main St, Findlay, Ohio 45840

Overview of MACC Program

The Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling (MACC) is a CACREP-accredited 70 credit-hour entry level clinical mental health program that can be completed in three or more years of part-time study. Students must enroll in six to nine credit hours each term in order to complete the program in three years (See the MACC Course Sequence plans for full-time and part-time students). The fundamental mission of the MACC is to educate and train counselors to promote the optimal functioning of individuals, families, groups, and communities. Built upon a solid foundation of knowledge, skills, and dispositions inherent to counseling those from diverse backgrounds, graduates will be able to translate research-validated practices and integrate biblical truth into effective strategies for individuals, groups, and families. Graduates will benefit from personal and professional growth opportunities, as self-reflection, critical thinking, and constructive feedback are key components addressed in the program. Upon completion of the MACC degree, students will meet the course requirements to take the National Counseling Exam (NCE). Please note, state licensing boards often require completion of a CACREP-accredited counselor education program and a specified number of hours of supervised practice. For more information about specific state licensing requirements, see the MACC Compliance by State on the Winebrenner website: https://winebrenner.edu/ma-clinicial-counseling-compliance-by-state/

Mission Statement and Purpose

The Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling Program equips individuals, utilizing Christian principles and evidence-based modalities, to become mental health counselors.

The program is designed to equip individuals to work in multiple settings (i.e. private practice, community mental health agencies, hospitals, government, and business settings) where they can help bring spiritual, emotional, and psychological wellness into people's lives. The objectives of the MACC program are to deliver a high-quality education required by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Programs (CACREP), and to prepare students to meet the requirements of their residential state professional licensing board.

Professional Organizations and Opportunities

Developing a professional counselor identity is valued and instilled in MACC students at the commencement of their program. MACC students are required to join their state division of the American Counseling Association (ACA). They are expected to maintain memberships and become active members of this professional organization as well as join the national association of ACA throughout their tenure at Winebrenner. Attending and/or presenting at conferences as well as publishing articles on timely topics is encouraged.

The seminary, counseling faculty, and/or community provide other opportunities for students to enhance their learning. Some examples include the Mental Health and the Church Conference, Annual Site Supervisor Workshops, webinars, and events sponsored by The University of Findlay's counseling center or other local counseling agencies. Students are urged to seek professional development opportunities in their residential settings and attend as many as possible.

Additionally, students who meet the standards for membership in the Nu Epsilon Chi (NEX) Chapter of Chi Sigma Iota (CSI) are encouraged to join and actively participate in the training webinars, meetings, and events

MACC Program Key Performance Indicators for Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC) graduate students

1. Knowledge: CMHC graduate students will
   - Demonstrate knowledge of human and lifespan development, group dynamics, counseling theories, etiology, clinical terms, evidence-based approaches in treatment planning and prevention for a broad range of mental, behavioral, and neurodevelopmental disorders.

2. Skills & Practice: CMHC graduate students will
   - Demonstrate the ability to research, analyze, select, and utilize evidence-based techniques, therapeutic skills, and assessments for diagnostic and intervention planning purposes in individual, group, couples, and family counseling settings.

3. Cultural Awareness: CMHC graduate students will
   - Demonstrate awareness and understanding of the impact of social, cultural, and spiritual factors that influence both the counselor, the client, and the therapeutic relationship and outcomes.

4. Professional Identity: CMHC graduate students will
   - Embody a professional identity as a clinical mental health counselor through understanding and application of counseling philosophy, ethical standards, legislation, government policy, and regulatory processes relevant for professional practice, community engagement, and advocacy.

5. Professional Practice: CMHC graduate students will
   - Employ strategies for interfacing and documenting work with multiple delivery modalities, networks, and third-parties to manage issues in clinical mental health counseling.

6. Utilization of Christian Principles: CMHC graduate students will
   - Articulate an awareness and understanding of spiritual formation and the practical, ethical, and respectful integration of spirituality in counseling while demonstrating a Christian worldview.

These Key Performance Indicators are assessed at multiple points and through multiple means in the program coursework.

Additional assessments include the CPCE (Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Examination) administered in the final trimester, the articulation of personal, academic, and spiritual goals evaluated using the CCEC (Christian Counselor Effectiveness Characteristics), and evaluation by the site supervisors using the CCS-R (Counselor Competencies Scale-Revised).

Admissions, Selection, and Advisement

Admissions Diversity Statement

In keeping with Winebrenner's mission, the Office of New Student Engagement seeks to engage people by assisting them in recognizing their call to serve, realizing their need for knowledge and skills related to the call to serve, and presenting them with the programs which prepare them to fulfill the call to serve.

The Office of New Student Engagement does not permit discrimination during the admissions process on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, sex, gender, disability, age, or religion. (See "Equality in Admissions" in the Winebrenner Academic Catalog, p. 55.)

Inclusion and Accessibility Policies
For further information about Winebrenner inclusion and accessibility policies, see the Winebrenner Academic Catalog: "Inclusive Language" (p. 82); "Disability Support" (pp. 73-75); and "Respect for All Students, Faculty, and Staff" (p. 82).]

Student Expectations

Academic expectations of students are defined in the Winebrenner Graduate Catalog. Additionally, the Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling Program has adopted a set of dispositions for all students to demonstrate. These dispositions include:

- Commitment - including counselor identity, investment, advocacy, collaboration, and interpersonal competence;

- Openness to ideas - including learning, identifying needed changes, giving and receiving feedback to and from others, and engaging in self-development;

- Respect for self and others - including honoring diversity, self-care, and wellness;

- Integrity - including personal responsibility, maturity, honesty, courage, and congruence;

- Self-awareness - including humility and self-reflection.

These dispositions represent the values of the Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling Program at Winebrenner Theological Seminary. All students should embody these dispositions inside and outside the classroom to the greatest extent possible.

Dispositions are evaluated several times throughout a student's tenure at Winebrenner. First, students are assessed at time of entry into the program during an interview. Additional times are outlined in the Procedures for MACC Dispositions Evaluation listed below.

Students are encouraged to explore and fully integrate their own personal and unique attributes and capabilities into their identities as professional clinical counselors. Hence, self-awareness is critical because this knowledge relates to being an effective and ethical practitioner. During self-reflection and exploration, students frequently identify areas in their own lives in which personal counseling would benefit them, and thus, students are encouraged to pursue and initiate their own personal counseling by a licensed mental health professional in their communities. Although program faculty and course instructors are licensed professionals, it is both unethical and irresponsible for faculty and instructors to provide mental health counseling for students. (See p. 107 in the Winebrenner Academic Catalog)

Digital Delivery Learning Environment Expectations

(The MACC program is exclusively delivered in a digital modality. Since all aspects of MACC courses are digitally delivered, the following guidelines will be followed.)

Teams Online Meeting Etiquette

Students attending class via Microsoft Teams should do so in a distraction free environment and a learning posture. Taking class while driving or engaged in other activities that requires direct attention should be avoided. For class sessions you will need your computer with camera and microphone and a stable Internet connection. Your instructor recommends using a desktop or laptop that is stationary to avoid making your classmates "seasick" with a moving image of you on the screen. It is optimal that you can look straight into the camera rather than down or to the side to give everyone in the class session a sense that we are all "present" and looking at each other. It is not considered good online etiquette to have only your face or the top of your head visible; try to have your face centered in the screen. You can have the session on one side of your screen and take notes or view documents beside it in a split screen.

Except during breaks, all cameras should be turned on, and you must be present; no blank screens or avatars during class session except for normal personal breaks. Exercising, walking on a treadmill, driving your car, or rocking in a chair can also disrupt the classroom environment; please refrain from engaging in distracting activities during class sessions. Students may eat when necessary, as long as your mic is muted and you are not causing a distraction. Unless otherwise specified by the instructor, please mute yourself until ready to speak to avoid having the class disrupted by background noise.

You may use headphones if background noise is present or if your microphone causes feedback. Participation grades do include students' attentiveness and active conversational interaction.

Secure Environment
An adequate and appropriate learning environment is necessary when working within digital delivery systems. Students enrolled in the MACC digital delivery program must adhere to the following guidelines:

- Students should attend class meetings in a distraction-free environment that is secure from inadvertent breaches of privacy and confidentiality.
- Students should attend class from a webcam equipped computer or tablet with keyboard and use headphones if background noise is present.

Video Submissions
For class assignments requiring submission of a video displaying your skills in working with another individual, guidelines have been created to uphold privacy. Creating secure videos and submitting them for grading involves several key steps to ensure both the integrity of the content and the privacy of the individuals involved. To create secure videos for grading, follow these guidelines:

- Use Secure Recording Tools: Utilize software that offers encryption to protect your video files from unauthorized access.
- Ensure Privacy: Make sure to record in a private, quiet environment to avoid capturing sensitive information or background noise.
- File Protection: Save your videos in a secure format and use strong passwords for any file-sharing services.
- Submission Protocols: Videos will be submitted through Populi (Winebrenner's Learning Management System). Due to size limitations, links may be submitted. Again, ensure that links are secured with access limited to only the course instructor.

- Data Backup & Deletion: Keep a backup of your videos in a secure location to prevent data loss. Upon completion of the assignment and instructor grading, all data should be permanently deleted.

By adhering to these practices, you can ensure that your videos are both secure and ready for grading while protecting the privacy of individuals and confidentiality of the content.

Procedures for MACC Professional Dispositions

Procedures for MACC Professional Dispositions Evaluation

- During the 8th week of the trimester, the course instructor initiates the MACC Professional Disposition Evaluation for the specific evaluation point in the program (i.e., Early (CC 5000), Midpoint 1 (CC 5300), or Midpoint 2 (CC 5400). Instructors complete a disposition form for each student enrolled in the course during the 12th week of the trimester.

- The course instructor will calculate an average score for each disposition. Each student will be provided with a Self-Evaluation of MACC Professional Dispositions. The student must complete the Self-Evaluation prior to the end of that trimester.

- The core faculty will meet to review the students' evaluations at the next monthly department meeting. If a student earns an average rating "1 or below" for any disposition will receive remediation including:

  o Meeting with the student, an advisor, and the Program Director to create a plan of professional development, including an implementation timeline.

  o At the end of the timeline for the professional development plan, the student will be re-evaluated in the identified dispositions. If the student again earns an average rating "1 or below" for the identified dispositions, a meeting with the student, the Program Director, and the Chief Academic Officer (CAO) will occur to discuss the area(s) of concern and the remediation efforts that had already been completed. At this point, the student may determine whether to remain in the MACC program or participate in another professional development plan.

  o If the student decides to complete another professional development plan, at the end of the timeline for the second plan, the student will be re-evaluated in the identified dispositions. If the student earns an average rating "1 or below" for the identified dispositions, the student will be recommended for dismissal according to the Dismissal Policy set forth by the program (See Dismissal Policies and Procedures).

- Students will be given ten days following the meeting to submit a written response to the evaluation. The evaluation and student written response will be placed in the student's program file at the end of the ten-day response period.

- If a student wishes to challenge the evaluation of his/her professional dispositions, (s)he must provide the Program Director with a written request for due process within 10 days of the student advisor meeting. Upon receipt of the written request, the guidelines for due process as outlined in the MACC Retention, Remediation, and Dismissal Policies and Procedures will be implemented.

Pre-Practicum Review

MACC students will be required to participate in a pre-Practicum review during the fall trimester prior to beginning the Practicum course. This review will evaluate the student's academic progress via the key performance indicators and professional dispositions. A student receiving a "Pass" will be permitted to register for Practicum. A student receiving a "Pass with Action Plan" will be permitted to register for Practicum and will complete the action plan as assigned. A student receiving the notation "Remediation Required" will not be permitted to register for Practicum but may register for other academic courses and will be subject to re-review in the next pre-Practicum review time period. A student receiving "Remediation Required" in two consecutive review periods may be subject to dismissal from the program after review by the Program Director and the CAO.

Beginning August 1, 2025, and thereafter, the Seminary will confer the Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling degree on students who complete the 70 credit hours required in the program with a minimum cumulative 3.0 grade-point average and who have passed the Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Examination (CPCE). These students will have met the requirements for graduation, are recommended by the faculty, are affirmed by the Board of Trustees, and will have made all final tuition and graduation fee payments no later than July 20 prior to Commencement.

Students who interrupt their study at Winebrenner by more than one year (three successive trimesters) must reapply for admission and will become subject to the requirements of the (then) current Graduate Catalog.

Practicum and Internship for MACC Students
Students in the MACC program must complete one three-credit-hour Practicum and two three-credit-hour courses in Internship. Full-time students will register for Practicum in their seventh trimester, for Internship I in their eighth trimester, and for Internship II in their ninth trimester. Students must complete all practicum contact hours before they are permitted to register for internship.

A background investigation must be conducted before a student begins participation in Practicum or Internship. Please consult with your MACC faculty on the details of how to secure your background investigation. Depending on your state of residence, you may need to contact various state or federal agencies. Students should follow the guidance of their state counseling licensure board and ensure that the options they select meets the required standards for internship status in their state. Students who opt to use the service used by the Chief Academic Officer should see the full description of background investigations found elsewhere in this Catalog and verify that this meets their state standard.

Practicum requires students to complete an average of 10 hours per week in the field over a 10-week period from September—November for a total of 100 hours in addition to 12 weeks of classroom work.

Internship I and II each require completion of an average of 20 hours per week in the field for a total of 300 hours in addition to 15 weeks of classroom work completed during that same period. When necessary, students may apply for a course extension as described herein (see Late Work, Class Absences, Tardiness, and Extensions).

Further details about Practicum are provided during the Orientation to Practicum and are available in the Practicum and Internship Handbook.

Note: MACC students will not receive their diplomas at graduation, nor will their degree be granted, unless their internships have been completed before the date of graduation.

Course Load
Credit hours necessary to be considered full-time is a minimum of six credit hours per trimester. A student may choose to take additional degree relevant credit hours based upon suggestions noted in the course sequence.

Class Format
Class format (online, hybrid, or residency) is based upon course content and curriculum status. Students will need to have flexibility in their schedule to attend the Foundations for Seminary Studies orientation class, field trips, residencies, and retreats.

Endorsement Policy

Faculty members in the MACC Degree Program have adopted endorsement guidelines as provided in the current version of the American Counseling Association (ACA) Code of Ethics. Per the ACA Code of Ethics (2014), "F.6.d. Endorsements: Supervisors endorse supervisees for certification, licensure, employment, or completion of an academic or training program only when they believe that supervisees are qualified for the endorsement. Regardless of qualifications, supervisors do not endorse supervisees whom they believe to be impaired in any way that would interfere with the performance of the duties associated with the endorsement" (p. 14).

In the academic setting, endorsement includes, but is not limited to, the following activities:

- Approving a student for graduation clearance once they have completed all academic requirements of the CMHC Master's Degree Program and has not demonstrated impairment as defined by the ACA Code of Ethics.
- Preparing a letter of reference for a student for employment, a credential (e.g., LPC), a doctoral program, etc.
- Fielding a telephone call, written, or digital request from a potential employer, credentialing body, institution of higher learning, etc., regarding a student's potential for success in the field of clinical mental health counseling.

Thus, it is the ethical responsibility of faculty members to endorse only those students who possess the required skills, personal qualities, maturity, and mental capacities to engage in the requisite activities for their level of training and personal and professional development.

Please note that any MACC Faculty Member retains the right to refuse to endorse a MACC student or graduate of the MACC Degree Program. Furthermore, the Program Director has an ethical mandate to refuse to endorse any student who meets the ACA Code of Ethics (2014) definition for student impairment (Section F.5.b.), regardless of qualifications (Section F.6.d.), for graduation clearance.

Policy for Student Retention, Remediation, and Dismissal

MACC Retention, Remediation, and Dismissal Policies and Procedures

RETENTION POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Maintaining Academic Standards. Students whose cumulative GPA falls below 3.0 will be placed on academic warning status and required to meet with their Advisor to establish an academic success plan. Academic warning status remains in effect for one trimester. If a student has not met the minimum GPA requirement of 3.0 by the end of that trimester student will be placed on academic probation. Students whose cumulative GPA falls below 2.0 is subject to academic dismissal. A student who is on academic probation for two consecutive trimesters or three total trimesters may be dismissed from the Seminary. Students dismissed for unsatisfactory academic progress may request readmission after a period of one year. Students who entered Winebrenner Seminary under a different Graduate Catalog will be subject to the current Catalog in force when they return. If a student interrupts their study at Winebrenner by more than one year (three successive terms) they will become subject to this policy. (From the current Winebrenner Academic Catalog.)

Resolving Grade Disputes. When a student wishes to dispute a grade assigned in a course, it may be disputed. The student should contact the CAO. This appeal process must be started within three weeks of the grade in dispute being posted. The student's program director (or, in the event the program director is involved in the dispute, a suitable faculty substitute as chosen by the CAO), as well as the CAO, and/or the Executive Director, and/or the President of the Seminary shall serve as a Committee of Arbitration, whose decision shall be final. The process will be completed within 90 days from the end of the trimester. (From the current Winebrenner Academic Catalog.)

Assimilating Professional Dispositions. Because counseling is a profession, the faculty believes it is important to acculturate students to high standards of professional behavior. As a part of this effort, the faculty review students each trimester to evaluate their academic performance, professional development, and personal development. Additionally, the MACC faculty believe success as a counselor depends upon factors in addition to those measured by typical evaluations in coursework. Students are evaluated along the following Professional Dispositions:

- Commitment – including counselor identity, investment, adherence to ACA Ethical Standards, advocacy, collaboration, and interpersonal competence;
- Openness to ideas – including learning, identifying needed changes, giving and receiving feedback to and from others, and engaging in self-development;
- Respect for self and others – including honoring diversity, self-care, and wellness;
- Integrity – including personal responsibility, maturity, honesty, courage, and congruence;
- Self-awareness – including humility and self-reflection.

If the faculty believes a student is experiencing difficulty on any of these dispositions, a meeting will be scheduled with the student and program director to discuss ways of responding to the concern(s) or to consider the appropriateness of the counseling profession for the student (see Remediation Policies and Procedures).

REMEDIATION POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

This glossary is provided to facilitate understanding and establish a shared framework for the terms used:

Program Director: The instructor responsible for the coordination of the MACC Counselor Education Program, responding to inquiries regarding the overall Counselor Education Program, and providing or delegating year-round leadership to the operation of the program.

Practicum and Internship Coordinator: The instructor responsible for the coordination of practicum and internship experiences in designated CACREP specialized practice areas, and for responding to inquiries regarding practicums and internships.

Site Supervisor: The professional Counselor providing supervision on site who signs off on official documents related to Practicum and Internship.

Student: The Practicum and Internship student (sometimes known as the Counselor supervisee or trainee).

Advisor: The faculty member assigned to a Counseling student to provide helpful guidance for the student's experiences in the MACC program of study.

Group Supervision: A tutorial and mentoring relationship between a member of the Counseling profession and more than two counseling students. At Winebrenner this is the role of the Practicum and Internship Coordinator.

Individual Supervision: A tutorial and mentoring relationship between a member of the Counseling profession and one counseling student. This is the role of the Site Supervisor.

Live Supervision: Direct observation of the Counseling session with in-vivo communication from the supervisor influencing the work of the supervisee during the session. This is the role of the Site Supervisor.

Gatekeeper / Gatekeeping: A requirement of CACREP accreditors to safeguard the public and the Counseling profession.

The MACC program requires the following standards for students to maintain good academic standing in the program.

1. Maintaining Good Academic Standing. A minimum of a 3.0 GPA in all academic work completed; if a student is unable to maintain this standard, remediation includes:
   - A referral to the Chief Academic Officer when a faculty member specifies a concern on a student's midterm evaluation and a remedial plan to support the student throughout the remainder of the trimester; and
   - A meeting with an Advisor when a student earns a grade of "C+" (or lower) or a grade of "I" in any course in order to evaluate the impact of that performance on the overall course of study and to identify an appropriate response, which may include a faculty-approved Remediation Plan to develop and demonstrate mastery of essential competencies.

2. Evaluating Key Performance Indicators (KPI). Upon completion of each trimester, course instructors complete a KPI Collection Form for each student in their class. Evaluations of the KPIs are based upon a 1 to 4 rating score: 1= unsatisfactory, 2 = developing, 3 = proficient, 4 = advanced. If a student earns a "2 or below," the student may dispute the grade of the original KPI assignment and/or the KPI score ("2 or below"). The student will be given ten days following notification of the failing grade or KPI score to contact the Program Director and the CAO in writing. The CAO, Program Director, and course instructor will meet to review the student's submitted assignment and the KPI to determine whether the student's work met the criteria for at least a "3" for the KPI. If the student still earns a "2 or below," or if the student does not dispute the original grade, the student will receive remediation including:

- Retaking the course, if the student earned a B- or lower final grade in the course.

- Meeting with the student, the course instructor, the student's advisor, the program director, and the Chief Academic Officer (CAO) to create a KPI remediation plan which will include: 1) an opportunity to meet with the course instructor for further clarification of the expectations to successfully meet the criteria for the KPI assignment; 2) redoing the KPI assignment and submitting it to the course instructor for scoring; and 3) a timeline (no more than 3 weeks) to complete the KPI assignment and submit it for scoring. If the student again earns a "2 or below" for the KPI, a meeting with the student, the Program Director, and the Chief Academic Officer will occur in order to discuss the area(s) of concern and the remediation efforts that had already been completed. A review of the student's data related to the specific KPI will be conducted. If the student's average KPI score is "3 or above" and the student's final grade in the course was a "B" or higher, then the student will not be required to retake the course. Furthermore, the student will be placed on KPI Watch for the specific KPI.

- If a student is placed on KPI Watch, the Program Director and core faculty will monitor the student's performance for the specific KPI for subsequent courses in which the KPI is evaluated. If the student scores a "2 or below" for the KPI upon the next evaluation, then the remediation process as indicated above will again occur. If the student again scores a "2 or below" on the KPI after the second attempt in the course, then the student will be placed on KPI Warning.

- If a student is placed on KPI Warning, the student will be required to retake any course in which they earn a "2 or below" for the KPI measured in the course. If a student continues to score a "2 or below" for a KPI while on KPI Warning, then the student may be subject to Academic Dismissal from the Seminary upon final approval of the Executive Director or Seminary President.

3. Evaluating Professional Dispositions. During the 12th week of the trimester, the course instructor for the specific evaluation point [i.e., Early (CC 5000), Midpoint 1 (CC 5300), or Midpoint 2 (CC 5400)] will complete a disposition form for each student enrolled in the course. The procedures for this evaluation are as follows:
   - Evaluations of the acquisition and performance of each Professional Disposition are based upon a 1 to 4 rating score: 1= unsatisfactory, 2 = developing, 3 = proficient, 4 = advanced.

   - The course instructor will calculate an average score for each disposition.

   - Each student will be provided with a Self-Evaluation of MACC Professional Dispositions. The student must complete the Self-Evaluation prior to the end of the trimester.

- The core faculty will meet to review the students' evaluations at the next monthly department meeting. If a student earns an average rating "1 or below" for any disposition, (s)he will receive remediation including:

  o Meeting with the student, an advisor, and the Program Director to create a plan of professional development, including an implementation timeline. At the end of the timeline for the professional development, the student will be re-evaluated in the identified dispositions. If the student again earns an average rating "1 or below" for the identified dispositions, a meeting with the student, the Program Director, and the Chief Academic Officer will occur to discuss the area(s) of concern and the remediation efforts that had already been completed. At this point, the student may determine whether to remain in the MACC program or participate in another professional development plan. If the student decides to complete another professional development plan, at the end of the timeline for the second plan, the student will be re-evaluated in the identified dispositions. If the student earns an average rating "1 or below" for the identified dispositions, the student will be recommended for dismissal according to the Dismissal Policy set forth by the program (see Dismissal Policies and Procedures).

- Students will be given ten days following the meeting to submit a written response to the evaluation. The evaluation and student written response will be placed in the student's program file at the end of the ten-day response period.

- If a student wishes to challenge the evaluation of his/her professional dispositions, (s)he must provide the Program Director and the CAO with a written request for due process within 10-days of the student advisor meeting. Upon receipt of the written request, the guidelines for due process as outlined in the MACC Retention, Remediation, and Dismissal Policies and Procedures will be implemented.

4. Gatekeeping. Graduate programs that prepare professional counselors have an obligation as "gatekeepers" to protect the public and the profession. This obligation requires the MACC Program to (a) establish criteria and methods to assess not only counseling students' knowledge and skills, but also their emotional stability and well-being, interpersonal skills, professional development, and personal fitness for practice; and (b) ensure—insofar as possible—that the students who complete their programs are competent to maintain healthy, future relationships (e.g., counselor-client, professional, public, scholarly, supervisory, teaching) in an ethical and effective manner. Because of this commitment, the MACC Program endeavors not to advance, recommend, or grant a degree to students with evident problems (e.g., cognitive, emotional, interpersonal, technical, and/or ethical) that may interfere with their professional competence to practice in the counseling profession with employers and/or the public at large.

This gatekeeping commitment obligates the MACC program faculty to continually assess the progress of each MACC student in a variety of academic and applied settings. The primary purpose of this ongoing assessment is to facilitate professional growth. Regular contacts and close working relationships between graduate students and program faculty are imperative to implement these guidelines in a manner that maximizes student growth and development.

The MACC program also recognizes that stressors are inherent in the transition to graduate school and in balancing personal and academic life during the training program. During graduate school, higher academic expectations are frequently encountered. Additionally, when clinical work begins there is intrinsic stress in being a member of a helping profession. Furthermore, supervision is more frequent and intensive during the graduate program, which may increase the student's sense of personal and professional vulnerability. Because graduate students make significant transitions during their graduate studies and may need special assistance during this time, the MACC program is responsible to provide recommendations and opportunities that may facilitate growth and minimize stress. Remediation measures may include, but are not limited to:

- orientation meetings,

- advising,

- explicit and realistic expectations,

- well-defined and timely evaluations that may result in suggestions for positive change,

- referral to counseling, and/or

- contact with supportive individuals (e.g., advisors, supervisors).

5. Recognizing Impairment. For purposes of this document, impairment is defined broadly as an interference in professional functioning which is reflected in one or more of the following ways: An inability and/or unwillingness...

- to acquire and integrate professional standards into one's professional behavior;

- to acquire professional skills to reach an acceptable level of competency; and/or

- to control personal stress, including cognitive, behavioral, and/or emotional reactions which interfere with professional functioning.

Professional judgment is required to determine when a graduate student's behavior becomes severe enough to be considered impaired rather than just problematic. For purposes of this document, a problem refers to a student's behavior which may cause concern and require redemption but is not perceived to be unexpected nor excessive for professionals in training. On the other hand, problems become identified as impairments when they include one or more of the following characteristics:

- the student does not acknowledge, understand, nor address a problem when it is identified;

- the problem is not merely a reflection of a skill deficit which can be corrected by academic or didactic training;

- the quality of services delivered by the student is sufficiently and negatively affected;

- a disproportionate amount of attention by faculty and supervisors is required; and/or

- the student's behavior does not change as a function of feedback, remediation efforts, and/or time.

When student impairment has been identified, meaningful plans to address the impairment will be implemented. Several possible, and perhaps concurrent, courses of action designed to remedy impairments include, but are not limited to the following remediation measures:

- increasing supervision, either with the same or other supervisors,

- increasing fieldwork experience,

- changing the format and/or emphasis of supervision,

- recommending and/or requiring personal counseling with a clarified manner in which counseling contacts will be used in the graduate student's progress,

- reducing the graduate trainee's clinical or other workload,

- requiring specific academic coursework, and/or

- recommending, when appropriate, a leave of absence and/or repeating a particular experience (e.g., practicum).

When a combination of the above interventions does not, after a reasonable time period, rectify the impairment, or when the student seems unable or unwilling to alter his/her behavior, the training program may take more formal action including recommending dismissal from the program.

6. Providing Due Process. Due process (a) ensures that decisions made by program faculty about graduate students are not arbitrary nor personally biased, (b) requires the program to identify specific evaluative procedures which are applied to all MACC students, and (c) establishes appropriate appeal procedures available to the student, so (s)he may challenge the program's action. General due process guidelines include:

- presenting graduate students, in writing, with the program's expectations related to KPI performance and professional functioning;

- stipulating the procedures for evaluation, including when and how evaluations will be conducted (such evaluations should occur at meaningful intervals);

- instituting a remediation plan for identified inadequacies, including a time frame for expected remediation and consequences of not rectifying the inadequacies (see Evaluation Procedures and Timelines Regarding Due Process);

- providing written procedures to the graduate student which describes how they may appeal the program's action;

- ensuring that the graduate student has sufficient time to respond to any action taken by the program;

- considering possible input from multiple professional sources when making decisions or recommendations regarding the graduate student's performance;

- including the seminary administration (Chief Academic Officer and Executive Director) in the process; and

- documenting, in writing to all relevant parties, the action taken by the program and its rationale.

7. Implementing Due Process—Evaluation Procedures and Timelines. The summative and formative evaluations (i.e., KPIs), grades in courses, and the "Professional Dispositions" of all MACC students are evaluated each trimester by the program faculty. If a significant concern about a student's performance or functioning is identified, the following remediation procedures will be implemented:

- The student will be formally notified of the specific problem areas noted by the faculty.
- Unless the severity of the problem(s) necessitates a forced withdrawal as approved by the Executive Director or Seminary President, a plan to remedy the problem(s) will be developed by the MACC faculty with input from the CAO. This remediation plan will (a) define the student's problem(s), (b) identify the expected behavior or attitude goals, (c) specify possible remediation methods to reach those goals, and (d) designate a date for goal attainment and/or re-evaluation.

During this remedial period, the Program Director may recommend to the Chief Academic Officer that the student be placed on academic and/or dispositional probation. The remediation plan will be designed through collaboration with the student's success as a goal. If the student chooses not to accept a remedial plan, (s)he may need to leave the program.

At the time of re-evaluation, the MACC faculty, in consultation with the Chief Academic Officer, will consider four options:

1. A decision that the specified concerns no longer present a significant problem, and the student is removed from probationary status and permitted to continue in the program.

2. A decision to continue probation and remediation, update the remedial plan, and set a date for a subsequent re-evaluation.

3. A recommendation to the student that (s)he leave the program.

4. A recommendation of formal dismissal from the program to the Chief Academic Officer and Executive Director.

8. Appraisal of Practicum and Internship Performance. Practicum and internship are developmental training experiences in which students are evaluated not only on academic knowledge, but also on professional identity, ethical conduct, clinical competence, and personal functioning as it impacts client care. Because non-academic concerns (e.g., professionalism, boundary management, ethical judgment, interpersonal functioning, timeliness, or emotional stability) may arise during fieldwork, the program has established structured procedures for ongoing evaluation, feedback, and, when necessary, remediation.

Students enrolled in practicum and internship receive regular formative and summative feedback from Site Supervisors and the Practicum and Internship Coordinator. Evaluation is continuous and collaborative, with the goal of supporting student development and protecting client welfare.

Ongoing Documentation and Supervision

- Weekly Fieldwork Logs:
  Students are required to maintain written logs documenting direct and indirect service hours. Logs must be signed by the site supervisor and submitted weekly to the Practicum and Internship Coordinator.

- Site Contact and Consultation:
  The Practicum and Internship Coordinator will conduct at least one scheduled consultation per trimester. These contacts include consultation with the Site Supervisor and, when appropriate, with the student. Additional consultation may occur as needed.

Formal Evaluations

- Midterm and Final Evaluations:
  A written midterm and final evaluation must be completed by the Site Supervisor and submitted to the Practicum and Internship Coordinator during both practicum and internship experiences. These evaluations assess clinical skill development, professionalism, ethical conduct, and readiness for continued field placement.

- Practicum Endorsement:
  At the conclusion of practicum, the Practicum and Internship Coordinator will make a recommendation regarding the student's readiness to advance to Internship I.

- Internship II Endorsement:
  At the conclusion of Internship II, the Practicum and Internship Coordinator ensures all hours have been met and that the student meets qualifications for graduation from the MACC program.

Conditional Endorsement or Denial of Advancement

Advancement in the program requires demonstration of academic proficiency, clinical competence, ethical integrity, and professional readiness for independent practice. If concerns arise that may result in conditional endorsement or denial of advancement, the following procedures apply:

- Students will generally be informed of significant concerns at least one month prior to the submission of the final evaluation, allowing opportunity for corrective action.
- Exceptions to this timeline may occur in cases of serious ethical violations or professional misconduct that arise late in the practicum or internship term.
- When concerns are identified, a remediation plan may be developed outlining specific expectations, corrective actions, timelines, and evaluation criteria.

If the Practicum and Internship Coordinator and MACC faculty concur with the recommendation to deny advancement to internship or endorsement for successful completion of student's fieldwork through WTS and the student disagrees with this determination, the student may initiate formal appeal procedures as outlined in the Due Process section of this manual and in accordance with WTS institutional policies.

DISMISSAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

If at any time during the course of the graduate program, concerns about performance and functioning are judged to be severe enough to warrant dismissal from the program, the MACC Program Director, in consultation with the Chief Academic Officer, will provide the student with written notification of this decision. The student will be given 14 days to prepare a response to the notification of dismissal and have the opportunity to request a formal review of the recommendation for dismissal from the Chief Academic Officer. The following procedure will be implemented during this review:

- Upon notification of a request for formal review, the Chief Academic Officer will charge a Review Panel, comprised of one MACC faculty member, the MACC Program Director, and two faculty members from outside the MACC program. The Chief Academic Officer will serve as the Convener of the Review Panel.

- The Review Panel will review evidence provided by the program and the student related to the program's recommendation for dismissal and forward a written recommendation for disposition to all members of the Review Panel, and the student within five days of their deliberations. As part of their review, the Review Panel may request clarification or further information from either the student or the Program Director. The student may request to meet with the Review Panel as part of this process.

- The student may submit a written response to the Review Panel's recommendation to the Chief Academic Officer within 5 days of receipt of their determination.

- The Chief Academic Officer will consider the Review Panel's recommendation and any response by the student and/or Program Director and make a determination for disposition within 10 days of their determination. This disposition may uphold or reverse the program's recommendation for dismissal. The Chief Academic Officer will notify the student, all members of the Review Panel, and the Executive Director of the disposition.

- The student may appeal the decision for dismissal from the Winebrenner Executive Director (EXD) within 10 working days of receipt of notification of the decision. The Executive Director will review the documentation provided and make a determination within 10 days of receiving the appeal. The Executive Director will notify the Chief Academic Officer who will in turn notify the student and Program Director of the disposition. This represents the final step in the appeal process.

STUDENT GRIEVANCES AND ACADEMIC COMPLAINTS

When a student has a concern, there are appropriate steps to take in addressing the issue:

1. The resolution of any conflict should begin with consulting directly with the faculty member or person with responsibility for the disputed issue.
2. The Program Director may be asked to participate in the resolution.
3. If desired by any party, another faculty member may be asked to participate as a neutral observer.
4. If the problem remains unresolved, the Chief Academic Officer should be contacted to process the issue.

Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling students must also read and follow the current Winebrenner Graduate Catalog. All institutional policies and procedures contained therein apply to students in the Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling Program and may supersede those found at the programmatic level. This includes, but is not limited to, detailed admissions policies, technology standards, academic standards including grade scale, academic probation and dismissal, due process, academic appeal, repetition of courses, registration, drop/add and withdrawal, academic integrity, late work, class absences, extensions, financial information including tuition, fees, repayment, financial aid policies, student services, etc.

Disability Support

It is the responsibility of students with disabilities to inform the Chief Academic Officer if accommodations are being sought. Winebrenner Theological Seminary will endeavor to make reasonable accommodations intended to provide access to educational opportunity. Winebrenner Theological Seminary has no obligation to make fundamental alterations of a program and/or curricula that would compromise course rigor, academic integrity, or expected outcomes.

- A Winebrenner student with a disability who is in need of accommodation is obligated to provide notice of the nature of the disability to the institution and to assist in identifying appropriate and effective accommodation.
- The notice should be provided to the Chief Academic Officer at least one week prior to beginning of each trimester. The CAO may be reached at mjohnson@winebrenner.edu or 419-434-4220.
- In addition, the student is required to provide supporting diagnostic documentation and/or professional prescription(s) for specific accommodations.
- Upon receipt of the aforementioned information, the Chief Academic Officer, the student's advisor, and other professionals appointed by the CAO will determine the eligibility of the student for necessary accommodation(s) and the possible accommodations that can be made available.

If accommodations are recommended the following guidelines assist in the creation of a written Individualized Student Accommodation Plan (ISAP) that is created with the help of the student, presented by the student to his or her instructor(s), and placed on the student's Populi profile.

- Winebrenner has no provision or obligation for providing tutors in content areas. However, a student may ask the instructor to identify which students might have enough proficiency so that they could be helpful as study partners, etc. That relationship should be viewed as an informal agreement between those students.

- Students may request that an instructor allow recording of lectures so they may be reviewed several times. This is considered a better method for reviewing lecture material than requesting notes from a fellow student.

- Additional time on examinations may be coordinated with the instructor upon approval of the CAO.

- An extension at the end of the course may be granted, but additional extensions beyond that initial extension will not be granted. Course extensions do not guarantee extensions on all assigned work since much of the coursework builds on previous assignments.

- No reduced assignments are permitted. Extended time on specific assignments is at the discretion of the instructor but cannot exceed 14 days.

- No grading changes are permitted, and no test format changes will be permitted other than those which provide equality of access. No extra attempts at tests will be permitted.

- A student with a disability who requires assistance in the classroom should contact the CAO at least three weeks prior to beginning of each term to arrange for their support person to receive auditor status. If accommodation includes the need for an ASL interpreter, designated note-taker, language interpreter, personal needs assistant, etc., the Seminary will provide the opportunity for the student to arrange for such assistance and will waive all associated fees. All waivers are approved by the CAO. Winebrenner does not provide interpreters or other types of class support persons. Certified and trained Service Animals are welcome. Not all Emotional Support Animals can be accommodated. Late Work, Class Absences, and Extension policies remain in effect.

- Students are primarily responsible for the implementation of their Academic Accommodation Plan in each of their courses. Once the ISAP has been established with the student and the CAO, it is the student's responsibility to meet with their instructor(s) at least one week prior to the initial class session, provide them with a copy of their ISAP for the trimester, and discuss the implementation of the accommodations.

- Students receiving accommodations should communicate any issue(s) to the CAO or to their advisor as soon as the issue(s) arise. Students are responsible for contacting the CAO each trimester (or each academic year) to continue services and/or to request any adjustments to their ISAP.

- If an instructor finds that meeting a specific accommodation proves especially difficult, the instructor may appeal to the CAO for assistance, clarification of the accommodation plan, or suggested changes to the IASP in place. The CAO, the student's advisor, the instructor, and other professionals appointed by the CAO will convene to discuss the problematic accommodation. When prudent, the student with the IASP will be included in the discussion on the necessity of the accommodation(s) and/or the possible modification of the ISAP.

Informed Consent Statement—MACC

All Winebrenner faculty members are dedicated to the educational, personal, spiritual, and professional growth and development of Winebrenner students. The MACC faculty are in a unique position as both instructors who assess students' academic skills and members of the counseling profession with an ethical obligation to the profession. In both roles, it is the MACC faculty's responsibility to evaluate student competencies within the realm of professional counseling and pastoral ministry and to address any concerns regarding students' professional competence. Thus, please be aware of the following information regarding Winebrenner MACC courses:

- The counseling profession encourages that counselors fully integrate their own personal attributes and identity, as well as their strengths and weaknesses, into therapeutic processes. Therefore, self-awareness is critical because this knowledge relates to being an effective and ethical professional mental health counselor.

- Many MACC courses will emphasize self-awareness and self-exploration, as well as giving feedback to peers. Although uncomfortable at times, students are encouraged to be open to self-exploration, in recognition that counselors frequently ask clients to do the same. Additionally, professionalism, grace, self-control, and self-awareness are necessary when giving and receiving feedback from peers and instructors.

- At times, MACC classes may include experiential and self-awareness exercises. It is important to distinguish between sharing one's emotional reactions to such experiential class activities and revealing information about one's personal history. Self-disclosure (i.e., the content and depth of personal information shared with others) of personal history is not required to successfully pass any course; however, students may be expected to share their reactions to experiential activities. Thus, it is each student's responsibility to determine an appropriate level of self-disclosure balanced with reactions in experiential learning activities.

- Self-disclosures will not be used as a basis for grading in any course. However, should a student disclose information indicating impairment or the potential for harm to themselves, future clients, and/or others (including animals), the faculty member may take appropriate action in accordance with the state laws and the ACA Code of Ethics (2014).

- Students often experience personal growth as they progress through the program. However, the courses are not meant to be a means of personal therapy. The focus in classes is on self-awareness and the enhancement and growth of necessary counselor knowledge and skills.

- Although all instructors strive to create a safe environment for any personal disclosures, we cannot guarantee that other students will maintain the privacy and confidentiality of any such disclosures that are made. Additionally, please be advised that disregarding the privacy and confidentiality rights of classmates will not be tolerated and will be addressed according to the circumstances of the event.

Catalog of the Seminary.

Program Director's Letter of Welcome

Welcome to the Winebrenner Theological Seminary Doctor of Ministry Program! Fredrick Buechner once described calling as "The place . . . where your deep gladness and the world's deep hunger meet."[1] As you begin your program, I pray that you are entering into a place where your interests and passions and the world's need meet to produce a research project of service to the church and the world.

The Doctor of Ministry program is an opportunity to expand your professional skills, engage in personal formation, grow as a disciple f Jesus Christ, explore new ideas and new contexts, or refine that which already exists.

This manual serves as a general guide to the DMin program as we journey together. Details of seminary policies, course descriptions, and other materials held across the institution are found in the graduate catalog. You should read the whole of that catalog since it is the ultimate authority for our time together.

In addition, this document serves as a program-specific appendix that seeks to provide an overview and some more specific detail which will be helpful to your progress through the program.

I look forward to your journey through the Doctor of Ministry program and to the engagement we will share within this community of learners,

Grace and Peace,
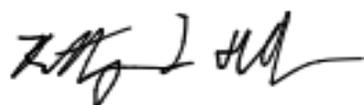

Kathryn Helleman, MDiv, DMin

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY (DMin)
Program Director: Dr. Kathryn Helleman

Catalog Section

Purpose

The Doctor of Ministry is an advanced, professionally oriented degree that prepares people more deeply for religious leadership in congregations, parachurch, non-profit, denominational, and other settings, including appropriate teaching roles. In our increasingly pluralistic culture, the focus of the program is on integrating critical thinking and theological reflection, enhancing leadership skills, and personal development through healthy discipleship practices as an individual and leader. Gratues will develop contextualized applications of their research in service of the church and the world.

Program Outcomes

The Program Outcomes are introduced at the beginning of the program, assessed at key points during study, and examined more deeply during the Project Writing and defense.

1. Advanced theological integration that helps graduates effectively engage their cultural context with theological acumen and critical thinking.
2. In-depth contextual competency that gives graduates the ability to identify, frame, and respond to crucial ministry issues both within contextual settings and in response to culture.
3. Leadership capacity that equips graduates to enhance their effectiveness as ministry leaders in their chosen settings.
4. Personal and spiritual maturity, and healthy practices of discipleship that enable graduates to reinvigorate and deepen their vocational calling.
5. Communication skills in verbal and written formats culminating in a written project and presentation demonstrating contribution to the Church.

Description and Duration

Winebrenner Theological Seminary's Doctor of Ministry is a 31-credit program intended to be completed in 3 years with optional writing continuation in years 4-6. The program is primarily online with 3-4 day intensives in the two summer trimestera preceding the writing phase. The doctoral project is written in the second half of the program upon successful completion of research and writing methods requirements.

Program Elements

1. Research and Writing Methods courses provide practical and theoretical frameworks for the doctoral writing project.

2. Contextualized Learning Experiences provide exposure to diverse contexts and increased contextual competency.
3. Learning Threads aid in critical thinking, theological integration, leadership skills, and personal development as a disciple.
4. Regular cohort video-conference meetings are hosted by the Program Director.
5. The DMin Project requires each student to identify a research question, design, conduct, and report on their research, complete a written project of 100-130 pages in length plus unlimited front and back matter, and make a capstone presentation based on the research conducted.

Qualifications of Applicants

- Applicants for the Doctor of Ministry degree program must meet the following prerequisites:
    - Applicants must possess an ATS accredited Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree. Students without an accredited MDiv degree need to possess an accredited Master's degree with a minimum of 51 earned credits in an area related to one's ministry setting or vocational calling. The following content areas must be reflected in the Master's degree completed (Biblical Studies and Interpretation, Theological and Historical Studies, Spiritual Formation, and Ministerial Studies).
    - All course work must be demonstrated by official transcript. All candidates admitted by MA Evaluation will be required to attend an interview with members of the Winebrenner faculty.
    - Applicants must give evidence of ability to do doctoral-level work as indicated by a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale) at the graduate level.
    - Applicants must have three years of ministry experience. Applicants with less than three years of ministry experience may provide proof of alternative life experience for three or more years in other types of professional, business, and/or military service.
    - Applicants must be involved in a current ministry context and remain in ministry throughout the duration of their doctoral program. It should be noted that ministry settings beyond parish ministry, such as but not limited to chaplaincy, parachurch settings, educational settings, and denomination settings, are considered appropriate ministry contexts.

- The Admissions Committee may, at times, admit an applicant on probation with a cumulative GPA below 3.0. The reason for granting admission on probation is evidence presented by the applicant that his or her cumulative GPA does not necessarily reflect his or her competence to do doctoral-level work. A student admitted on probation is required to maintain a 3.0 cumulative GPA and adhere to any other stipulations imposed by the Admissions Committee. Otherwise, he or she will be dismissed from the program.

- Applicants are required to provide a recent research paper from a course at the Master's level. If none is available, an essay may be written.

Transfer of Credit

Students qualified for admission into the WTS DMin program may be permitted to transfer DMin coursework from another ATS-accredited institution which may not exceed two-thirds of the program's total credits. Transfer from other terminal degrees is at the discretion of the Chief Academic Officer.

Advanced Standing

Independent Research

A DMin Student may request an Independent Research Course from the Program Director by providing a written description of the desired area of research or study and the potential impact of the student's overall program of study. In consultation with the Chief Academic Officer, the Program Director will determine the appropriate number of credits for the work described. In consultation with the Chief Academic Officer, the Program Director will identify an instructor of record and ensure that learning outcomes developed are appropriate to the rigor of the degree. Finally, the student will be registered in the corresponding course (DM 8901–1 credit, DM 8902–2 credits, or DM 8903–3 credits). Students in the DMin program may not exceed six (6) credits of Independent Research or two total Independent Research courses regardless of credit value.

Note that approval for Independent Research is not guaranteed. A student considering Independent Research must contact the Program Director during the registration period prior to the beginning of a term to allow time for consideration of the request and management of the above details.

Requirements for Graduation

The Seminary will confer the Doctor of Ministry degree on students who complete the 31-credit hours required in the program with a minimum cumulative 3.0 grade-point average, submit a final copy of their project, complete a successful public defense of their project, have met the requirements for graduation, have been recommended by the faculty, are affirmed by the Winebrenner Board of Trustees, and have made all final tuition and graduation fee payments no later than July 20 prior to Commencement. Students who interrupt their study at Winebrenner by more than one year (three successive trimesters) must reapply for admission and will become subject to the requirements of the (then) current Graduate Catalog.

The Doctor of Ministry Program in Detail

Contextualized Learning Phase

The Doctor of Ministry program begins with a contextualized learning phase. The student develops the essential skills, advanced theological integration, contextual competency, leadership capacity, and personal and spiritual maturity to effectively engage the writing of a Doctor of Ministry project in service to the church and the world. Courses engaged in this phase of the program include:

Writing Methodology	Content Courses
Research Methodology	Participatory Field Education Courses
Theological Reflection	Community of Learners

In Writing Methodology, the student begins their formal literature review, identifies an initial writing design for their project, and crafts a draft proposal. In Research Methodology, the student begins to develop their research design, identify a research question for further development, and consider various research methods. Theological Reflection develops the skill of thinking critically and theologically, which is a vital component of a successful Doctor of Ministry degree.

In the fourth trimester of study, the DMin student enters a Prospectus Review where faculty members, the CAO, and the Program Director evaluate the student's readiness to begin the writing process. Following a successful prospectus review, the student crafts a final proposal which the Program Director provides to prospective project team members. Members of the project team are described below in the Writing Phase of the program.

In the fifth trimester of study, the DMin student drafts and submits a research proposal to the Institutional Review Board. This task is directed by the Program Director and/or the Project Chair if one has been identified.

Throughout the Contextualized Learning Phase, students engage Content Courses, which seek to integrate theology, spiritual formation, practical skills, leadership skills, theological reflection, and critical thinking with the student's current context. Participatory Learning Experience coursework seeks to expose the student to diverse settings and content, expanding the student's experience beyond their current context.

The Community of Learners provides a regular check-in for all students in the Doctor of Ministry program. This virtual gathering creates opportunities for fellowship, prayer, networking, presentations on related topics, and dissemination of program information. Students in both the Contextualized Learning Phase and Writing Phase are encouraged to attend these informal co-curricular opportunities.

Writing Phase

The Doctor of Ministry Writing Process

The Doctor of Ministry project will contain 100 to 130 pages plus unlimited front and back matter. Projects will follow the models and topics areas provided in the program handbook. Projects may be designed following the proposed outline or, with approval from the Project Chair, follow an alternate design suited to the subject matter. The project writing style follows the current edition of Turabian. Students are encouraged to use a writing tool such as Grammarly or may choose to retain a writing stylist at their own expense.

The student will have a project team composed of the Project Chair, an External Reader, and the Program Director. The Project Chair will be drawn from the institution's full-time faculty, administrators with faculty rank, and well-qualified adjuncts with terminal degrees. The Program Director will recommend Project Chairs in consultation with the CAO. External Readers hold terminal degrees and are content and methodology specialists whom the student may recommend for approval. The project team guides the student regarding the subject matter and the normative research methodology of their discipline.

Each trimester, the student registered for "Project Research and Writing" or "Writing Continuation" will execute a learning contract with the Project Chair and External Reader using a standardized format. Learning contracts are due on the 15th of the month preceding the trimester. The contract will detail the intended tasks to be completed in the trimester with identified measures of success. Measures of success might include the number of pages to be written, pages to be read, sections to be edited, research paths for exploration, detailed research plans or activities, etc. Deadlines for submission of drafts should be included in this contract.

Upon review of the trimester's Learning Contract and the work completed, the Project Chair will submit a Pass/Fail grade to the Program Director, who serves as the faculty of record for all Research and Writing and Writing Continuation courses.

Both the Pass and Fail grades in Project Research and Writing will be used to calculate GPA. Any student whose GPA falls below 3.0 will be subject to the Institutional policies on Academic Probation and Dismissal.

If a student fails a trimester of Project Research and Writing or Writing Continuation, the Program Director will convene a meeting of the Project Chair, External Reader, and the student to discuss the student's action plan and program progression. Two cumulative failures will result in the Project Chair, Program Director, and CAO reviewing the student's capacity to complete the program and may result in dismissal by the CAO. Extensions are available in each trimester following the institution's policy on extensions.

The student may complete their writing within six trimesters of Project Research and Writing but will be eligible to continue their writing for up to six additional trimesters of Writing

Continuation provided that they make satisfactory progress through the preceding six trimesters. The total length of a student's program may not exceed six years.

When the student's project is completed, except for the front and back matter and final publication edits, the student will register for "Final Project and Presentation" in the following summer trimester. During this final course, the student will complete publication edits and present their research findings in a juried capstone. Successful completion of the "Final Project and Presentation" will qualify a student for graduation.

The DMin Project Research and Writing Team—Roles and Responsibilities

The student will have a project team comprised of the Project Chair, an External Reader, and the Program Director. The Project Chair will be drawn from the institution's full-time faculty, administrators with faculty rank and terminal degrees, or well-qualified adjuncts or alumni with terminal degrees. Project Chairs will be recommended by the Program Director. External Readers are typically content and methodology specialists. They provide guidance to the student regarding subject matter and/or the normative research methodology of their discipline. Students may suggest well-qualified external readers for consideration.

The Project Chair is the primary member of the student's research and writing team. The chair communicates as needed with the student and is responsive to messages from the Program Director related to the student's progress and grade for each term. The chair is responsible for ensuring the overall quality of the student's project, attentive to content, methodology, and effective and accurate writing. The specific tasks of the chair are as follows:

1. Partner with the student in developing a Learning Contract before the beginning of each trimester to facilitate communication and ensure that the student is making progress.
2. Participate in developing the overall design of the project with reference to number of chapters and length of chapters.
3. Review each provided draft within the agreed upon time frame. It is an expectation that drafts should generally be returned within one week of receipt unless otherwise discussed with the student.
4. Review each draft with attention to content, methodology, effective writing that demonstrates doctoral level work and the more technical aspects of writing including spelling, grammar, punctuation, and conformity to Turabian Style. While some students may choose to use an external editor, the chair should nonetheless work with the student towards a final draft that meets a high academic standard.
5. Copy the Program Director on emails with chapter edits.
6. Recommend, where appropriate, additional resources that the student should consider in their research and writing.

7. Meet, as needed, upon the student's request or that of the Project Chair, using an appropriate means of contact such as Teams, phone call, or in person depending on the proximate location of the student.

8. At the end of the term, upon request of the Program Director, provide a pass/fail grade recommendation for the student's work based on completion of the Learning Contract and the quality of the work exemplified.

9. The Project Chair should advise the Program Director of any concerns that emerge regarding the student's capability to complete the project in a timely manner.

10. During the final trimester of the student's program, the Program Chair should anticipate being particularly attentive to the editing process as the project approaches completion.

11. During the final trimester the Program Director will consult with the Program Chair to schedule the Project Defense. The Program Chair is a key member of the defense review panel. The defense takes place in a video conferencing platform with all parties participating in that format.

12. The Project Chair is responsible for ensuring that final content edits have been returned to the student with sufficient time to produce an effective final version for the defense process. Final content edits of the project must be completed before the defense date so that on that day only minor formatting edits remain, other than those edits which may be required by the committee. If there are concerns about the capability of the student to complete this task, this should be communicated to the Program Director as soon as possible.

The External Reader serves as a content, context, or methodology expert. An External Readers may be identified by the student for approval by the Program Director or may be recommended by the Program Director to fulfill an essential task in the student's research and writing process. In some instances, a student may have more than one External Reader if expertise is required in more than one area of the project. External Readers should hold a doctoral degree in a discipline related to the student's work. Family members or subordinates in an organization or ministry setting are not permitted to be part of a program team. The specific tasks of the External Reader are as follows:

1. Review each provided draft within the agreed upon time frame. It is an expectation that drafts should generally be returned within one week of receipt unless otherwise discussed with the student.

2. Review each draft with attention to content, methodology, effective writing that demonstrates doctoral level work and the more technical aspects of writing including spelling, grammar, punctuation, and conformity to Turabian Style. While some students may choose to use an external editor, the entire team should nonetheless work with the student towards a final draft that meets a high academic standard.

3. Copy the Program Director and Project Chair on all chapter edits.

4. Recommend, where appropriate, additional resources that the student should consider in their research and writing.

5. Meet, as needed, upon the student's request or that of the Project Chair, using an appropriate means of contact such as Teams, phone call, or in person depending on the proximate location of the student.

6. During the final trimester of the student's program, the External Reader should anticipate being particularly attentive to the editing process as the project approaches completion.

7. During the final trimester the Program Director will consult with the Program Chair to schedule the Project Defense and will verify the availability of the External Reader. The External Reader is a key member of the defense review panel. The defense takes place in Teams or another video-conferencing platform with all parties participating in that format.

8. The External Reader work towards ensuring that final edits have been returned to the student with sufficient time to produce an effective final version for the defense process. Final edits of the project must be completed before the defense date so that on that day only edits required by the committee should remain.

The Program Director serves as a member of all project teams. The Program Director serves as the administrator for all projects. The Program Director serves as professor of record in each term of the writing process, solicits feedback from the chair for a pass/fail grade, logs the appropriate grade in the LMS, and ensures that up-to-date documentation is maintained. The specific tasks of the Program Director are as follows:

1. Recruit Project Chairs and External Readers.

2. Serve as a mediator between Project Chairs, External Readers, and the student if this is warranted.

3. Requests and documents the Learning Contract each trimester.

4. Offers feedback on chapters as requested by the student, reading all chapter edits provided by the team, and ensuring the flow of information is efficient.

5. Receive concerns from the Project Chair, External Reader, or student regarding the student's capability to complete each Learning Contract and the overall project.

6. Offers support and encouragement to both students and team members.

7. Maintains all records of the project.

8. Requests feedback from the Project Chair and External Reader for each trimester's grade.
9. Manages the Project Defense phase of the student's editorial work,, scheduling, and facilitating the defense event.

Project Models and Topics

In general, DMin projects should follow one of the following models for an applied research project. The Program Director must approve all other options before selecting the project team.

An area of research should be chosen to reflect the student's passion but with awareness of the need to have access to a research population and research setting to execute the practical application of the research design. The following reflect potential research areas but should not be considered an exhaustive list.

Congregational Life and Ministry (e.g., pastoral care, pastoral counseling, spiritual renewal, youth work, church growth, evangelism, missions, preaching, teaching, worship, administration, leadership, stewardship)

Church and Society (e.g., discipleship, education, spiritual formation, the effective use of technology in ministry, distance learning, public theology, social ethics, questions of race, gender, economics, apologetics, worldview)

Christian Thought (e.g., a biography of a historical figure, a study of a denominationally critical period, a study of a contemporary belief or behavior, denominational theology, theology of a specific cultural group)

Biblical Studies (e.g., exposition of the thought of a biblical author or text of scripture and its applicability to ministry, delineate a biblical theme across a biblical corpus, and describe its contribution to contemporary ministry)

Student-Initiated (Projects that are not within the scope of the options above will be considered with permission from the Program Director)

Project Formats

Each student will complete a written project of 100-130 pages in length plus unlimited front and back matter. This written project will be subject to a juried review by the Project Chair, Program Director, and Second Reader to determine successful completion.

The institution does not provide technical editors. Students may choose to contract independently with a technical editor. A list of qualified editors will be provided upon request. Students must use the editing software Grammarly to ensure that all writing meets minimum spelling, grammar, and punctuation requirements. Students are encouraged to use citation/bibliographic software such as Zotero to capture all bibliographic materials accurately.

The current edition of the Turabian Style guide, A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations: Chicago Style for Students and Researchers (Chicago Guides to Writing, Editing, and Publishing) serves as the writing style for the Doctor of Ministry program. Students are required to follow the manual for all elements of their doctoral project.

The DMin project will generally include the following sections, although the project type will dictate each section's length, order, and content. At the Project Chair's recommendation and with the Program Director's approval, students may follow an alternative writing outline. Students are reminded that the finished project is a coherent whole and not a series of separate documents:

Introduction
Literature Review (including Biblical and Theological Perspectives)
Research Design
Research Findings
Conclusion and Implication for further study or application

Learning Contracts

Each trimester in which a student is registered in a Research and Writing course or a Writing Continuation course requires the creation of a Learning Contract. A sample Learning Contract and a Learning Contract template are included in the appendices of this Handbook. Students are introduced to Learning Contracts during the Writing Methods course.

The concept of Learning Contracts comes from student-centered learning and places the onus for managing time and workload on the student. The student identifies the critical benchmarks for success in the writing process in conversation with their Project Chair and Program Director. This conversation may take place by email, phone, or video conference. At times the Project Chair may suggest additional learning outcomes or may encourage an emphasis on a particular portion of the project. However, the final Learning Contract content remains the responsibility of the student.

Evaluation in the Research and Writing courses is pass/fail and determined based on the student's successful completion of the Learning Contract. The Learning Contract will indicate the material to be submitted and the due date(s). Failure to meet deadlines, submission of material that substantial deviates from the contract material, submission of material that does not meet the program standard for writing style, or demonstrates significant need for editing, spelling or grammatical errors, failure to submit contract material, will all impact the assessment of the student's completion of the Learning Contract.

The Project Chair and the Program Director will evaluate the sufficiency of the material in meeting the contracted work. Based on this feedback, the Project Chair will provide a grade to the Program Director.

The Institutional Review Board (IRB)

An IRB is a review committee established to ensure that the rights and welfare of human research subjects are protected. An IRB must notify researchers, in writing, about the outcome of its reviews, including modifications required to secure IRB approval of the research activity. If the IRB decides to disapprove of the research activity, the written notification must provide the reasons for its decision and allow the researcher to respond in person or in writing.

All research should abide by the three basic ethical principles outlined in the Belmont Report: respect for persons, beneficence, and justice. The principle of respect for persons would entail securing informed consent from research subjects. All Doctor of Ministry projects require submission of an IRB proposal (Research Plan) to ensure that research design meets the federal standards for human research subjects. The following questions guide the IRB review:

- Have the risks to subjects been minimized using procedures consistent with sound research design?
- Are the risks reasonable in relation to anticipated benefits?
- Is the selection of subjects equitable?
- Are adequate procedures in place to ensure privacy and confidentiality?
- Is there a plan to monitor the data and safety of the subjects, if necessary?
- Will informed consent be sought and appropriately documented? Do proposed alterations or waivers of informed consent meet the criteria for approval?
- Are safeguards in place to protect vulnerable populations?

The Program Director will ensure that Doctor of Ministry students are aware of the IRB requirements and have access to the required Human Research Subject training and the documents required by the IRB process. This certificate is a required appendix in all DMin projects.

DMin students should be aware that an IRB review may be completed in a one to two-week period, while a more complex plan may require as much as thirty days. In addition, no research may begin before the student receives IRB approval.

The Final Project

The Final Document

The culmination of the DMin program is the final project document. Once the Project Team Chair and Program Director agree that the project research and writing are completed except for final publication edits and front and back matter, the student will register for Presentation and Final Project. During this final course, the student will work with the Program Director to complete the project for publication and prepare for their symposium defense. The student will engage in the publishing process through ProQuest and apply for copyright if desired.

Project Defense

Following submission of a final project, the Project Chair and Program Director will schedule a project defense and identify the appropriate members of the review panel, which typically include the Project Chair, External Reader(s), and Program Director. The CAO may serve as a member of the review panel if the Project Chair is an adjunct.

This review panel will read the final project and identify critical areas of inquiry for the symposium defense. Next, the student will make a presentation explaining and defending their ideas, the rationale behind research choices and decisions, research methods, and conclusions drawn from the research. The assembled panel will engage the student in collegial discussion and probe critical areas of inquiry to determine the student's understanding of his/her field and focus area. Following the presentation, members of the review team will confer and determine whether the student has met the standard for graduation.

Upon successfully completing the defense and all final edits, the Program Director will award a passing grade for the Presentation and Final Project course.

A detailed timeline will be provided to students who are in their final program year in order to guide the defense process.

Appendix C – AI Use Policy for the Doctor of Ministry Program

Introduction

This policy governs the responsible, ethical, and effective use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) within the Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) program. It is designed to uphold academic integrity, respect theological and ethical standards, and ensure AI enhances, rather than replaces, the human and spiritual dimensions of theological education.

Non-Gnerative and Generative AI Technology

Non-generative AI is designed to respond to inquiries using a specific set of trained inputs. It predicts responses based on the inputs in its programmed database. Examples include search algorithms, AI assistant units such as Siri or Alexa, or spelling and grammar checking programs like Word Editor and Grammarly. Traditional AI may be used to analyze data and make predictions on the basis of its pattern recognition functions. Software for coding, such as Dedooze or NVivo use traditional AI technology. The researcher must identify codes and use the software to mark those codes within transcriptions. AI technology can also produce transcriptions from audio or video recordings. If the technology simply reproduces the transcription without making recommended changes to meaning, it is non-generative.

Generative AI models are trained on a set of data but use the underlying patterns in that data to create new outputs. Generative AI creates something new based on the information in its data and the information you provide in your prompt. It can extrapolate a response from its existing model. Chat GPT, Perplexity, Google LMS Notebook, and others can produce human-like text. Generative AI may be used to analyze data and produce a completely new output. Generative AI meeting assistants can summarize the content of a meeting, producing minutes, action items, and a short summary of the meeting content. These generative AI tools can also reproduce a transcript and will make edits based on the likely meaning of a vocalization within the context of the meeting.

Guiding Principles

1. Human Dignity and Spiritual Responsibility
- AI must serve the unique dignity of each person, supporting but not replacing human creativity, discernment, or spiritual formation.
- The use of AI should never undermine the autonomy, moral responsibility, or spiritual growth of students and faculty.

2. Academic Integrity
- AI tools may assist with translation, research, or administrative tasks, but students remain responsible for mastering course content and demonstrating original thought.
- Plagiarism or over-reliance on AI for content creation is a violation of academic integrity and will be subject to disciplinary action.

3. Transparency and Accountability
- All use of AI in assignments must be clearly disclosed, including the type of tool used and the extent of its contribution.
- When AI translation tools are used, the original (primary language) version of the work must be submitted as an appendix for transparency.

4. Theological and Ethical Alignment
- AI-generated content must align with the program's theological values and doctrinal standards; faculty review is required to ensure appropriateness.
- AI must not be used to generate sermons, ministry talks, or spiritual guidance without human oversight and theological review.

5. Data Privacy and Security
- Student and institutional data must be protected in accordance with privacy laws and institutional policies.
- Sensitive personal, pastoral, or ministry information must never be entered into public AI platforms.

6. Stewardship and the Common Good
- AI should be used to enhance learning, accessibility, and ministry effectiveness, especially for marginalized or international students.
- Technology use should reflect stewardship of resources and care for creation, avoiding practices that harm individuals or communities.

Permissible Uses of AI

- In general, students may use non-generative AI to improve their writing by identifying spelling or grammar errors, generating citations, recording and managing the coding process, and producing transcriptions of interviews. AI use must meet standards for Human Subject research in which the identity of the subject is carefully protected. Files should not be uploaded to public sites unless the student can delete the files after each use. However, any usage that results in material that will be included in a final submitted assignment must be documented, and the AI use noted in a substantive footnote.

Specific Use Cases of Generative AI

- Translation: Students whose primary language is not English may use Generative or Non-Generative AI translation tools to express their ideas clearly, provided the original work is included for comparison and the final submission is proofread and edited for accuracy by the student.

- Accommodation: Students with an Individualized Student Accommodation Plan may use Generative or Non-Generative AI technology if such use is specified in their ISAP. Use that exceeds what is described in the ISAP will be considered a violation of academic integrity. Examples might include spell checkers, grammar checkers, use of software to improve clarity in writing, read aloud technologies,

- Research Assistance: Generative or Non-Generative AI may help locate sources or summarize information, but all substantive academic work must be the student's own. The student should preference software that provides sources for all information summarized. Citation software may be used, but the ultimate responsibility for verifying formatting lies with the student.

Prohibited Uses of AI

- Using AI to generate original academic content (e.g., essays, sermons, theological reflections) without substantial human input and attribution.
- Use of AI to complete exams, quizzes, take-home tests, or assignments intended to assess student learning.
- Submitting AI-generated work as one's own without disclosure.
- Using AI to bypass spiritual discernment, pastoral care, or the relational aspects of ministry.

Oversight and Review

- Faculty retain the right to allow, restrict, or prohibit the use of AI in their courses and must communicate these policies in their syllabi. In each course, the faculty policy may supersede this document.
- Violations of this policy will be addressed in accordance with the institution's academic integrity procedures

Cautions for Users

AI Hallucination/Fabrication
- AI technology can fabricate information or may use copyrighted sources without proper attribution. AI may correlate data points that do not, in fact, correlate but appear to do so due to the algorithm employed. Sources may be fabricated if the AI tool cannot find genuine sources.

Security and Human Subject Protection
- AI platforms may collect and retain data input to AI inquiries. Students should exercise sufficient caution to ensure that private details are not added to databases without permission. If files are uploaded, they must be deleted after use. Students should carefully review the data retention policies of all tools/sites used.

Bias
- AI tools are trained using specific sets of data but also collect additional data from each query submitted. (Generative AI). Therefore, user bias on specific topics can enter into the responses of some AI tools. Tools will also mimic the student's 'voice' in response to repeated queries which may further impact bias.

Non-Peer Reviewed
- In general, AI tools are not considered peer-reviewed sources since the outputs do not undergo review, nor is there an opportunity for dialogue with the sources, which may not be identified.

Conclusion

This policy acknowledges the opportunities and challenges presented by AI in theological education. By centering on human dignity, academic integrity, transparency, and stewardship, the Doctor of Ministry program can responsibly integrate AI to support its mission while safeguarding the spiritual and ethical formation of its students.

ADDENDUM

Official changes to all Graduate Catalogs including the current 2025-2026 Catalog as well as those issued prior to 2025-2026.

To all Winebrenner students currently working under the guidance of Graduate Catalogs from years prior to this new Academic Year 2025-2026 and to those students working under the current 2025-2026 Graduate Catalog:

From time to time we find it necessary to make changes or additions to policies and procedures, degree outcomes, degree requirements, and other items that impact the current Graduate Catalog. At times, these necessary changes may impact Catalogs for students who entered study at Winebrenner in past Academic Years. It may be an accreditor who asks us to make a change; it may be state or federal government policies that necessitate changes; or it may be changes in course offerings that require some clarification. Please make a note of these changes or deletions. The rest of your Catalog remains in force. Consider this an "addendum" or an "appendix" to your current Catalog.

Dr. Martin Johnson, Chief Academic Officer, 02/28/2026

All students in all degrees in all Catalogs:

- Winebrenner confers degrees upon students who have met the requirements for graduation (including completion of the requisite credit hours in the program) with a minimum cumulative 3.0 grade-point average, and have been recommended by the faculty and are affirmed by the Board of Trustees. This language, or much like it, is fairly standard language through all Catalogs. We are adding this language to all Catalogs:
    - o To receive a diploma and have the degree conferred, students must have made all final tuition and fee payments by July 20 prior to Commencement. (This language is necessary because there are times that a Populi account may use system-wide language about due dates that does not take into consideration the requirement that all tuition and fees must be paid in full prior to Commencement. Failure to make full payments by July 20 may result in the diploma being temporarily withheld. In all cases, the degree cannot be conferred until all financial accounts are settled.)

- Many course names, numbers, and descriptions are modified for various reasons. For the most up-to-date information you may consult the 2025-2026 Graduate Catalog. Some courses listed in our older Catalogs have been retired. There are many reasons for this, too numerous to get into in this addendum, but suffice to say if you're looking for a course in your Catalog but can't find it at Registration, it may have been retired. We have very carefully distributed courses or created new courses to take care of everyone's needs.
    - o Winebrenner reserves the right to make changes to course descriptions, course numbering, course names, and which courses will be retired, remain active, or are newly introduced.

- All students from all Catalog years are asked to review pages 10, 11, and 12 of the current 2025-2026 Catalog. The wording for the following elements is our most up-to-date information regarding Winebrenner's Vision of Theological Education.
    - o This wording now supersedes the wording in previous Catalogs.
        - Mission Statement (pg. 10)
        - Statement of Faith (pg. 10)
        - Vision Statement (pg. 10)
        - Core Values (pg. 11)
        - 2023-2028 Strategic Plan (pg. 11)
        - Comprehensive Assessment Plan (pg. 12)
        - Program Outcomes for all Degree Programs (pg. 12)

- Students who interrupt their study at Winebrenner by more than one year (three successive trimesters) must reapply for admission. This language appears in nearly all Catalogs.

- We must add the language for all Catalogs that at time time of readmission, the student becomes subject to the requirements of the newest/current Graduate Catalog. (In most cases, the change from an older Catalog to a newer Catalog means a more streamlined degree program, but it's possible there may be new requirements.)

- If you change degrees, you also change from the older Catalog you were following to the newest, current Catalog.

- If you move into a newer Catalog the requirement that all students in all degree programs are required to take IS 5100 Foundations for Seminary Studies during their first year of study suddenly becomes part of your new Catalog and appears on your degree audit. While that requirement is in place for all incoming students starting in 2024-2025, if you are already well into your degree coursework, you will need to ask the CAO in writing for a waiver of the IS 5100 Foundations of Seminary Studies course. (This is only an issue if you move to the newest Catalog.)

- ICS Students have their own ICS Handbook that closely resembles the Graduate Catalog. It is updated every Academic Year when the Graduate Catalog is updated: effective August 1 of each year. Please see your ICS Handbook here.

- Course sequence maps for all degrees have been improved to help with course planning.
  - Sequence maps will now contain:
    - the day of the week
    - reference marks that call attention to requirements or prerequisites

MACC (and the former MACC-N)

- Starting Fall 2025 (September 1, 2025), the MACC program and the MACC-National program were merged into one, fully-accredited online degree program known simply as the Master of Arts in Clinical Counseling (MACC). At this time there are no live class sessions held on campus. CACREP has fully accredited our MACC degree including the fully-online aspect. All MACC-N course numbers marked with the .5 suffix will still show on transcripts, but starting in Spring 2026 are no longer offered; all MACC courses will be standardized (e.g. CC 5000 and CC 5000.5 will now only be offered as CC 5000) starting in Spring 2026.

  There are some new "residency" requirements that have been added, and we are trying to determine the best way for those residency requirements to be met. This will likely include a hybrid synchronous online and on-campus live course, likely held just before graduation. This is the trade-off for fully online accreditation stipulated by CACREP. We will work to make this as easy and as painless as possible. More information on this will follow.

- We have made slight changes in the course sequence that will now apply to all Catalog years.
  - IS 6950 Applied Theological Concepts for Clinical Counselors will be moved to Spring, Year 3 on Thursday nights (the same trimester as Internship I).
  - CC 6500 Family Relations has been renamed CC 6500 Family Counseling and Relations (same course description) and has moved to Summer, Year 2, Thursday nights.
  - CC 5250 Career Counseling has moved to Summer, Year 3, Thursday nights (the same trimester as Internship II).

  If this change causes a problem in getting a needed course we will do our best to make accommodations.

- Also for the MACC:
  - Starting om 2024-2025 IS 5100 Foundations for Seminary Studies became a required course for all MACC students and must be taken in the first trimester at the beginning of study.
  - Starting with the current Graduate Catalog and going forward, CC 6530 Crisis and Trauma-Informed Counseling will be a required course in Spring, Year 2 on Thursdays each year.
  - CC 6300 Human Sexuality in Clinical Counseling will, as closely as we can determine right now, become an intensive course or workshop held on campus the week prior to Commencement in late July or early August, perhaps as a hybrid course consisting of synchronous and asynchronous coursework offered in the Fall. (More on this as our planning takes shape.)

- o Starting with this current Academic Year (2025-2026) MACC students only need to take two (2) Religious Heritage courses (6 credits total). One is required: CC 6950 Applied Theological Concepts for Clinical Counselor offered in Spring, Year 3. The other can be an elective from the following list:
  - OT 5000 Old Testament Foundations on Mondays in the Fall,
  - CM 5810 The Ministerial Person on Tuesdays in the Fall
    (these two are likely the easiest ones to get on your schedule)
  - CH 5400 A Survey of the History of Christianity on Thursdays in the Spring
  - NT 5200 New Testament Foundations on Mondays in the Summer.

  If none of those four Religious Heritage electives work into your schedule, contact the Chief Academic Officer to see if another seminary course can be used.
- o Please see the NEW Mission Statement for the MACC program on page 20 of the Catalog and in the updated MACC Handbook.
- o Please see the NEW Program Key Performance Indicators for Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC) graduate students on page 21 of the new Catalog. These are based on the latest 2024 CACREP KPIs. Please familiarize yourself with these Key Performance Indicators (KPI). These now supersede all Program Outcomes and KPIs in previous Catalogs.
- o The duration of the MACC program has changed from a maximum of 5½ years (17 trimesters) to a new maximum of 7 years (21 trimesters).
- o MACC students are no longer required to become members of ASERVIC although they encouraged to consider becoming members of the national association. They are still required to join the state branch of the ACA and consider joining the national organization.

MDiv and MAPT

- Electives for the MDiv and the MAPT:
  - o All OT electives and Formational electives will take place in the Fall trimester.
  - o All Missions/Evangelism electives and Leadership electives will take place in the Spring.
  - o All New Testament electives, Christian History electives and at least two Cultural Engagement (MAPT) electives will take place in the Summer.

- Prerequisites for four keystone courses clarified.:
  - o TH 5600 Theology I has prerequisites of CH 5400, CM 5810, NT 4200, and OT 5000.
  - o TH 6610 Theology II has the above prerequisites plus TH 5600.
  - o TH 6640 Christian Ethics has the same prerequisites listed above for TH 5600, but can be taken concurrently with TH 6610 Theology II.
  - o TH 6300 Method and Practice of Biblical Theology has prerequisites of TH 5600 Theology I and TH 6100 Theology II.
  - o These four courses (TH 5600 Theology I, TH 6610 Theology II, TH 6640 Christian Ethics, and TH 6300 Method and Practice of Biblical Theology) build on one another and cannot be taken out of sequence. Information has been added to the current Catalog course sequence maps and to the list of courses to clarify these prerequisites.

- Denominational History and Polity:
  - o IS 5890 Denominational History and Polity (for students of all denominations, conferences, and movements) is being retired. The only history and polity (governance) course will now be IS 5870 CGGC History and Polity for the Churches of God General Conference. Many denominations have moved to teaching their own history and polity course or track. As the only seminary for the CGGC, Winebrenner continues to offer this course, primarily for CGGC constituents. This course will only be offered every other year in the Spring (2028, 2030, 2032, etc.). If you are a student from another denomination or movement that needs a history and polity course, IS 5870 will be the course offered and we will make reasonable adjustments for including your specific history and polity in a limited directed study or independent research module within the IS 5870 course.

- Supervised Ministry is now the standardized supervised practical experience course series for both the MAPT and the MDiv degrees.
  - o Students must complete three trimesters of 1 credit per trimester of Supervised Ministry in an approved setting.

- o   Former courses such as a 3-hour Supervised Ministry course and a collection of four In-Context courses (each 3 hours) have been retired and replaced with these three 1-credit each courses designed to be taken during the Fall, Spring, and Summer of your final year of studies.

- For the MDiv:
  - o   Please see the Program Outcomes for MDiv graduates on page 15 of the current Catalog. Please familiarize yourself with these Program Outcomes. These Program Outcomes now supersede all Program Outcomes in previous Catalogs.
  - o   Please see the new and improved Course Sequence Maps for the MDiv.

- For the MAPT:
  - o   Please see the Program Outcomes for MAPT graduates on page 28 of the current Catalog. Please familiarize yourself with these Program Outcomes. These Program Outcomes now supersede all Program Outcomes in previous Catalogs.
  - o   Please see the new and improved Course Sequence Maps for the MAPT.
